Dodgers, Cubs Pick Up Wins In Opener

The two clubs sponsored by the College Station Recreation Council, the Dodgers and the Cubs, racked up wins Tuesday night in the opening double-header of the College Station Minor League. The Dodgers edged the Lions Club Cubs 11-9 in the abbreviated lid-lifter; the Indians ran roughshod over the Kiwanis Club Pirates 19-10 in the high-scoring 7:30 contest.

In the opening game for the minor leaguers, which was shortened to only three innings so the second tilt could be started at the scheduled time, the Dodgers shoved seven big runs across the plate in the second frame to take the lead.

In the second game of the evening, the Indians broke a close game wide-open by scoring six runs in the fourth inning, four in the fifth, and six more in the final inning. The Pirates were sitting on a 6-3 lead at the end of the third frame.

Southern was the batting star for the Indians with 4-for-5. Joe Brusse, of the Pirates, had a perfect mark for the night, 3-for-3.

The American Hockey League record for unassisted goals scored in one game is eight. They were made by the late Johnny Holota while playing for Cleveland in 1946-47.

Orioles, White Sox Tied in LL

By MAURICE OLIAN

The Student Co-op Orioles, a team that was expected, before the season began, to be in first place, and the Marion Pugh White Sox, a team that was not figured to be in such a lofty position, picked up wins Wednesday to remain deadlocked for the College Station Little League lead.

The Orioles raced (and that's the correct word, for the game was completed in just 51 minutes) to a 6-2 win over the V.F.W. Red Sox in the first battle of the twin-bill, while the White Sox slipped by the Black's Pharmacy Senators 6-3 in the second game.

Fast-baller Bill Berry went the distance for the Orioles to pick up the win and allowed only three hits. He conquered his usually faulty control by walking only one batter, and he struck out two. Berry got stronger as the game breezed along, as he retired the last twelve batters in succession.

Ricky Howard pitched creditable ball in being tagged with the defeat; he surrendered seven hits, fanned three, and walked two while going the full distance.

A scoreless tie was broken in the third inning when the Red Sox tallied twice—on singles by Tom Taylor and Eldon Hagler, a stolen base, and an error.

The Orioles bounced back with three runs thanks chiefly to doubles by Les Palmer and Larry Randolph and a single by George Outlaw. They put the game "on ice" with another trio of runs in the fourth frame. Doubles by Furman Isbell and Randolph, and Palmer's single were the blows that did the damage.

Randolph's sizzling bat cracked out 3-for-3, a trio of doubles, to pace the game's hitters. Teammate Palmer got 2-for-3. Getting one hit apiece were two Orioles—Outlaw and Isbell—and three Red Sox—Taylor, Hagler, and Jack Fugate.

In the second game of the night, Bill Bates' White Sox took advantage of some "charity" to take an early 5-0 lead. Five walks and Ozzie Burke's single pushed three runs across the plate in the first frame. Two more walks and a pair of hits shoved two runs across the dish in the second inning.

Danny Feldman personally accounted for the winners' sixth tally with a solo homer in the fifth inning, the league's initial home run of the year.

The Senators managed two runs in the third inning, with Joe Olian's single and Larry Lewis' wind-blown double being the big blows. They scored once in the fourth inning due mainly to Harry Lewis' two-base hit.

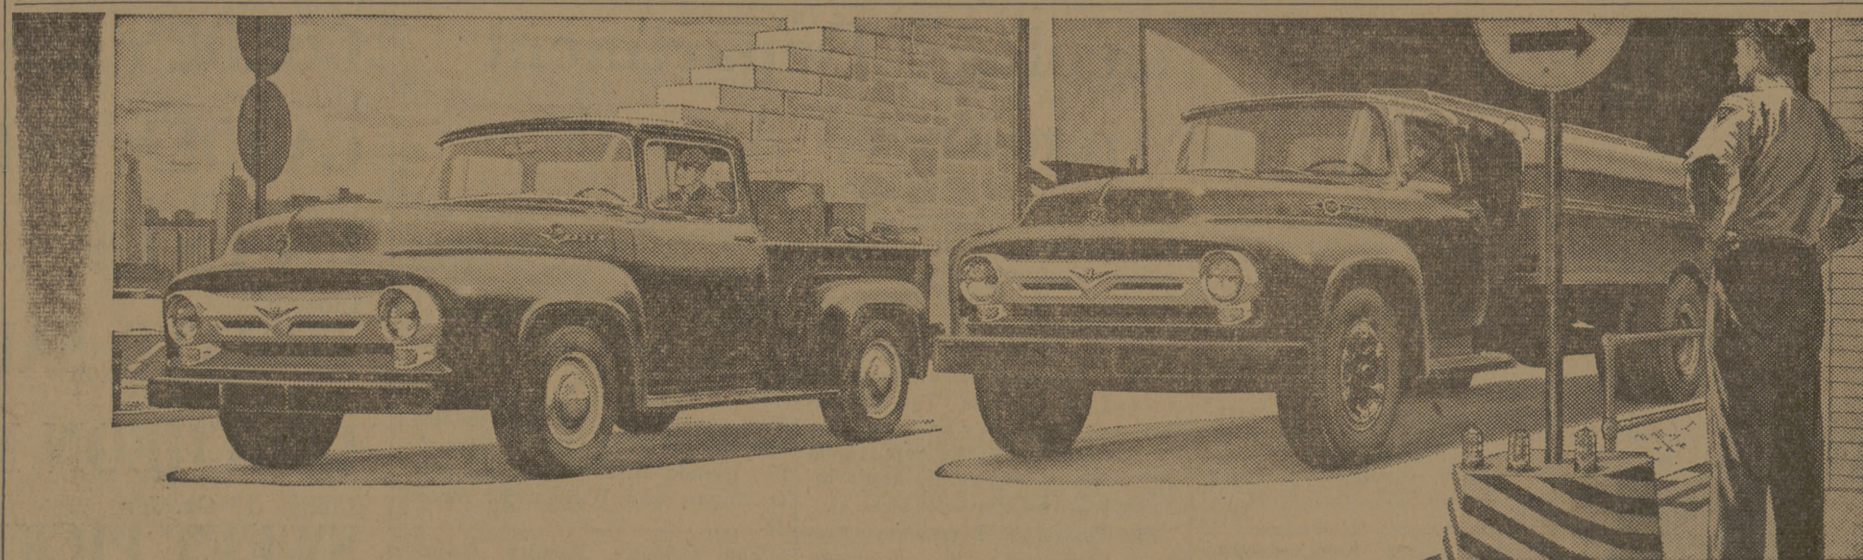

John Stark hurled steady ball for the White Sox to pick up the win. He gave up five well-spaced hits, walked three, and struck out seven.

J. W. Parsons started for the Senators but was "derricked" in the second inning after walking seven, fanning one, and doling out two hits. Jody Rush turned in a fine relief job, as he gave up only two safeties, walked none, and struck out seven.

Olian led the Senator's with 1-for-1, while Feldman had a similar mark for the White Sox. Others getting one hit were L. Lewis, H. Lewis, Johnny Williams, Jimbo Carroll, Burke, Harold Cooner, and Stark.

Friday night the Orioles battle the White Sox for the league leadership, and the Senators tangle with the Red Sox at Little League Park.
