

Tigers Lose, 14-13

CHS Almost Beats Cypress-Fairbanks

A&M Consolidated wrested a moral victory Friday night in a 13-14 encounter with favored Cypress-Fairbanks' Bobcats. The Bobcats salvaged the game, but not face as the scrappy Tigers, winner of a single tilt, ground out 13 first downs to the opposition's 10.

Coach Horace Shaffer's eleven, in dropping their second straight conference fracas and seventh in eight outings this season, actually deserved a better fate. They rolled up four penetrations, twice being halted on the Bobcats three-yard line while the hosts failed to penetrate the CHS 20 on any occasion other than their two touchdowns.

If the Tiger conversion attempt had been successful, the game would have been theirs on the basis of first downs.

Slippery Alton Arnold led the CHS running attack and in the air CHS managed 79 yards on 11 completions in 20 attempts. Edgar Feldman connected on nine of 13 tosses in the second half alone, but most of them were short jump passes and totaled only 61 yards.

Bill Kavanaugh sparked the Tiger defense, getting in on almost every other tackle. Steadman Davis, the hustling 155-pound linebacker, and Arnold, who intercepted three passes and almost snared a fourth were outstanding for CHS.

The Bobcats completed only three of 14 aeriels for 99 yards. Of that total, 79 yards led to the first Bobcat tally. Cypress - Fairbanks netted 158 yards rushing. They couldn't move following the opening kickoff and punted out to their own 41-yard line.

On the Tigers first play from scrimmage Arnold took a pitchout from Feldman, got his key block from George Carroll and raced down the left sideline for a quick 6-0 lead. Jim Wright kicked the point after, and the Bengals had a 7-0 bulge.

On the Bobcat 20 David Horn heaved a long aerial to midfield that was batted around like a volley ball. Finally, the Bobcat All-District end, James Oldham, emerged from the confusion with the pigskin and promptly out-ran the Tiger defenders to pay dirt. Oldham converted to tie the score at 7-7.

Midway in the second period another Horn-to-Tillota pass was good for 14 yards and a touchdown.

The Bengals multiple offense started moving in high gear late in the tilt. With Feldman completing five of seven passes, the Tigers marched from their own 31 to a first down on the Bobcat 10-yard line.

Defensive pass interference on a toss to Don Davis put CHS within one yard of the double stripe. Feldman went across on a quarterback sneak, but Wright's conversion attempt sailed wide to the right, the first miss in ten straight tries, and the Tigers trailed 13-14, as the clock ran on.

WHO'S GOT IT—A&M's Bobby Marks does as he intercepts an Arkansas pass on the Aggie two cutting short the Porkers second scoring attempt late in the third quarter.

Ag Rifle Team Edges Hogs

A&M's Rifle Team edged the University of Arkansas team Saturday by a score of 1388 to 1387.

High men for the Aggies and their scores were Dyck Boles of Austin, 284; Ken Beard of Brazoria, 281; Don Phillips of Houston, 277; Ed Wheeler of Corpus Christi, 274; Larry Myers of Groves, 272; Carl Carpenter of Cleburne, 262.

Aggies Still Fifth in AP As TCU Moves to 17th

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The first complete election returns of the day show Oklahoma a clear winner in the Associated Press weekly football poll with 172 districts reporting in the seventh vote of the season by sports writers and sportscasters.

Although they had a bad scare in the first half, trailing Colorado 19-6 at the time, the Sooners came back to win their 36th straight 27-19. They lost part of their first-place support but still rated No. 1 on 116 of 172 ballots, almost four times as many as runner-up Georgia Tech.

On the basis of points, 10 for first, 9 for second, etc., Oklahoma had 1,554 to Georgia Tech's 1,453. Tech had 30 firsts, Tennessee, with 1,252 points and 11 firsts, and Michigan State, with 1,102 and seven firsts, followed.

Michigan State regained lost prestige by whipping Wisconsin 33-0. The Texas Aggies beat Arkansas, 27-0, to hold fifth place.

Minnesota moved up to sixth on its 9-6 edge over Pittsburgh, which fell from 11th to a tie for 20th. Despite a 6-2 victory over Northwestern, Ohio State fell a peg to seventh and Miami edged up a notch by topping Florida State, 20-7.

Syracuse powered its way into ninth place by downing Penn State 13-9 and Michigan advanced to 10th by shading previously unbeaten Iowa, 17-14.

The top teams, with first place votes in parentheses:

1. Oklahoma (116) . . . 1,554
2. Georgia Tech (30) . . . 1,453

3. Tennessee (11) . . . 1,252

A&M Leads Defense; TCU Paces Offense

DALLAS, (CP)—Southwest Conference football teams don't pass much any more but statistics show that this still is the biggest producer of touchdowns.

Charley Arnold of Southern Methodist has connected on 48 of his passes and eight of those shots were for touchdowns. Nobody has gotten that many scores by running.

Arnold will be throwing for touchdowns all the time Saturday because he goes up against the toughest defensive team in the league against a ground attack-Texas A&M. The stingy Aggies have allowed only 136.7 yards per game by running. They're tough against passing, too, but not as much as Texas Christian, which has allowed an amazingly low 29.8 yards per game through the air and the Aggies have given up 57.4.

Arnold is the leading passer of the conference, yardage and touchdown wise. He has rolled up 710 yards with his throwing. He hasn't completed as many passes as Joe Clements of Texas, however. Clements has connected on 56 out of 108 for 597 yards.

Two of the leading ball-carriers also will be seen in action in the SMU-Texas A&M game. They are Charley Jackson of SMU, who ranks second with 441 yards on 67 rushes, and Roddy Osborne of Texas A&M, who has romped to 407 yards on 104 tries.

Texas Christian still is the leading offensive team with 329.2 yards per game but Texas A&M is moving up. The versatile Aggies are averaging 313.1 for third place, just 2.2 back of second place Rice. The Aggies are far away the best defensive outfit, too. They have granted only 194.1 yards per game both rushing and passing.
