Top Entertainment Tonight

By JOE TINDEL
Battalion News Editor

Top entertainment is in store for Aggie land tonight at 8 as the Tony Martin Show swings into G. Rollie White Coliseum to the music of Tex Beneke and His Orchestra and the Jodimars.

No sooner than the fun and music of this show have completely died away, Fred Waring and His Pennsylvanians will enter White Coliseum Monday night to present the first Town Hall attraction of the year.

Richardson Voted To UIL Council

L. S. Richardson has been elected a member of the 1956-57 University Interscholastic League's Legislative Council.

Richardson, superintendent of A&M Consolidated schools, represents a Class A school of Region V, which is centered along the Gulf Coast. The UIL controls the athletic activities of more than 1,000 Texas public schools and is the largest state organization for schoolboy athletics in the U. S.

Tonight a full evening of music, song, comedy and variety entertainment is scheduled as Tony Martin provides the highlights of a promotion attraction sponsored by the Department of Student Activities. The show will feature his song offerings and the personality that has made him a long-standing star of movies, radio, TV and the supper club circuit.

CHS Play Cast Starts Workouts

A cast of seven females and five males has been chosen for the 1956 A&M Consolidated Senior Play, "The Great Big Doorstep," according to directors Robert Boone and Mrs. Eugene Rush.

The group will begin work on the play immediately, Mrs. Rush said. Production date is Dec. 7.

Members of the cast include Mary Lou Ergle, Patsy Williams, Rosanne Phillips, Ida Lou Felty, Evon Parker, James Couch, Charles Delaplaine, Larry Leighton, Betty Ruth Felty, Bill Darrington, David Webb and Jo Ann Walker.

Martin's talents will be only a part of the show, however, as the renowned orchestra of Tex Beneke will be on hand to offer background music for Martin.

Rocking and rolling in the show will be the Jodimars, a sizzling new Capital recording group that was formed by three former members of Bill Haley's Comets. The Jodimars have already made a name for themselves even though they are comparatively new entries in the rock 'n roll field.

Last but by no means least in the show are the Petticoats, a trio of eye-pleasing girls, who will render musical interpretations that have made a stir by way of cuttings on unique records.

Tickets for the show which is not a Town Hall presentation, are on sale at the Student Activities Office on the second floor of the YMCA or at Waldrop's in Bryan. Prices are $2.50 for main floor seats, $2 for court-side seats and $1.50 for bleacher seats.

Monday at 8 p.m. in G. Rollie White Coliseum, Fred Waring will present his Muscade with all the Pennsylvanians and featuring Norma Douglas, Patti Beems and the Girl's Glee Club. This is a Town Hall attraction and student season tickets will be honored.

SCONA II Budget Set At $13,979

Budget for SCONA II has been set at $13,979.30 by the Budget Committee at a recent meeting, according to Alvin Richey, chairman of the committee.

The biggest single cost in the budget was for transportation of the delegates and speakers. The money was raised solely by contribution. So far, $7,000 has been collected. The largest contribution by one company is $3,000. Three different sources have donated this amount and 26 donors have contributed to SCONA II.

Consolidated Carnival Offers 'Fun For All'

By WELTON JONES
Battalion City Editor
"There'll be food and fun for everyone" is the theme of the annual A&M Consolidated Band Carnival Saturday, and the Band Boosters Club really seems to have outdone themselves making it appropriate.

Co-Chairmen John (Dixie) Southern and Dr. John G. McNeely have let no possibility by in their search for money-making concessions to gather funds for the purchase of additional uniforms and instruments for the Consolidated Band.

Feature acts at the show include Mrs. Doris Goodrich Jones of Waco

HUNGARIAN REBELLION RAGES AGAINST SOVIET

Dr. Butler Heads A.H. Department

Dr. O. D. Butler has been named head of the coordinated Animal Husbandry Department at A&M, according to Dr. J. C. Miller, dean of the School of Agriculture.

Dr. Butler succeeds Dr. Miller as head of the department. Dr. Miller resigned to become dean. The appointment becomes effective November 1, 1956.

Formerly, Dr. Butler was in charge of the Meats Laboratory of the Animal Husbandry Department, where he taught and conducted research into various aspects of meat production, marketing and consumption.

His research, particularly in the field of cut-out percentages from livestock of various conformations, is known all over the livestock world.

