

Daniel Resubmits Shivers Appointees

AUSTIN, (CP)—Gov. Price Daniel, who persuaded the State Senate Monday to withdraw six late Shivers appointments, today submitted the same six to the Senate for confirmation.

Both Daniel and Former Gov. Allan Shivers could claim a victory as a result of Monday's and yesterday's developments in the senate on the nominations of the men to the governing boards of the University of Texas and Texas A&M College system.

Daniel could point to a victory on principle—that the incoming governor rather than the outgoing governor should make such last-minute nominations. On the other hand, Shivers will have succeeded in getting his selections on the boards. And the Senate, which already has confirmed one man Daniel was not supporting, has demonstrated its power.

In his request to the Senate, Daniel urged that his objection was not to the individuals named by Shivers but to the principle.

This in essence was that a new governor should have considerable voice on the appointive bodies since his administration would be charged with their actions.

Shivers insisted he had ample precedent and both the legal and moral right of making such appointments.

Daniel said early yesterday he had 22 votes in favor of recalling the nominations and about the same time the Senate came up with all 30 votes (one senator was absent). That led to considerable speculation that there was some fast behind-the-scenes trading involved.

Only routine confirmation now stands in the way of the three A&M directors: Eugene B. Darby of Pharr, Herman Heep of Buda and Austin, and L. H. Ridout Jr. of Dallas.

When Daniel asked for withdrawal he said at the time he would "no doubt resubmit some if not all of them."

Poultry Juniors To Enter Contest

Four junior Poultry Husbandry majors will compete in the Southern Collegiate Junior Poultry Judging Contest in Jackson, Miss. next month, but no one knows yet who they are.

The Junior Poultry Judging Team, under the supervision of Cecil Ryan, is made up of four men. Of these, three will judge in competition, and one will go as an alternate.

The four will be chosen from the following: Ken Holleman, Carl Armstrong, Clint Herring, David Behlen, Bill McCoy, and W. D. Benson. They will be selected on the basis of judging ability, and will be excused from classes for a week to attend the contest.

The team will judge in the following categories: Breeding Selection, Ready-to-Cook Dressed Birds, Production Judging, Live Market Products, and Interior Quality of eggs.

In the past several years, the A&M judging team has compiled an excellent record at the Southern Collegiate Contest. Since 1948, the teams have won one first place, two seconds, three thirds, one fourth and one sixth.

New Water Aid Plan Introduced By Senate

AUSTIN, (CP)—The Senate Water Conservation Committee yesterday tossed out HB161, substituting its own bill for setting up the 200 million dollar construction aid plan to conserve water.

The 40-second action developed after little discussion. Sen. George Moffett of Chillicothe asked the house bill's number be printed on the bill.

The Senate's substitute already had been approved by the committee. If approved by the Senate, it will go to a joint conference committee.

The Senate plan would allow the state to issue immediately up to 100 million dollars in bonds. The money would be loaned to cities, towns and other political subdivisions needing aid to construct dams, treatment plants and certain other projects.

Another 100 million dollars in bonds could be issued by two-thirds approval of both the House and Senate.

The projects would have to be approved by the state board of water engineers before the proposed Texas Water Development Board could make the loan. A revolving fund would be established, and the higher interest rate charged local districts would allow the state to make a profit.

The House bill provided for 200 million dollars in bonds which could be issued immediately. Gov. Price Daniel had suggested the program be increased to 200 million, which both bills in effect do.

A major difference in the two bills is the maximum interest rate which the state could pay for the bonds it sells. The Senate set the maximum at 4 per cent, the House at 3 per cent.

The first sawmill in America was built in 1608 on the James River in Virginia.

Corps Staffers Are Planning To Move Hdq.

The Corps Staff should find a permanent home around April 1, according to Charles L. Lewis, inspector general of the Cadet Corps. Work has been underway all semester on the new headquarters in Dorm 2.

The new headquarters, formerly a lounge, will house the offices of the staff members, the area guard room and a staff conference room, said Lewis.

"For a long time A&M has needed an official, permanent headquarters, like you'll find in the other military schools and similar to staff headquarters setups in the Army," Lewis said.

Adjacent to the large plate-glass-enclosed conference room will be staff offices. This area will be partitioned into five separate offices, with two desks in each office. The walls are being painted and the ceilings are being sound-proofed.

"Cabinets are being installed in all the rooms, so that lack of space should no longer present any problem," Lewis said. "The offices are being made along the lines of any typical modern office."

New desks will probably be brought in, he said, and the rooms will be fluorescent lighted.

Bill Libby Attends Religious Seminar

Bill Libby, junior in the Aggie Band from Borger, recently returned from a three-day seminar on "Christian Citizenship" in Washington, D. C.

