

Senate Insurance

The planners for the blanket policy had scouted for another company searching for cheaper rates. They thought one was found yesterday. The company they had in mind first said it could write the policy cheaper. When it discovered the senate wanted a policy for all the time instead of one to cover campus accidents, the company backed out, Weber said.

Weber said someone in the senate asked why the College couldn't set up and administer its own insurance policy.

He said the person told the senate that the company would definitely make money on the deal, so the college might as well run it for the benefit of the students.

Weber said this was impossible since the college is a State Institution.

Persons who already hold an insurance policy will be penalized under this plan, Weber said.

But he said most students didn't have any accident insurance.

He said a group he discussed the plan with decided the company wouldn't make a lot of money.

The group figured how much money the company would have paid out last weekend alone. About $3,300 is what they turned up, Weber said.

He said the group included five accidents—one death, and four traffic accidents—in its estimate.

About 5,000 students will be required to participate in the plan if the proposal gets a majority in the general election, Weber said.

The company that has offered to write the policy is in Houston, Weber said.

"It is a reputable company," he said.

He said the company that will write the policy carries insurance with Lincoln National Insurance Company, which is large enough "to pay off if every guy around here dies."

Parr Trial Jury Can't Get Verdict

HOUSTON, (AP)—After over 12 hours of work the George Parr mail fraud trial jury had reached no verdict last night.

Federal Judge Allen B. Hamby let the jury go home to return again tomorrow.

The month old trial went to the jury shortly before noon Tuesday. Parr, eight Duval county associates and two banks Parr formerly headed were indicted for mail fraud and mail fraud conspiracy. The government contends the defendants diverted over $200,000 in Benavides school district funds to personal use.

At Other Schools

By WELTON JONES

As Southwest Conference students returned from Thanksgiving holiday, writers for the various school papers cast about for something to write about. Some of them planned trips to their own bowl games and others shed a few last tears for the football season and prepared for basketball.

TCU

Frog ticket powers looked contented as they sorted the 15,000 Cotton Bowl tickets issued them for this year's "classic" on New Years Day, while elsewhere on the pages of the Skiff, the sports editor reasoned that the "Croakers" were 23 points better than their opponents, Syracuse University. This came after a long-winded trail leading through four regular season games involving five teams. But he shook a verbal warning finger when he said "The Frogs have no push-over on their hands".

The editor seemed anything but rested as he lashed out with four scalding editorials in the same issue. One called for more "voice-losing" at basketball games this year and another rapped the Student Congress for not planning a method of distribution for the student directories before printing the things.

A third piece urged that officials work harder on a parking problem solution, saying that "next year is almost here", and the last knocked the "Purple-Lights-on-the-Chapel-After-Every-Athletic-Victory" tradition which an unnamed group seems to be trying to impose on the Toads. He compared the "purple" lights to the "bruised under side of a pale green toad." Maybe.

BAYLOR

A letter concerning the forthcoming liquor election in Baylor's home county, McLennan, on the pages of the Lariat was headlined "A Firm Conviction" and signed "Nose Brotherhood". "If you drink, drink; if you fly, drink", it recommended.

Elsewhere in the pages, we find a Waco tourist agent has instigated a "Baylor Bear Special" to go to the Sugar Bowl in New Orleans New Year's Day for that "classic". The trip is complete with special rates for little bears, game tickets and best accommodations. Only thing is, it seems as if no Bears have signed up for the trip. However, they "expect some before the end of the week."

SMU

Here is a team with a poor football record that is not going to a "classic".

But an assistant sports editor is already planning ahead for next year, when he hopes to instill compulsory, organized yelling at games of the Horsies. After observing the "ATO's" beat the "DeKes" in the championship intramural basketball game, he decided that it was due in part to good yelling on the part of "ATO".

"It might be a good idea to have the freshmen go together to the football games," he said in applying his theory to football. "They might make a sizable group in some sort of uniform garb, say, white shirt or blouse, blue pants or skirt and the perennial red beanie." He suggested forcing the first-yearers to attend the contests through sororities, fraternities and by "making it sound like an old tradition which no one would dare break."

UN Council Opens Door For Japan

UNITED NATIONS — (AP) The Security Council yesterday unanimously approved the admission of Japan as the 80th member of the U.N. It disapproved Communist Outer Mongolia.

The Soviet Union, which had vetoed Japan's membership application four times in four years, withheld its vote this time.

The Council's recommendation in favor of Japan went to the General Assembly, where it is expected to be ratified by well over the necessary two-thirds vote Monday or Tuesday.

The Assembly will delay this action till Japanese Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu can arrive and address it. He is expected in New York Friday.

Shigemitsu and Soviet Vice Foreign Minister Nicolai Fedorenko exchanged documents in Tokyo yesterday ratifying an Oct. 19 Moscow agreement to end the 11-year-old state of war between Japan and the Soviet Union.

Shigemitsu commenting later on the Council vote, said Japan's entry into the U.N. was "the fulfillment of our fervent national aspirations of 11 long years."

He added in a statement that he was leaving for New York last night to speak to the Assembly. He said he would thank countries that had supported Japan's admission, "explain our basic national policy of peace" and "declare to all the world" Japan's readiness to participate actively in the U.N.'s work.

VP To Austria

AUGUSTA, Ga., (AP)—At President Eisenhower's request, Vice President Nixon will go to Austria next week to study the Hungarian refugee problem and recommend what further aid the United States can extend.

Announcing this last night, the White House press secretary, James C. Hagerty left open the question of whether the trip may lead to bringing into this country more than the 21,500 refugees now planned.

Hungarian Airlift Delayed by Winds

MUNICH, (AP)—The airlift of Hungarian refugees to the United States last night moved into its second day after a six-hour delay caused by unusually high winds in Scotland.

The first of five planes took off from Munich Airport for McGuire Air Force Base in New Jersey. With four more planes following every hour on the hour, a total of 277 refugees were leaving here last night for the United States.

The first plane was piloted by Capt. John C. Hofsaes, 33, of North Bergen, N. J.