"Dr. Butler's training and experience plus his all-round knowledge of livestock and marketing industries, makes him well-qualified to direct the coordinated activities of the department in the fields of teaching, research and extension," Dr. Miller said.

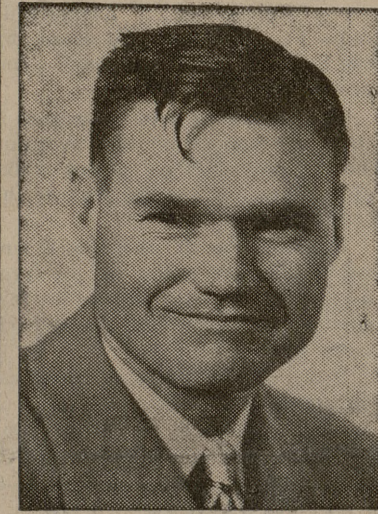

Dr. Butler was born at Orange on Sept. 29, 1918. He received his B. S. in agriculture from A&M in 1939, and his master's degree in Animal Husbandry in February, 1947. He received his Ph.D. for meat research at Michigan State University in 1953. He attended Michigan State on a General Education Board Fellowship.

His service with A&M dates back to the time when he received his B.S. degree, and was placed in charge of meat purchasing and processing for the Subsistence Department (dining halls) at the college. In 1941 he left to serve with an Infantry division in Europe, then returned to begin work on his master's degree.

He is a member of the American Society of Animal Production, The Institute of Food Technologists, and is chairman of the Beef Carcass Evaluation Committee of the Reciprocal Meat Conference. He also is a member of Sigma Xi, honor society for original researchers.

Dr. Butler is the author of several technical publications in his field of work.

Negligence Charges Filed Against Aggie

James H. Bingham, Band freshman from Hamilton, was charged with negligent homicide in Caldwell yesterday, according to Burleson County Attorney Jimmy Gray.

Bingham was driver of one of the cars involved in a two-auto collision Sunday night in which four persons were fatally injured.

Negligent homicide, a misdemeanor, carries a fine of from $1 to $3,000 and a jail sentence of from one day to three years.

"The trial date is pending," Gray said. "We want to wait until Bingham has recovered his injuries and feels up to facing the charges."

Bingham, who suffered cuts and bruises on the face, was to have been released from Bryan Clinic Hospital this morning, according to Mrs. Dorothy Wallace, nurse. Another Aggie who was with Bingham, Gary Elvin Clements of Alvin, also suffered bruises and cuts on the face and is still in the hospital.

"Both boys are in good condition," Mrs. Wallace said, "but they are despondent about the accident."

Car-Truck Wreck Hurts Hungerford

Carroll D. Hungerford, 25, junior from Houston, escaped serious injury when his car smashed into the rear of a semi-trailer truck early Wednesday morning.

Hungerford, of C-11-B in College View, was hospitalized with minor cuts and bruises following the accident.

A College Hospital doctor said late last night Hungerford would probably be released this afternoon. He said Hungerford received leg and body bruises and a minor cut and bruises on his face.

The accident happened on Highway 21 three miles west of Bryan. Driver of the truck Manuel Martinez of San Antonio was not injured.

Highway patrolmen say Hungerford's car crashed into the rear of the empty truck. They say Hungerford's 1952 Ford car was completely demolished.

Life Story To Include Ag Pictures

Wildcatting Aggies may find their images in print when the Oct. 29 (Thursday) issue of Life come off the press.

Texas football will be featured and a large part of the story will deal with scenes of the tornadic A&M-TCU game last Saturday.

Life photographers have been present on the campus for the past two games gathering material for the story and a peak was reached at the Saturday game when 90-mile-per-hour winds and 11 Aggies beat TCU 7-6 on Kyle Field.

Weather Today

Scattered thundershowers until afternoon, clearing late this afternoon. The temperature at 10:30 a. m. was 74 degrees.

Hundreds Reported Killed; Soviets Say Order Restored

VIENNA—(AP)—Bloody rebellion against Soviet domination and Hungary's Communist regime raged through its second night Wednesday in Budapest and spread from the capital into the provinces.

Soviet planes, tanks and troops were brought into battle against the uprising Hungarians.

Hundreds were reported killed. Buildings in the center of Budapest were blazing.

Hungary's official Communist radio in Budapest broadcast a government claim last night that, "We are master of the situation."

