

Liabli To Be A Pinch In The End!

G. F. Boyett Services Held Sunday

Guy F. Boyett, 61, Brazos County commissioner for eight years, was interred in the Bryan City cemetery Sunday afternoon. He died Saturday morning at 6 in his home, 100 Boyett St., College Station.

A graduate in civil engineering in 1916, Boyett lived here all his life. As a contractor, he was active in constructing both Easterwood Airport and Bryan Air Force Base and had much to do with the installation of Bryan's first REA. Boyett was a member of the Knights of Pythias and the A&M Presbyterian Church.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Mary Boyett, College Station; one son, Guy F. Boyett, Jr., and two grandchildren of Bryan; two sisters, Mrs. Bertha Boyett Cox and Mrs. Frank Mathews of College Station; three brothers, Alton P. Boyett, College Station; Norman Boyett, Marlin and Oran Boyett, Uvalde.

Music Fan

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—William B. McKesson, district attorney of Los Angeles County, appeared for a quiz session before a panel of teen-agers. He was asked if he thought rock 'n' roll should be outlawed and gave this answer: "No. Personally I don't 'dig it, but that doesn't mean that I would want to ban it. There are good and bad elements in our current music. I believe that most teenagers are wise enough not to carry the bad elements to excess."

Who Is This Missing Man Called Oscar Zimmerman?

By JIM BOWER

A mystery entitled "Who Is Oscar Zimmerman" may be developing here in Brazos County.

Oscar first gained prominence in a letter to the editor published Sunday in the Bryan Daily Eagle in which he criticized the "too high" salaries and useless positions here at A&M.

But from here, Oscar's trail grows somewhat hazy.

He does not pay taxes according to the rolls of the tax assessor and collector.

He is not listed in the latest city-county directory.

He does not get any mail according to the rural carrier of route 3, the route Oscar called home in the letter. The carrier said "he hasn't gotten any mail in the last two years, anyway."

There are six Zimmermans in the telephone book. Five of these said they never heard of him and the sixth was not at home to be contacted.

Oscar must be better at typing than writing.

Vic Lindley, Eagle editor, said the letter was postmarked "Bryan" and that it was typewritten (with no typographical errors) but was signed in very shaky handwriting.

Jumping off into his letter with the statement that "it takes courage to stand up for the tax payer", Oscar told readers of his letter that "top salaries at A&M are too high and that many jobs and expense could be abolished and some salaries could be lowered."

Oscar said he was answering "Mr. Miller" who had earlier written a letter to the Eagle as a tax payer and citizen protesting against the proposed County Court-at-Law.

"I want to urge another saving for the tax payer," Oscar said. "Literally tens or hundreds of useless jobs and high salaries have been authorized there (A&M) and with an obvious gross waste of the tax payer's money."

"You and I pay this bill through taxation," he said.

"I know of many useless positions, or jobs, in many departments at A&M, the Extension Service and other departments under years ago. "As to that business about $20,000, that is entirely wrong," said Barron. "The Court would cost the salary of the judge plus about $400 per year for other expenses. Revenue from the Court would double from the county's share at present."

This is in direct opposition to Rep. Dewey's statement that "there is no question about the Court's inability to pay for itself."

Asked why the bill calls for a minimum salary of $8,400, Barron explained that the figure was reached by dividing the new proposed salary for district judges in half and raising the total a bit.

Heat Laboratory Offers Training

In nine years, 220 A&M engineering students have taken advantage of the on-the-job training offered by the Texas Engineering Experiment Station heat laboratory.

The number of students employed per month averaged 15 and their compensation about $5,000 per year.

Work has been carried out in the field and laboratory and has aided toward research involving soil temperatures, moisture migration and thermal conductivity.
