Power-Laden Frogs Try Aggies Saturday

By BARRY HART
Battalion Sports Editor
The TCU Horned Frogs, possibly the finest team in Southwest Conference history, bring their fourth-ranked powerhouse into Kyle Field Saturday against the only team to beat them in regular season play last year, A&M.

Undefeated, untied and unworried TCU has swept past three opponents without being pressed.
The Frogs opened with a 32-0 win over Kansas, crushed Arkansas, 41-6, and went through the motions against Alabama, winning 23 - 6.

Basketball Back On Sports Scene

Battalion Sports Editor
As unbelievable as it may seem, basketball is back on the sports scene.

With football still in the first half of its season, Ken Loeffler and his 1956-57 version of the Aggie hardwooders moved into white Coliseum Monday to begin Fall training.
In typical A&M fashion, the playing area was not prepared for the 13 varsity and 40 freshmen candidates. Only five of the six baskets had been lowered Tuesday and the freshmen were clustered around two backboards in an effort to get in some shooting practice.

Loeffler begins his second season at A&M after coming here from LaSalle where he developed one of the nation's finest teams and the greatest collegiate player of all time, Tom Gola. In six seasons at LaSalle, Loeffler won 145 and lost 30, winning two national titles. Last year the Aggies won as many as they had in the previous two seasons.

Loeffler and assistant Lee Frasier plan to cut the freshmen to 12 players as soon as possible.

"We're going to find out who's got two left feet and three right hands during the scrimmage and Loeffler turned to the first-year aspirants and impressed upon them the importance of accuracy in the foul line. Hutto was 26th in the nation last year.

"Hutto would rather play ball than eat," commented Loeffler.
"Our trouble is that we've got too many that would rather eat than play."

KEN LOEFFLER

hands quick, and get rid of them," said the oft-quoted coach.

Only two Fish are on scholarships—Dave Carson, 6-6 New Orleans products, and Wayne Lawrence, 6-8 from Pawcatuck, Conn.— but Bill Edge, six-footer from Houston Milby, Paul Madura, 6-4, Tulia, Tex., and Greenville's Jim Anderson, 6-1, "may turn out to be basketball players after all," says

It looked like Air Force field day Tuesday on the intramural class B football picture. In the four games played the Air Force teams came out victor in all.

skin for two touchdowns and passed for another six points to lead his team, Squadron 14, to a top-sided victory over B Infantry 25 to 0.

Clayton Ford set up Squadron 13's only score by running for 20 yards. The touchdown came on the next play with a pass from Keith Butler to Glen Williams. Ford then scored the extra point on a run around end. The final on that one—Squad. 13 over A Inf. 7 to 0.