But the statement acknowledged "order has not been restored everywhere" and that disorder spread to the hinterlands.

Late last night the Moscow and East Berlin Red radios said the uprising was quelled and order had been restored in Budapest.

In Berlin, the Communist East German government radio said in its 11 p. m. broadcast that the Budapest violence had been suppressed.

But it added fights were going on at three spots in the capital. It did not give further details.

Moscow radio broke its silence on the uprising to blame it on "underground reactionary organizations" and assert that "this enemy adventure obviously has been in preparation some time."

It said, "Enemy elements made use of a student demonstration which took place Oct. 23 to bring into the streets groups previously prepared by them which formed the nucleus of the revolt. They put into action agitators who strove to call forth mass disorder."

Joy Roper Hired As Society Editor

Mrs. Joy Roper has been employed as Society Editor for The Battalion replacing Mrs. Bernice Schnerr, who has resigned to teach school in Bryan.

Mrs. Roper is the wife of Earl Roper, a graduate student in Wildlife Management working toward a Ph.D. here at A&M. The Ropers have one son, Mike, 21-months-old. They live at C-21-B in College View.

A graduate of the University of Colorado, Mrs. Roper received a bachelor's degree in journalism in 1953. She worked for the Boulder Daily Camera three years prior to coming to college Station.

Bryan Rotary Honors Guests On UN Day

United Nations Day was celebrated at the Bryan Rotary Club's weekly luncheon meeting yesterday at Maggie Parker's Dining Room.

C. C. Doak, chairman of the local Rotary International Service Committee, presented the program and introduced several foreign citizens who were guests of the club at the luncheon meeting. Another guest of the rotarians was Henry Batten, high school rotarian of the week.

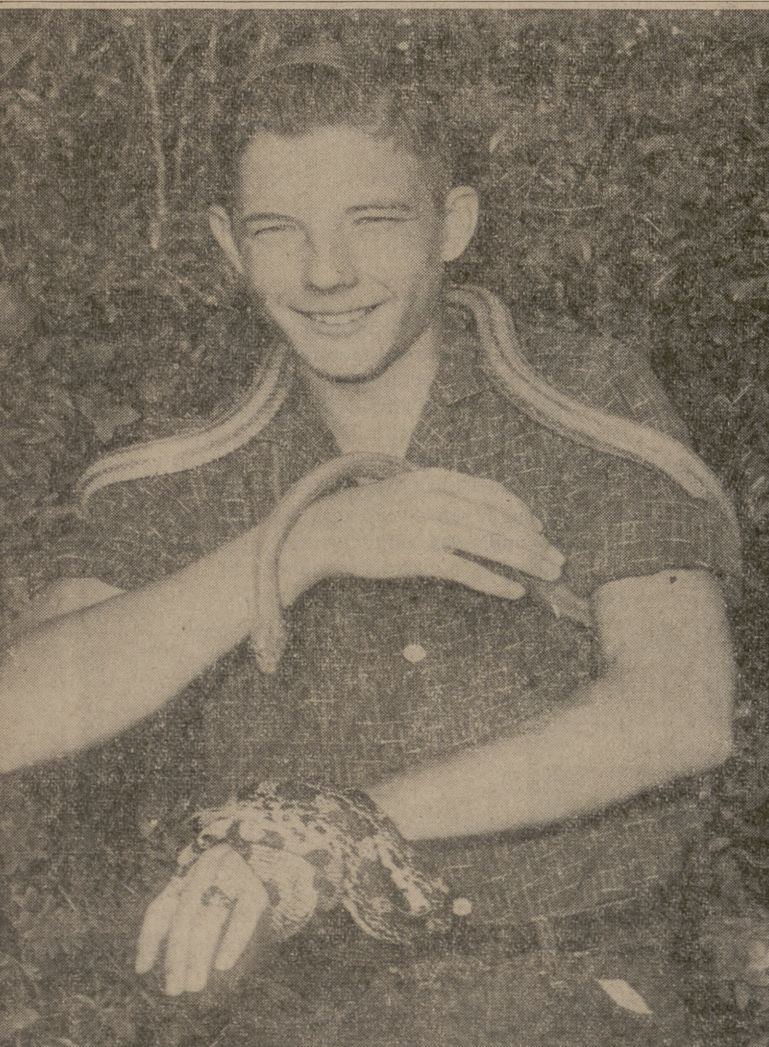

As a part of the program, Doak exhibited Rotary flags from clubs all over the world and displayed them to the club members.

