 "This is not a healthy situation," the former Attorney General said. He said every depression in United States had been preceded by such a period in agriculture. He also bemoaned the shift in rural population in Texas. He quoted from figures gathered by research by A&M's Agricultural Economics department and said, "Larger farms in Texas are gobbling up the smaller size farms. We had 89,000 fewer farms in 1954 than in 1950 and the size of the average farm increased from 438 to 439 acres."
 "I'm glad many are trying to do something about this in our government. Many Democrats and Republicans are trying to work out a solution," he said.

He enumerated the soil bank, foreign markets and drought relief as angles that are being tried to better agriculture's position. "I want our state to do more in helping meet the problems in the state," he said.
 "I want to adopt a Water Conservation Program in Texas," he said. "No economic problem is more important than the Texas Water Program. We in this state have delayed too long in getting a sound water program."
 "We need a drought relief program in Texas so no farmer will be foreclosed on because of drought, a situation beyond his control," he said.
 He said that Texas is going into the biggest highway program next year in history.
 "I hope the farm-to-market highways are not forgotten in this program," he said.
 He asked the group to influence boys and girls to stay with agriculture. He said farmers should be encouraged to "tough it out" and stay with their farms even though the situation is almost unbearable.
 "I hope what I have said will bring home to you the importance of your work in the state and nation," he said.
 "We want you to have higher salaries," he told the group again near the end of his speech.

Harry Truman Right For Once

Former President Harry Truman, explaining why he opposed Adlai Stevenson for the Presidential nomination, said on Aug. 11, 1956: " . . . this convention must name a man who has the experience and the ability to act as President immediately upon assuming office, without risking a period of costly and dangerous trial and error."
 We haven't always agreed with Mr. Truman. But this time he was right. The United States can't afford a trial-and-error President. What if Adlai's give-up-the-H-bomb scheme didn't work? Yes, Mr. Truman, that would be a "costly and dangerous" experiment. Ike's stability and experience are good enough for us, say Texas Democrats for Eisenhower, 412 Bolm Building, Austin.

Soviet Troops Seize Hungarian Airfields

BUDAPEST, Friday, Nov. 2—(UP)—Reinforced Soviet troops seized all Hungarian airfields and the nation braced itself behind Premier Imre Nagy today for new resistance to what Free Budapest Radio called a new invasion.
 At 5 a.m. Budapest time (11 p.m. Thursday EST) a Hungarian army source estimated that more than two Soviet divisions had crossed the frontier from the Soviet Union into Hungary during the last 24 hours.
 The Budapest radio began repeating broadcasts about what it called the fresh Russian invasion. Nagy had protested to Moscow at the first news of Soviet troop movements but the Soviet ambassador said they were only "re-groupings".
 The Premier also announced that Hungary was withdrawing from the Soviet-dominated Warsaw Pact, claiming neutral freedom of any power bloc for Hungary, and putting the country under the protection of the U. N.
