

Junior Gardeners Present Play On Conservation for A&M Club

Little Sprouts Junior Gardeners entertained the A&M Garden Club Friday afternoon with a dramatic presentation of the need for plant and wild flower conservation.

The group of youthful gardeners, under the guidance of Mrs. L. K. Tanzer, presented a play emphasizing the depletion of plant life which results from mass cutting or digging of plants, from pulling the roots of flowers, and from the careless discarding of lighted cigarettes.

Susan Timm announced the cast for the play: Pamela Adkins, the Judge; Sidney Armistead, the Bailiff; Margaret Brown, the Police Officer; Pamela Adams, Mrs. Joiner; June Bearden, the Gardener; Sharon Covey, Mrs. Burns; Julie Goode and Linda Andrews, the Smith Girls, and Marty Goff, the "Litter-bug."

Mrs. Edward Madeley presided at the business session after the invocation by Mrs. Ran Boswell.

Mrs. Edward Baker announced April 13 as the date of the pilgrimage to Temple. The trip will include luncheon in Salado and a visit in Temple to the all-iris show of the American Iris Society. Reservations for this trip must be completed by the date of the next meeting, April 5.

Mrs. Madeley extended an invitation from the Bryan Garden Club to attend a lecture and demonstration by Mrs. Ione Richardson April 2.

Mrs. W. W. Armistead outlined the gardening program for March.

Decorating Authorities Seek Simplicity, Unity

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newfeatures Writer

More decorating help is available to the homemaker than ever before in manufacturers' pamphlets, stores' decorating services, and information available through newspapers and magazines.

But often the homemaker fails for lack of time, energy or awareness to avail herself of these services. Sometimes she fails to interpret the information so that it may be applied to her special problem or purpose.

What are some mistakes in home planning?

Few Pieces Required

A frequent one is the idea (particularly of the young homemaker) that a great deal of furniture is required to make a cozy home.

This results in confusion. It takes an expert decorator to deal with a huge quantity of furniture even when pieces are important and a room is large.

Certainly then the average neophyte decorator will have difficulty combining and integrating mass into space. A small living room for instance, may not even be receptive to a sofa. But does one need a sofa if it sticks out like a sore thumb? No. But try to tell that to a young couple bound by tradition. Even the romantic love seat fails to intrigue them into giving up the outsize sofa in favor of a smaller piece.

Color is another problem. Wife likes blue. Husband likes green. To please him she "buys" him something green." The overstuffed chair with matching ottoman is usually the place singled out for the man of the family. It may not match anything else but the couple sees it only as an individual piece, not part of a unit.

Many young couples "shoot the works" on the furniture and then have nothing left for "softeners." These, I maintain, are as essential as the whipped cream on the right cake. Pillows for the sofa for instance, to offer a cozier invitation, pictures on the wall to stamp personality on the room, final filip to a decorating project.

Some young people worry only that there will be enough seats in the living room as if everyday was for entertaining, so they crowd the room with chairs, whereas all this could be solved on those special occasions by utilizing hassocks, fireplace stools and large pillows, that will even make the room look cozier.

Round Table Honors Consuls

A reception and dinner Thursday evening at The Western honored Mr. and Mrs. Rafael Hueso of Nicaragua and Mr. and Mrs. Jose Trabanino and daughter Connie from El Salvador.

well as several from the Allen Academy, attended the dinner.

Honorees Introduced

Following the dinner, Dr. Navarro introduced the guests of honor.

Trabanino expressed pleasure in the visit and thanks for the occasion, after which Hueso was introduced as the main speaker of the evening.

Hueso, an ex-Aggie, represents Nicaragua in Houston in the capacity of consul. Trabanino, also presently residing in Houston, has been consul in Texas from El Salvador for the past 11 years.

Both consuls and their families were taken on a tour of the A&M campus earlier in the day by Dr. Silvio Navarro, with students from their respective countries acting as hosts. Many of these students, as Miss Sara Wiseman decorated the speaker's table with a large arrangement of white iris and the other tables with bowls of pansies and white and green sprays. Flags of the Pan American group were also displayed.

Guests attending the banquet, besides the regular members, were Dean and Mrs. J. C. Miller, Dr. and Mrs. W. D. Harris, Dr. and Mrs. Carl M. Lyman, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Tishler, Mrs. Robert B. Kamm, Mrs. Dan Russell, Mrs. F. Jack Koeney, Mrs. J. J. Woolket, Mrs. P. W. Bruner and Charles H. Moore.

Ten students from El Salvador, two from Nicaragua, two from Mexico and Hugh Walton, president of the South of the Border Club, were introduced by Jesus Vegas, president of the A&M Pan American Club.

Miss Hatfield gave a brief address of welcome, and Dr. Dan Russell asked the blessing. Next business meeting of the Table was announced for April 11.

GREENVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Police-man Gordon Hudson figures he's one of the few law enforcement officers to chase a car on foot and catch it. Hudson spotted a drunken driver coming through town and promptly took after him on foot. He claims the car was easy to catch—all he had to do was run about 75 yards in a straight line while the car casually weaved from one side of the road to the other.

BE SURE YOUR FUTURE IS FITTED TO YOU!

Few industries offer the graduate engineer the wide choice of tailor-made job opportunities that can be yours with the investor-owned electric utility industry. As a member of this powerful team you may one day soon be engaged in atomic reactor research or operation, or any of dozens of other interesting and challenging types of work. Here at Houston Lighting & Power Company, where continuing growth will double the company's size in the next 5 years, your own ability and performance will determine your progress — for such growth brings expanded opportunities for all.

Add to this unlimited future the advantages of job stability in an industry little affected by economic fluctuations, and permanent location in one of the nation's most progressive areas. The sum total — you'll do well to make electric utility work your first consideration.