Honored guests of the club included Dr. and Mrs. H. Raj, of Bombay, India; Zilmar Marcus, of Sao Paulo, Brazil; H. G. Reddy, of Bangalore, India; Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Zeitoun, of Cairo, Egypt and Mr. and Mrs. Sylvio Navarro, naturalized American citizens.

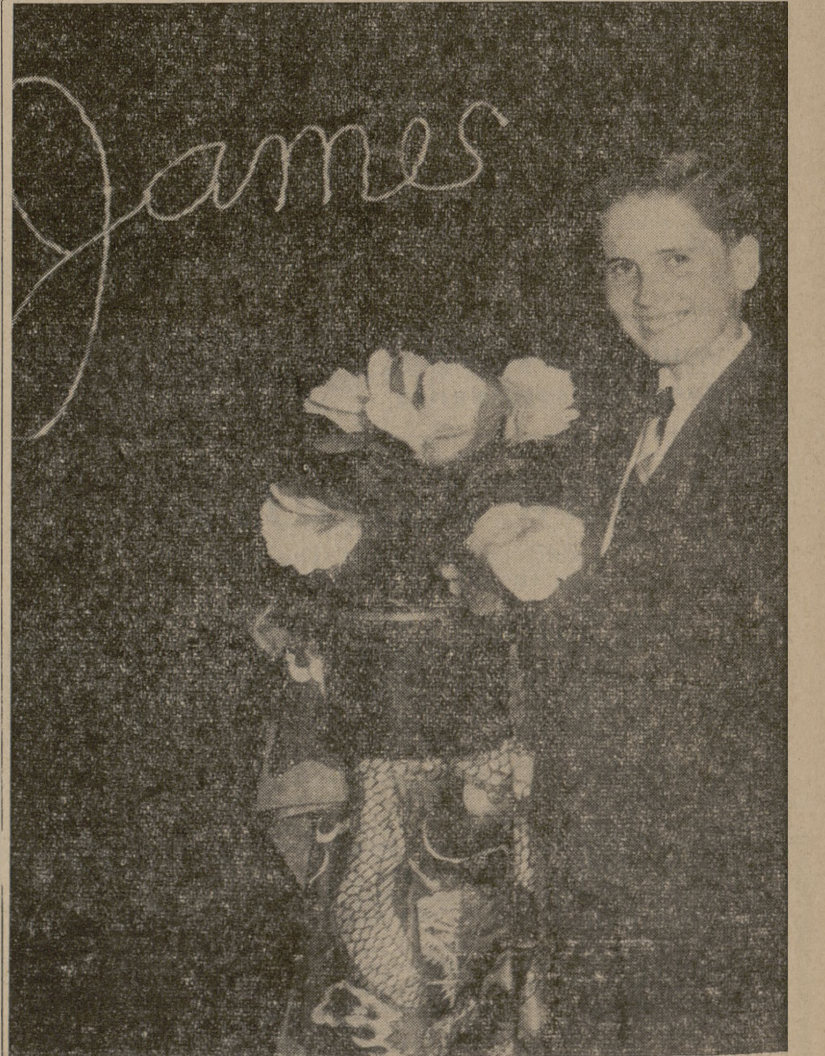

Members of the International Service Committee, besides Doak, are Dr. Ide Trotter, Nat Allen, Robert House and Dr. Tyrus Timm.

Mistaken Identity

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. — (AP)—An Albuquerque motorist saw a new hat on the sidewalk. He investigated and spotted a pair of legs sticking out from under the lower end of a ramp up to an overpass. He hustled to the police station and reported finding a "Dead Man." Police found three "Dead Men" in a row—dead drunk.

SNAKES ALIVE!—Looking just a little bit wary himself, Ernest Tanzer displays two members of his live snake collection which will be on display at the annual A&M Consolidated Band Boosters Carnival Saturday at 6:30 p.m. The affair is being sponsored by the A&M Consolidated Band Boosters Club to raise money for additional band uniforms. Variety acts and games of skill by members of the College Station Lions and Kiwanis Clubs are included.

MAGICIAN AT CARNIVAL—James Baldauf, son of Dr. and Mrs. Richard J. Baldauf, will be among featured performers at the annual A&M Consolidated Band Carnival to be held on the school campus Saturday night.
