COLLEGE STATION, TEXAS, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 8, 1956

Price Five Cents

TICKET LINES GET LONGER—at the A&M Athletic Office where students purchased their date tickets for Saturday's Corps Trip game between the Fighting Texas Aggies and SMU's Mustangs. This is the largest student turn-out for any road game so far this year, according to Pat Dial, business manager for the Athletic Department. An estimated crowd of 65-75,000 people will be in the Cotton Bowl at kickoff time, 2 p.m. Saturday afternoon.

Safety Will Be Stressed In Building 1957 Bonfire

Safety will be the key word on the building of the Texas Aggie bonfire of 1957, according to Dick Bernard, yell leader and coordinator of the committees allied with the operation.

Work commences Nov. 19 with wood cutting in the area and the erection of the center pole.

Lead by Dick Wall and John Specht, the safety committee will place first aid men denoted by green arm bands in the cutting and building areas. An ambulance will be posted in each area during working hours. Safety posters will be displayed in dorms and a day-to-day account of accidents will run in The Battalion.

Cutting will begin in the area, located six miles south of College Station, Monday. A special crew will select and cut the trees to be used on the outside of the stack.

The cutting area was donated by Tommy Arhopulos of College Station.

Berne Clark and Don Weber, in charge of transportation, expressed a need for qualified truck drivers, pick-up and flat-bed trailer trucks. Working through Dick Gottlieb, of KTHH radio in Houston, they have obtained three or four trucks. More will be needed, Clark said.

At a meeting Nov. 1, Col. Taylor Wilkins, assistant commandant, explained what was to be done and described the responsibilities of the various committees.

Bill Dorsey, head yell leader, is in charge of all operations. Assisting Bernard are Byron King, Brad Crockett, Don Houston, Thomas Adair and Jerry Betsill.

Civic Meeting

The College Station Civic Association will hold its annual meeting Monday at 7:30 p. m. in the Junior High School Library. W. H. Delaplane, president said all members and interested citizens are urged to attend.

Ag Cowboys Dominate Sam Houston Rodeo

Texas A&M's Rodeo Team piled up an impressive number of points in winning the Sam Houston State College NIRA Rodeo last weekend at Huntsville.

Finishing first with a total of 643 points A&M's cowboys were trailed by Texas A&I who finished second place with 187 points.

Dominating all events, except the roping events, team members from A&M placed high in all events with A. G. Ollre and Kenneth Beasley being named All-Round Cowboy and runner-up respectively.

A&M members and their results in the Rodeo are as follows: Bareback Riding—A. G. Ollre, 1st, Curtis Burlin, 2nd; Saddlebronc Riding—A. G. Ollre, 1st; Ken Beasley, 3rd; Bullriding—Ken Beasley, 1st; A. G. Ollre, 2nd, Curtis Burlin, 5th and Rodney Butler, 6th; Bull Dogging—Rodney Butler, 1st. Both the Calf Roping and Ribbon Tie Roping events were won by Sonny Sikes of Sam Houston.

Needless to say A&M won the team trophy for their efforts. Members of the A&M Rodeo team attending the events were Ollre, president and District representative to the NIRA, Butler, Beasley, Henry Presnal, Burlin and Bill Ragland.

Religious Conviction

FARMINGTON, N. M. (AP)—When an ex-prisoner got religious all of a sudden Sheriff Jim Brimhall got a little suspicious. The former prisoner showed up for church services five days after he was released. Sheriff's deputies started a check and found four hacksaw blades which they suspected were slipped into hymn books during the services.

Gerald B. McLeod Wins Cabot Award

Gerald Brooks McLeod, junior Chemical Engineering major from McAllen, has been named winner of a $400 Cabot Award for the '56 '57 school year.

McLeod was selected by the Faculty Committee on Scholarships from junior candidates majoring in Chemical, Civil, and Mechanical Engineering. Besides the Scholarship, McLeod will receive an extra $95.90 to cover student fees.

