

CHS Lad In Finals For Scholarship

David Webb, A&M Consolidated High School senior, has been named a finalist in the National Merit Scholarship competition according to J. J. Skrivaneck, principal.

One hundred and sixty two thousand high school seniors from 12,500 schools over the nation took the nationwide college aptitude examination on October 24. Webb was among the 7,500 students who scored highest in the tests.

At stake for Webb, son of Mrs. Lois Webb, 108 Park Place, and the other finalists are more than 700 four-year scholarships to the schools of their choice sponsored by business and industry.

Before receiving a scholarship now, Webb must pass the College Board Examination Saturday and face intensive screening of his leadership and extra-curricular records by a selection board.

"The examination will probably eliminate 500 of the finalists," John M. Stalnaker, president of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation said. "Then there will still be about 10 qualified students for each scholarship available."

Two other CHS seniors, Maurice Olian and Jo Anne Walker took the tests. Reportedly, Olian missed the finals by one point. This was the first year that anyone from the school has reached the finals. The scholarships were first awarded last year.

The tests covered a variety of subjects ranging from music to foreign languages. Value of the scholarships range, according to need, from $100 per year upwards. 556 winners from last year are now freshmen at 160 different colleges.

Runners-up for the contest receive Certificates of Merit which will make them eligible to be considered for many other awards and scholarships.

"If I win a scholarship I plan to attend A&M and major in Aeronautical Engineering," Webb said.
