Mrs. Low Chosen To Head Home Economics Dept.

Mrs. Florence W. Low, presently State home demonstration leader for Maryland, has been appointed head of the coordinated Department of Home Economics for research and extensions, according to Directors G. G. Gibson, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, and R. D. Lewis, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

As part of her duties, which will begin on Sept. 1, Mrs. Low will provide leadership in the development of appropriate research programs, in subject-matter development for extension programs, and in development of cooperative studies with related subject-matter fields in other departments.

After receiving her B. S. degree in home economics from North Texas State Teachers College in 1934, she began her career with the Extension Service as a home demonstration agent. She served successively in Henderson, Lamar and Fayette counties.

Mrs. Low came to the headquarters staff here as extension home management specialist in 1945. During her four years in this position, she worked closely with farm unit demonstrations, community improvement programs and home management practices involving all family members.

Taking study leave in 1949, Mrs. Low received her M. S. degree in home management from Cornell University that year. She became State home demonstration leader at the University of Maryland, following this last degree.

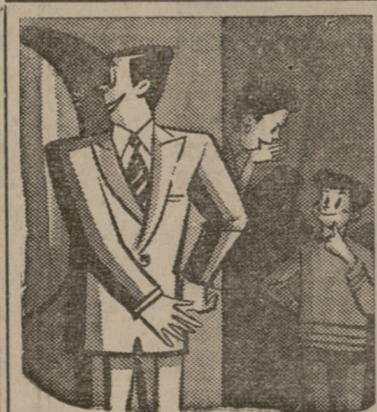

Lewis said Mrs. Low will work closely with related department heads, such as animal husbandry, engineering and economics, to initiate more research on current problems of marketing, housing, foods, clothing and family life. Findings from these projects will continue to reach Texas homemakers and families through the Extension Service.

What a grand and glorious feeling to take it easy on vacation and know that extra money is piling up for you back home. That's how you'll feel if you're one of the 40,000,000 Americans who own U. S. Savings Bonds.

Savings Bonds never take a day off. They earn money for you day in and day out, no matter where you are or what you're doing.

This is a money-making proposition you don't want to miss. Your principal invested in Bonds is safe — not subject to market fluctuation. Your returns are sure — an average 3% interest compounded semiannually when held to maturity (9 years and 8 months). And your Bond investment will keep on earning that same fine interest for 10 years longer, if you so desire.

Start investing in Savings Bonds today — on the Payroll Savings Plan where you work or by regular purchases at your bank. You'll have more fun and financial peace of mind on your next vacation if you do.

FOR THE BIG THINGS IN YOUR LIFE, BE READY WITH U. S. SAVINGS BONDS
