Tar Heels, Kan. Top AP Cage Poll

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
 The Associated Press

The big three of college basketball—North Carolina, Kansas and Kentucky—kept on winning last week and their positions at the top of the weekly Associated Press ranking all remained unchanged.

In the 10th weekly AP poll of sports writers and broadcasters, the unbeaten North Carolina Tar Heels maintained their margin of about 100 points over the Kansas Jayhawks. Each Adolph Rupp's Kentucky Wildcats, who have lost only once in their last 14 games, maintained a strong hold on third place.

North Carolina rang up a pair of victories by rather close scores to make it 18 straight this season up through last Saturday. Once again Kansas and three-time loser Kentucky each won one game during the week.

The three teams that had been behind them in the ratings last week, but they slipped down to places to make room for rising Seattle and Bradley.

Seattle, the first team picked in the 1957 National Invitation tournament, moved into fourth place on the strength of a 106-72 victory over Seattle Pacific and a 18-2 season record. Bradley topped Portland and Marquette as it advanced to fifth. Then came SMU, UCLA, Louisville, Iowa State and West Virginia to complete the top 10. West Virginia, winner of three games last week, replaced losing Wake Forest in 10th place.

North Carolina, moving at a steady pace in the balloting as well as on the basketball court, polled 887 points on the basis of 10 for each first place vote, 9 for second, etc. The Tar Heels were first on 56 of the 96 ballots.

Aggie Cagers Battle TCU In Coliseum Tonight at 8

FAST BREAK FOR TWO—A&M's Ted Harrod (22) goes high in the air for two quick points against the Texas Longhorns last week. The Aggies won, 69-67. Vainly attempting to block the shot is Kermit Decker (21) while Ken Cleveland (11) and Norman Hooton (22) look on. Watching for A&M are Neil Swisher (66) and George Mehaffey (55).

Fish Meet Wogs In 6 p.m. Opener

By BARRY HART

The Southwest Conference's tallest team meets the shortest as TCU battles the Aggies tonight in White Coliseum.

The Fish meet the Wogs at 6 p.m. in the opener with the varsities exchanging points starting at 8.

The huge Frogs, sporting a 6-4.7 average, try an Aggie five that barely reaches 6-2.7, but has proved they can be double-tough on their home court.

TCU brings 6-10 H. E. Kirchner, 6-7 Dick O'Neal and 6-5 Ronny Stevenson to battle the boards with 6-4 George Mehaffey, 6-2 Fritzie Connally and 6-1 Neil Swisher. O'Neal is the league's third highest scorer, with 357 points in 19 games.

A&M took it on the chin, 63-46 at the hands of the Arkansas Razorbacks Saturday night in Fayetteville while the Fish were getting cleaned, 77-54, by the Houston Kittens in Houston.

Mehaffey was held to two points, his season low, as A&M wasn't in the game after 10 minutes of play. For the Fish, Wayne Lawrence scored only 21 points, dropping his average to 26 per game.

Ken Hutto, who is finally coming into his own after starting very slowly, led the Aggie scorers against the Hogs with 16 points.

The Froggies after being tied, 43-43, with 10 minutes to go, ran away from A&M and won a 77-58 affair in Ft. Worth two weeks ago. TCU is 10-9 on the season and find themselves only one notch above the cellar-dwelling Cadets in conference play with a 2-5 record. A victory by A&M would leave both with a 2-6 mark and tied for the bottom.