He was one of 60 representatives of the Methodist Student Movement from 50 colleges and universities attending the seminar Wednesday through Friday.

While in Washington Libby heard such outstanding speakers as Sen. Paul Douglas (D-Ill); Harold Stassen, assistant to President Eisenhower; Jacques Andreani, attache of the French Embassy; Fred Hadel of the state department; Sterling Tucker of the Urban League and Sen. Spessard L. Holland (D-Fla).

SOLON CHARGE

"Several days ago some charges of misconduct on the part of a member of the House of Representatives came to my attention. This evidence was of a grave and serious nature and I immediately conferred with several fellow members of the House of Representatives, of the Texas Department of Public Safety and the district attorney of Travis County. These conferences, and the close cooperation that followed, have resulted in the arrest of a member of the house on a criminal charge.

Extremely Regrettable

"It is extremely regrettable that instances of this nature occur involving those in high office and in whom the people of Texas have placed their highest trust and confidence.

"We will take all necessary steps to keep our own house in order."

Carr said he believed the charge was the first of that serious nature to be filed against a member of the legislature "in many many years."

Members of the legislature and former legislators have been under heavy fire of criticism in the last three years in connection with the veterans land and insurance scandals.

There have been widespread and insistent demands that laws be passed to put a stop to influence peddling practices such as have been spotlighted by investigations.

Vanity Fair; Senior Favorites Due

Vanity Fair and Senior Favorite pictures should be turned in to Office of Student Publications as soon as possible.

Deadline for entering the photos is April 15.

One full-length picture of the girl to be entered for Vanity Fair is required. A head and shoulder shot is desired but not absolutely required.

One picture of any size, but preferably a 5 by 7, is sufficient for Senior Favorite entries. A $2 fee is required with each picture for the latter. No color prints can be used.

Applicants for Vanity Fair must be able to: (1) appear on the campus Friday, May 17, at a time and place to be later specified; (2) attend the Senior Ring Dance, May 18, and (3) have a picture made at the Aggeland Studio for the Aggeland '57.

TWO CAN LIVE AS CHEESILY AS ONE

Now in the final months of the school year, one thing is certain: you and your roommate are not speaking.

But it is not too late to patch things up. Examine the rift calmly. Search your soul with patience. Perhaps the fault is yours. Perhaps you are guilty of violating some of the basic rules of roommate etiquette.

For instance, in decorating your room, have you forced your preferences on your roommate without regard to his or her tastes? This is a common cause of friction. Indeed, it once happened to me back in my freshman year when I was sharing a room with a boy named Rimsky Sigafos who covered every inch of our wall with 850 pictures of James Dean.

"Rimsky," I said to him in gentle reproof, "please don't think me unduly, but I had hoped to put a picture of my fiancée Mary Beth Thermidor on the wall."

Rimsky examined the picture of my fiancée Mary Beth Thermidor. "You're kidding, of course," he said and dropped the picture in the wastebasket.

Well, that got my dander up, and I was mad as a wet hen till Rimsky gave me a Philip Morris Cigarette.

As we all know, there is nothing like a mild, natural, Philip Morris. Treats a man right. No filter, no foolin'! Anger melts and frowns become smiles with Philip Morris, all seems right in the world, and no man's hand is turned against you, nor yours against any man.

So, puffing a pacifying Philip Morris, I forgot all about Rimsky's slight to Mary Beth Thermidor. In fact, with her picture out of sight, I soon forgot all about Mary Beth Thermidor, too, and one night at the Freshman Frolic, spying a round young coed over in a corner, I came up to her and said with a fetching leer, "Excuse me, miss. We don't know each other, but I would like to rectify that sad omission." And she said, "Oh, you horrid, horrid youth! I am your fiancée Mary Beth Thermidor." With that she stomped furiously away, and though I tried to win her back with Philip Morris, she was beyond recall. I, utterly shattered, signed on as a cabin boy with the Cunard Line and am today, aged 53, the oldest cabin boy on the North Atlantic run.

But I digress. We were talking about roommate etiquette. Let us turn now to the matter of share and share alike. Have you shared everything equally? Drawer space? Closet space? Study space? And here's one that often causes trouble—hobby space.

When, for example, I roomed with Rimsky Sigafos, my hobby was stamp collecting. I did not take up much room. All I needed was a small-corner for my stamps, my album, my magnifying glass, and my tongue. Rimsky, on the other hand, was by hobby a cat burglar. Hardly a night went by when he didn't burgle twenty or thirty cats. You can imagine how crowded our little room used to get! Many's the time I got so exasperated that it took two or three rich, natural Philip Morris to restore my native sweetness.

We, the makers of Philip Morris and sponsors of this column, know that you and your roommate are getting along just fine. But if you ever do have a little tiff, don't try a peace pipe. Try a good, natural smoke—Philip Morris!
