Rev. Longshore Baptist Pastor, Touring Alaska

Rev. Robert D. Longshore, pastor of First Baptist Church, College Station, arrived in Fairbanks, Alaska Saturday on a church sponsored preaching tour of that territory.

He will begin revival services in the Native Baptist Church closing services on July 14.

He will assist in the organization of a Baptist Church at Kotzebue, a village situated just across the Bering Strait from Siberia, with a group of pastors and laymen.

After speaking in the First Baptist Church, Fairbanks, on July 18 and the Fairview Baptist Church, Anchorage on July 22, Rev. Longshore will attend a three-day school on Church finance in Anchorage which will be conducted by a professional fund-raising organization.

He will attend the Alaskan Baptist Convention at Spenard, Aug. 7, 8 and 9 where he will appear on the program.

He will be back in College Station August 12. Particular interest in the work in Alaska has been stimulated in this church due to the fact that a student member, James Whisenant, has been attending the University of Alaska and has initiated the first Baptist Student Union to the campus and to the territory.

The minister, who was recently ordained a Deacon in the Episcopal Church, lives with his wife and six year old son, Richard, at 901 Aberdeen.

emational analyses. Burgess not only has interests of a mechanical nature, but he is also quite interested in table tennis.

While still young he spent much of his time playing tennis and table tennis in his hometown, St. Louis.

"When the table tennis tables were placed in the Memorial Student Center I was constantly trying to find someone to play with me," he said. "I could usually beat whomever I played then but now I can't seem to win as easily."

At one time back in St. Louis, Burgess won a title in the sport.

Burgess came to A&M in 1948 and became head of the industrial engineering department in 1951. He was born and reared in St. Louis and was graduated from Washington University there in 1933. He now lives at 402 W. Dexter St. in College Station, with his wife and one daughter, age three.

Boxer Virgil Akins says the only time he was knocked unconscious was when he was kicked in the head by a horse.
