Social Whirl Auto Travel Makes Gain In Popularity

Shirley Rowe won high, LaVern McDonald, second, Shirley Miller, low, and Kathy Rowan, slam, when the regular group of the Aggie Wives Bridge Club met last week. Hostesses to the group were Frances Brummerhop and Joan Ticken. Faye Spears and Kathy Rowan will entertain the group at its next meeting.

Frances Reno and Roberta Ash were hostesses to the intermediate group. Prizes were won by Jean Sinclair, Patricia Locke, and Carolyn Thomas. Hostesses for the next meeting will be Ahdel Berens and Jan Clemens.

The beginners met with Sue Grenuelge and Jo Hardin. Barbara Mullen and Audrey Lindner will serve as hostesses when the group next meets.

More American families are taking vacation trips by automobile than ever before, Carol Lane, women's travel director for Shell Oil Company, told members of the Aggie Wives Council at their meeting Monday.

The modern vacation trend, Miss Lane said, is to earn "travel profits by the carload," profits consisting of pleasure, education, comfort, and economy.

"The car provides the opportunity for travel freedom to Americans of every income group," the speaker declared.

"It's only by car that we can pick and choose our routes—whether we're 'mainliners' who prefer the superhighways or 'shunpikers' who shun the turnpikes and favor backroads and by-ways."

Miss Lane demonstrated the packing of a wrinkle-resistant wardrobe into just one 26-inch suitcase. She filed her clothes systematically, using luggage leaves, or dividers, to separate the layers.

For those interested in short trips, Miss Lane suggested the "tourette," a planned, two-day or week-end vacation to points of interest within 200 miles of home.

Newcomers Hear Talk on Spending

Family benefits to be gained from working out a financial plan for the future were emphasized by H. G. Kanagy recently when he spoke before the Newcomers' Club on "Spending Your Money Wisely."

His talk included discussions of fixed obligations, debts, savings, emergency funds and insurance. A question and answer period followed.

Presiding at the punch bowl was Mrs. Kanagy, wife of the speaker. The table centerpiece and the corsages worn by the hostesses were made of canna leaves, zinnias and grasses in a striking combination of black, orange and white.