Architecture Awards Given Kolb, Keahey

N. K. Kolb and Kirby M. Keahey were given cash awards amounting to $900 at the 17th annual convention of the Texas Society of Architects held in Corpus Christi.

A fifth year architecture student from Dallas, Kolb won the $500 grand prize in the student competition for Texas Architecture schools sponsored by the Featherlite Corp.

Keahey, fourth year student in architecture from Bluff Dale, won the $400 award offered by the Texas Concrete Masonry Association for the best student brochure submitted from architecture schools in the Southwest.

Other A&M students representing A&M and winning smaller cash awards during the convention were John O. Greer of Port Arthur and William A. Sheveland of Fort Worth. Both Greer and Sheveland are fifth year students.

A&M's Division of Architecture received a plaque which will be kept until the next convention. Three consecutive winners by students at the same school and the plaque remains at the school permanently. This is the second year in a row that A&M has won as Paul Kennon won the award last year.

Melvin M. Rotsch and Theo R. Holleman were faculty members making the trip to the three-day convention where over 600 architects and students from Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana, and Texas gathered.

Negro Lady Prefers Ike Over Fire

In an all-out effort to get out the vote Tuesday, members of various civic organizations were volunteering free transportation to the polls in Bryan.

One member was called "way out" to the end of 18th St. She drove along, found the house and honked the horn.

Out strolled a large "Aunt Jemima-type" Negro woman with a broad grin on her face.

She sat down in the car and when the driver asked her if she wanted to go to the Fire Station (polling place for her location) she replied—

"No suh, I want to vote Republican."

A&M Professors In AVMA Program

Three members of the School of Veterinary Medicine have been appointed to positions planning the technical program for the American Veterinary Medical Association scheduled for next August.

Dr. F. C. Neal, Dr. L. C. Grumbles, and Dr. R. J. Beamer were the men named for the honors according to Dr. W. W. Armistead head of the school.

Neal will serve as chairman of the section devoted to surgery and obstetrics. He is a 1951 graduate of A&M and is in charge of the ambulatory clinic at the Veterinary Hospital here.

Grumbles will chair the section of poultry. He is one of the country's foremost pathologists. He was graduated from A&M in 1945.

Beamer will serve as secretary of the AVMA section on small animals. He was graduated in 1940 from Iowa State and joined the A&M faculty in 1954.

Soviet 'Volunteer' Forces Feared

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

LONDON—Continued sniping in Port Said and deadlock over the issue of troop withdrawals menaced Suez cease-fire. Britons still feared Soviet armed intervention. India's Nehru warned Premier Bulganin such a step might touch off world war.

TEL AVIV—Israel's army said Arab raiders from Jordan staged night attacks on a water line and other installations and harassed highway traffic across a 30-mile stretch of the border.

CAIRO—Sheik Hassan Maamoun, grand mufti of Egypt, exhorted Moslem men and women of Egypt and other Moslem nations to fight the British, French and Israelis as a "sacred duty."

Saddle Club Re-elects Two Team Advisors

The Saddle and Siroloin Club re-elected two professors of the animal husbandry department faculty advisors for the Junior Livestock Judging and Junior and Senior Meats Teams Tuesday night.

W. T. "Dub" Berry is advisor for the meats teams.

Gene T. King is advisor for the Junior Livestock Team.

Both were re-elected by acclamation.

President of the club Bob Johnston of Petrolia said, "These are two of the sparks behind the largest club on the campus. Both are well liked by all the members of the club."

Berry said, "It is a challenge to work with this bunch of men as this club is the backbone of the AH Department. The objective of the club gives each member a chance to give something above being a student. It helps him as a man—and the department through the club's activities."

King said, "It is an honor to me to work in this club, the best and most active on the campus."

The group will hold its next meeting November 19.

