

SOCIAL WHIRL

Electrical Engineering Wives Club will hold a business meeting beginning at 8 p.m. Monday in Room 203 of the YMCA. The executive committee will present before the group several ideas pertaining to the club constitution. Plans for the Christmas party will also be discussed. All members are urged to be present.

Agricultural Education Wives Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Anderson room of the YMCA. All new department wives are invited. An unusual program is planned with each member taking part. Persons needing rides should contact Dawn Gilleland, VI 6-6765.

Mrs. Robert M. Stevenson will speak on "How to Be a Good Hostess" at Monday evening's meeting of the Business Administration Wives Club. The meeting will take place in the south sonarium of the YMCA. All wives of business administration majors are urged to attend.

Wildlife Management Wives will hear a talk by Edwin Cooper, extension wildlife specialist, at their meeting Tuesday evening at 7:30 in the cabinet room of the YMCA. Mr. Cooper's topic will be "Wildlife Conservation."

Mrs. J. C. Culpepper will entertain the Campus Study Club with short stories when that group meets Tuesday at 3 p.m. in the YMCA. Hostesses will be Mrs. Price Hobgood and Mrs. Leo Ogg.

Agriculture Economics and Rural Sociology Wives Club will meet Monday evening in Room 312 of the Agriculture Building. Rene Abbott of Edna's Beauty Salon will take place in the south sonarium of the YMCA. All wives of business administration majors are urged to attend.

Industrial Engineering Wives will hold their first social Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Brooks room of the YMCA. Guest speaker will be A. R. Burgess of the Industrial Engineering Dept. All department wives, faculty and faculty wives are invited to this get-acquainted party. Refreshments will be served.

Lucille Prior and Barbara Bryant will be hostesses for this week's meeting of the regular group of the Aggie Wives Bridge Club; Lottie Gotcher and Elaine Wardlaw, for the intermediates, and Sharon Hart and Gail Channing, beginning group. Winners in last week's play were Kathy Rowin, Lucille Prior and Nell Shockley in the regular group, and Roberta Ash and Joy Brown in the intermediate.

By LOLLIE PENBERTHY

(The Penberthys—Walter and Lollie—are well-known and popular members of the A&M "family." Mr. Penberthy, head of the department of student activities, came to the campus in 1926 as assistant professor of physical education. He became head of that department in 1937, dean of men in 1947, and assumed his present position in 1954. (The Penberthys have three children—Wally, a fourth-year student in petroleum geology at A&M; Jean, a junior home economics major at Texas University, and Beth, who is in the junior class at Stephens College in Columbia, Mo. Mr. and Mrs. Penberthy have made their home in Bryan since 1940. They reside at 603 Hensel Drive.)

ORANGE RAISIN CAKE
 ½ cup shortening
 1 cup sugar
 2 eggs

Cream shortening and sugar, then add whole eggs. Beat well. Add flour and buttermilk, to which soda has been added, alternately. Squeeze juice from 1 orange and save. Grind remainder with 1 cup raisins, and add to cake mixture. Cook at 350 degrees about 25 minutes. Thirteen by nine inch pan is desirable.

As soon as cake is done, drip the orange juice over the cake and sprinkle over the top ¼ cup sugar, ¼ cup chopped nuts, 1 teaspoon cinnamon. This recipe is very good, and may be served plain or with whipped cream.

RICE-OYSTER DRESSING

This recipe is a repeat, as so many have asked me for it. It is one of my own.

3 cups uncooked rice
 6 cups rich stock; if not rich enough, add a large lump of oleo
 1 medium bunch of celery cut in small pieces
 1 teaspoon salt
 2 or 3 cans of Negro head oysters according to your taste and pocketbook

Fresh oysters are expensive, so I use the canned ones. Mix all together in a heavy roaster that has a tight lid. Bring to boiling point on top of the stove. Place lid on roaster and put in pre-heated 400-degree oven for 30 minutes, or cook till grains of rice are tender. This is excellent with wild or domesticated duck or turkey.

ROLLS

This recipe is excellent in that it makes a large amount and will keep about a week in refrigerator before souring. If you have a freezer, the dough may be divided into about six batches, put into plastic bags and frozen till ready for use. A good dough for cinnamon rolls and raised doughnuts as well as for plain rolls.

1 quart milk (powdered milk may be used)
 1 cup shortening
 1 cup sugar

Heat these ingredients till shortening melts, then cool to lukewarm. Add one yeast cake or one package dry yeast dissolved in ¼ cup warm water.

To the above mixture add flour till mixture is the consistency of cake dough. Beat well (I use my electric mixer). Set aside and let rise for two hours till doubled in bulk.

Then sift together and add: 1 heaping teaspoon salt, 1 heaping teaspoon baking powder, 1 level teaspoon soda, and 2 cups flour. Beat well, then add enough flour so that mixture can be handled with ease.

Store in refrigerator in large pan which has been greased well with Wesson Oil. After you put the dough in the pan, pour a little Wesson Oil over the top of the dough and smooth with your hand till the whole surface is greased. Cover to keep dough soft.

CHS Band Honors Aggie Band

The Aggie Band will be honored at the half-time show put on by A&M Consolidated High School's band tomorrow night at the CHS-Bellville football game, according to drum major Don Avera.

"We have always been a little in awe of the Aggie Band," Avera said, "so we thought we would use our last half-time show of the year to honor them with some of the maneuvers they have made famous."

The band will enter from the end zone with a split minstrel turn playing the Aggie War Hymn. After marching down the field and doing a triple continuous counter march, they will play "Men of Music."

Playing this march, the band will split by column movements, one half going to the left and the other half to the right. Another column movement will bring them paralleled along the side lines and two others will bring the entire band back together.

After a single counter march, the band will halt and form the block "T". With Avera in front and two twirlers on either side acting as assistant drum majors, the band will move to the end of the field playing the Aggie War Hymn.

R. L. Boone is director of the band and Avera is drum major.

Receiving Line Shelved By Women's Press Club

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON—Usually everybody has a good time at a Washington party—unless it's the hosts and the honored guests, who must spend a good part of the evening standing in a receiving line, shaking hands and exchanging pleasantries with many folks they don't know and likely as not will never see again.

But sometimes this formality even wears down the guests. If as many as 500 to 1,000 are invited, often the case at official functions in the capital, the line of prospective well-wishers sometimes extends to the street curb. Traffic gets snarled, feet ache, and even buffet tables are devastated ere the last arrivals get through with the amenities.

Some guests on such occasions, after inching along for a half hour or more, just give up and go home. Others just say to heck with it, skip the receiving business entirely, and make a direct beeline for the bar.

Officers of the Women's National Press Club introduced a happy way of helping everyone to get acquainted at their latest shindig for seven new ambassadors and their wives.

The feted guests were met at the door by at least two club members and escorted to small tables where they could sit down and enjoy the champagne and sweets while the other guests came up and greeted them.

The honored envoys were among 11 newcomers to Embassy Row from countries scattered over four continents who have arrived in Washington since last spring.

Split English muffins, spread the cut surfaces with a Pizza topping and then bake in a hot (425 degrees) oven for five minutes or so.
