

Little League Shots

By MAURICE OLIAN
Battalion Sports Writer

Although the regular season schedule of the College Station Little League came to a close last Friday night, no official second-half champion has been crowned yet. The White Sox, first-half winners, are in the "driver seat", but the Senators and the Red Sox both still have mathematical chances of capturing the pennant.

Owning a 5-3 record, the White Sox are in the top spot. In second place are the Senators with a 4-4 record, and they are trailed by the Red Sox, who are now 3-4. The Orioles rest in the cellar in the evenly-balanced league due to a 4-5 mark.

Because of a rained-out contest, a White Sox - Red Sox affair, and a tie game, a Red Sox-Senator battle, any of the top three teams has a chance of taking the title. If the White Sox down the Red Sox today (in the rained out game), the full-season crown, as well as the second-half championship, goes to the Pale Hose. Should the Red Sox emerge victorious today, their tie game with the Senators will be played tomorrow at College Station Little League Park. So, as you can see, it's not over yet.

Meanwhile, the batting race remains practically the same as it has been for several weeks, but the battle for pitching honors has a new leader.

The Senators' Joe Olian still paces the batting with a mark of .458, and the White Sox' Danny Feldman remains in second with his .417. Larry Randolph, of the Orioles, is next due to his .383, and he is followed by the White Sox' Jimbo Bevans, .378; the Orioles' Bill Berry, .358 and George Outlaw, .353; Jody Rush, of the Senators, .340; Hal Delaplaine, of the White Sox, .311; the Orioles' Jackie Ross, .296; and the Red Sox' Charles Gandy, .286.

In slugging percentage, a torrid scrap is being waged among Feldman, .625; Randolph, .617; Outlaw, .588; Berry, .566; and Olian, .563. Randolph's 23 runs-batted-in are far ahead of the 17 collected by Delaplaine. He has a similar number of base hits to rank one ahead of Olian. In runs scored, the co-leaders are Feldman and Outlaw, both of whom have 21.

Outlaw has three homers to hold the lead in that department, but a trio of players—Berry, Delaplaine, and Feldman—have two four-baggers apiece. Randolph is the top man in doubles with 11, which is far ahead of the rest of the loop, and he also leads in total bases, having 37. Outlaw, Feldman, and

Nat'l League West Takes LL Tourney

When a team's pitchers dole out in three games, a total of only two base hits, that team is usually a good bet to win that trio of games. The National League West All-Stars used that formula, plus some lusty hitting, to win the Area Little League Tournament held at College Station the past three days. With the tourney win went the chance to go to Waco to compete in the District Tournament.

The National West smothered the National League East last night 19-1 to capture the crown. The former had advanced to the finals by edging the American North 1-0 in a first-round game and then belting the Hearne All-Stars 15-9 in the semi-finals. A 7-0 triumph over the host team, the American League South All-Stars, put the latter into the finals.

National West hurler F. J. Catalina pitched his team's first and last victories, giving up but one safety each outing. Greg Rodriguez pitched a no-hitter to get credit for the second win.

Thomas Stockton also hurled no-hit ball to blank the American South and eliminate the local club.

In Wednesday's finals, the National West tallied in every inning except the fourth, scoring seven times in the fifth. The loser's lone run, and hit, came in the bottom half of the sixth.

put the thoughts on genius in the "deep freeze." They accumulated into sacred works, and as bodies of TRUTH called science.

Scientists like democrats can change position without fear of liquidation for deviation. The cumulative experiences of MAN bears evidence that the democratic ideal of "the greatest good for the greatest number" is no idle slogan. For shame on all of us that some of you are graduating seniors and have but now met the practice of this principle on our campus. It should be a matter of daily practice warranting only passing notice. It should be the rule and not the exception. Yes! it should extend through faculties, classrooms, dormitories and to the playing fields.

Voted? Of course we voted to take the action—the same action dictated would have been dictatorial, repulsive, suppressive of dissenters. Science and Democracy will have none of these. Democracy as a recent product of social evolution, has extended to but a few persons in a limited number of countries in especially favored areas of the earth. It needs practitioners, devotees and converts who will spread its leaven through the whole lump of man's total population.

We seek no return of favor. We do hope that you will remember that when Christian Principles and the Democratic Way are like our muscles, strengthened by use. It is when they are neglected that they weaken, atrophy and die.

It is our hope that you will learn your history well, make a good grade in it and that you will never lose sight of its lessons. For then each will forever be an informed ambassador for the Democratic Way.

PLATFORM IN PRACTICE—Lieutenant Governor Ben Ramsey, during a two-day rest from state-wide campaigning, checks a field high in crimson clover on his farm near San Augustine, Texas, with his daughter, Ann, atop the family pet, Button. Ramsey, a staunch conservationist, has restored scars of erosion on his farm through planting of soil-retaining grasses, to rolling fields of year-round pasture for his small herd of cattle.