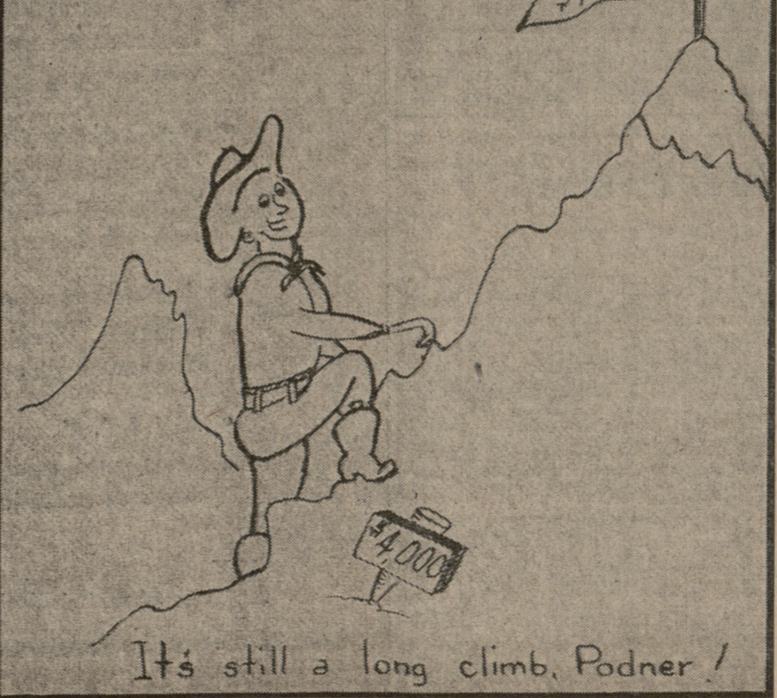

No Smoking Enforced

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Manuel Salazar Rendon lost his life because he didn't smoke. He was approached by a group of toughs who asked for cigarettes. Salazar Rendon explained he didn't smoke. Infuriated, one of the men stabbed him to death.

Youth Program Draws Funds From Chest

By WELTON JONES

(Ed. Note: This is the seventh in a series of articles on the agencies requesting your help in the 1956 A&M College-College Station Community Chest - Red Cross.)

The 1956 Community Chest budget sets aside $400 for the Brazos County Youth Development Counseling Service, an experimental agency being tried in the county in cooperation with the State Department of Health.

It was organized in February, 1955 as a "corporation formed for the support of any benevolent or charitable undertaking, including youth counseling service, for the prevention of juvenile delinquency and to encourage the youth of Brazos County to become better citizens."

Vic Ehlers, a paid professional worker, holds the double job of county probation officer and county youth counselor. Over one hundred children have been helped by Ehlers and his staff since 1955.

The service is organized with the state paying Ehlers' salary, the county paying for secretarial service and car expenses and the group paying the remainder.

"Last year about 20 per cent of our cases were from College Station," Ehlers said. "We had on the average of one child in each month."

The contract with the state expires in 1958 according to B. F. Swindler, chairman of the Brazos County Youth Development Committee. After that the committee must support itself.

In addition to Ehlers, the group pays the salary of a professional psychiatrist from Houston who comes here at frequent intervals to counsel some of the more "problem" cases.

Next year the service has a budget of $13,666.20. $4,200 has been requested from the Bryan United Fund and $400 from College Station.

Members of the service's executive committee, besides Swindler, are Mrs. W. A. Varvel, vice chairman; Mrs. D. W. Andres, treasurer; and Dr. W. R. Carmichael, Dan Davis, James R. Grubbs, Travis Lipscomb and Jerry Massey.

Collegiate 4-H Club To Go On Radio

The A&M Collegiate 4-H Club will present a 15 minute program over radio station WTAW on the 3rd Saturday of each month, according to a decision made last Monday night during its regular bimonthly meeting in the MSC Senate Chamber.

Walter Miers, president, officiated and the club agreed that programs would be recorded four or five days in advance before each show.

After programming details were decided upon, G. G. Gibson of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service gave a lecture on the meaning and history of 4-H Club work. Later, he led a question-answer discussion on Agricultural work in foreign countries.

"The club extends an invitation to anyone interested in 4-H Club work," said president Miers, "especially to those Aggies who are working in 4-H Clubs in their hometowns."
