English Proficiency Examination for Juniors Majoring in the School of Arts and Sciences

All Juniors majoring in the curricula of the School of Arts and Sciences, including Business Administration, and who will graduate after Jan. 29, 1958, must pass an English Proficiency Examination. This requirement and the list of the curricula may be found on pages 123-124 of Catalogue No. 79. The English Proficiency Examination will be offered by the various departments during the week Feb. 11-15. Such Juniors should consult with the heads of their major departments by Feb. 9 to schedule their examinations. The passing of this examination is a requisite to candidacy for a degree.

Changes in Studies

Changes in the list of courses for which any student is currently registered may be made only on the recommendation of the head of each department concerned and with the approval of the dean of the student's school. A student may not add courses after Feb. 9. Any course dropped after Saturday, Feb. 16, shall normally carry a grade of "F".

H. L. Heaton, Director of Admissions and Registrar

Candidate for Degree

Any student who normally expects to complete all the requirements for a degree by the end of the current semester should call by the Registrar's Office NOW and make formal application for a degree. March 1 is the deadline for filing an application for a degree to be conferred at the end of the current semester. This deadline applies to both graduate and undergraduate students.

Spring Fashions Feature Natural, Comfortable Look

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

An easy, gentle look distinguishes spring fashions, as previewed by New York designers.

There's no straining for effect, no exaggerated lines, no unnatural contortions of waistline or bustline. Instead the new clothes for spring fit easily and loosely, permitting freedom of movement and comfortable poise.

It has often been said that no woman can look pretty if she is uncomfortable in her clothes, and this year fashion designers agree. So skirts, while slim, have room enough for walking and jackets, while slender, have no nipped waists or built-up busts. The way to look smart this spring, it seems, is to look natural and at ease.

Suits are almost uniformly slender in line, with brief jackets and skirts that give freedom of movement by means of panels, peg-tops and tunics. The bolero, the box jacket, the bloused-back jacket and the cape are all in the picture.

Dresses for street wear usually have slim lines also, but for afternoon and party wear there are plenty of full skirt—not the exaggerated kind that require layers of crinolines, but softly gathered or flared skirts that are easy and flattering to wear.

Dress-and-jacket costumes continue as a favorite of American women, while ensembles of full-length coat or cape and co-ordinated dress also are important.

Fabrics are feather-weight, often draped, always soft and sometimes floating. Colors are lighter in tone, with many tender pastels in the spring lineup.

SOCIAL WHIRL

Aggie Wives Bridge Club will hold its first meeting of the new semester at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the Memorial Student Center. A new class for beginners will be started.

Hostesses for the evening will be Maudene Chambers and Nancy Hungerford for the regular group; Elaine Goolsby and Elaine Ward-law, intermediates; and Alyce Staehs, beginners.

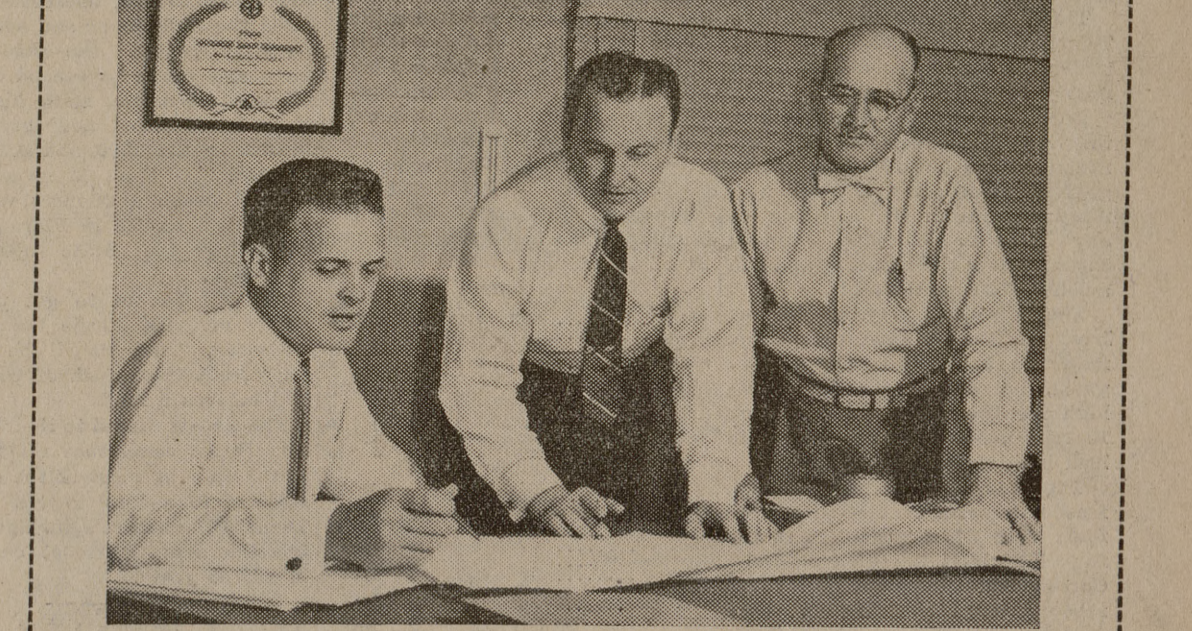

At the last meeting prizes were won by Lottie Gotcher, Elaine Wardlaw, Elaine Goolsby, Barbara Peterson, Kathy Rowin, Jenice King and Elaine Gipson.

The first meeting of the spring semester for the Mechanical Engineering Wives Club opened with a tour of the Mechanical Engineering Building, conducted by Dr. C. M. Simmang of the department.

A short business meeting, during which tentative plans for a dinner-dance were discussed, followed the tour.

Refreshments were served by Riskie Reigel and Virgie Ellington.

A Campus-to-Career Case History

Planning for growth. Joe Hunt (left) talks with Jim Robinson (center), District Construction Foreman, and O. D. Frisbie, Supervising Repair Foreman. In Joe's district alone, 600 new telephones are put into service every month.

"I'll take a growing company"

70,000 telephones to keep in operation . . . $20,000,000 worth of telephone company property to watch over . . . 160 people to supervise—these are some of the salient facts about Joe Hunt's present job with Southwestern Bell. He's a District Plant Superintendent at Tulsa, Oklahoma.

"It's a man-sized job," says Joe, who graduated from Oklahoma A. & M. in 1949 as an E.E. "And it's the kind of job I was looking for when I joined the telephone company."

"I wanted an engineering career that would lead to management responsibilities.

Moreover, I wanted that career to be in a growing company, because growth creates real opportunities to get ahead.

"But to take advantage of opportunities as they come along, you must have sound training and experience. The telephone company sees that you get plenty of both. Really useful training, and experience that gives you know-how and confidence. Then, when bigger jobs come your way, you're equipped to handle them."

"If I had it to do all over again, I'd make the same decision about where to find a career. Now — as then — I'll take a growing company."

Joe Hunt is with Southwestern Bell Telephone Company. Interesting career opportunities exist in other Bell Telephone Companies, and in Bell Telephone Laboratories, Western Electric and Sandia Corporation. Your placement officer can give you more information about these companies.
