Columbia Bounces Ags In Final Pre-SWC Tilt

By JIM CARRELL

The Columbia, S.C. Gems saved all their hits and runs for two big innings, defeating the Aggies 6-4 on Kyle Field.

Outhit 7-6 by the Aggies, the Gems, a farm club of Kansas City, cracked out three hits and three runs in the third and eighth innings to salt away the victory.

James Smotherman, A&M right-fielder from Frisco, was the leading hitter with two singles and two RBIs. Dick Munday for the Ags and Alan Scott of the Gems each doubled. Lefty Toby Newton started on the mound for A&M, retiring the first seven batters in a row before running into trouble in the third, yielding three hits and runs. Donnie Hullum took over the middle three innings, pitching hitless, runless ball and receiving fine support in centerfield from Dickie Thomas.

Munday, who pitched the last three innings and took credit for the loss, was a victim of some shoddy play on the part of the Aggies. Munday gave up three hits in the eighth as the Gems scored three runs.

A&M took a 1-0 lead in the first after Cliff Tuttle had got on by error, stole second and scored on James Smotherman's line single to right.

With one out in the first of the third, Tony Frulio tapped out an infield hit and on an attempted pickoff advanced to second. Newton then walked Stan Horvatin, followed by Leo Posada's single off Lupe Fraga's glove into centerfield with Frulio scoring. Alan Scott then doubled down the left field line, scoring Posada and Horvatin.

The Aggies scored again in the fourth after Gary Herrington walked, advanced on a passed ball, and was sacrificed to third by Fraga. Lyle Gibson's sacrifice fly to center scored Herrington.

Trailing 3-2 in the seventh, the Aggies counted twice on two hits after Dick Munday started things off by doubling into deep left field. Wendell Reed gained first on error with Doug Mullins advancing both runners on a sacrifice bunt. Munday then scored on a passed ball, stumbling and almost falling in a "gopher" hole on the third base line. Tuttle walked and then Smotherman drove in Reed with a line shot over second base and the Aggies led 4-3.

Weather Hinders Fish Baseballers

By DON BISETT

"Wet weather, sore arms and lack of hustle keep the Fish from becoming the team that they are capable of becoming," said Coach Les Palmer. "Right now all we can guarantee is to have nine men on the field."

No position is cinched as yet except that of pitcher, we have only one of those, Percy Sanderson. To complete the battery is Gerald Walling, of Houston, who is the leading candidate for the catching chore, added Palmer.

"The most improved ball player is Darrell Patterson who is playing in the short-stop position now, but is also in line for the second-base slot if the other boys do not improve there," says Palmer.

Second-base is still wide open as none of the men there have learned to field the ball properly according to Coach Palmer. Bill Houchin and Sam DeGelia are the two most promising first-sackers that have shown up.

Jim Turpin and J. W. Wood are battling for third sack with Wood holding the edge because of his base-running ability. Wood is the best runner on the squad.

"In the outfield we have only two men who can even look like ball players, Joe Foster and J. B. Carroll," said Palmer. "We are going to have to depend on the freshmen football players who have expressed a desire to play with us after spring training," said the coach.

Cowboys Beat Aggie Netters

Hardin-Simmons swept all four singles matches to defeat A&M, 4-2, in tennis here yesterday.

John Medlin and Joe Simmons combined to beat the Cowboys' Frank Kniffen and Jacy Newton 7-5, 6-4, while John Young and Rex Reed doubled up to take Jerry Goad and Wayne Miller, 6-2, 3-6, 7-5, for A&M's two points.

Results: Goad defeated Reed, 6-4, 0-6, 8-6. Miller defeated Medlin, 6-4, 6-1. Kniffen defeated Young, 6-4, 4-6, 6-4. Newton defeated Jack Brady, 6-2, 3-6, 7-5.
