Twining Named
Joint Staff
Chairman

WASHINGTON, (AP)—President Eisenhower yesterday ordered the biggest reshuffle of top military leaders since the year he took office. Named to head the Joint Chiefs of Staff was Air Force Gen. Nathan F. Twining.

Twining, a member of the Joint Chiefs since 1953, will succeed Adm. Arthur W. Radford as chairman on Aug. 15. Radford will step down after serving two two-year terms—the longest tenure which the law allows.

Eisenhower also nominated—subject to Senate confirmation—a new Air Force chief of staff, a new deputy secretary of defense and a new secretary of the Air Force.

Donald A. Quarles, now secretary of the Air Force, was named to be deputy secretary of defense, the No. 2 position in the defense establishment now held by Reuben Robertson.

To succeed Twining as commander of the Air Force, Eisenhower nominated Gen. Thomas D. White, now the vice chief of the USAF.

James H. Douglas, undersecretary of the Air Force, was chosen to fill the secretaryship being vacated by Quarles.

Adm. Arleigh Burke was at the time nominated for a second two-year term as chief of naval operations.

The White House said Gen. Maxwell Taylor will continue in his term as Army chief of staff until June 29, 1959. The Pentagon said that, unlike the other chiefs who get two-year terms, the Army commander serves "during the pleasure of the President but not for more than four years."

CHS Jrs. Present Class Play Friday

The junior class of A&M Consolidated will present their annual class play "Onions in the Stew" Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the Consolidated auditorium, according to Frank Coulter, director.

"The show is a three act comedy dealing with a family seeking happiness," Coulter said. "Millie Caughlin and Bill Farrar hold the leading roles and Ann Cleland, Mary Margaret Hierth, David McNeely and Johnny Turner have supporting parts."

Mary Garcia is in charge of the ticket sales. The tickets, costing 50 cents each, were printed by Black's Ridgecrest Pharmacy.

"Onions in the Stew" is the same play that was presented earlier this year by the senior class of Stephen F. Austin High School of Bryan.

New Insurance
Plans Studied

The Student Senate Hospital Committee and Insurance Committee yesterday afternoon in a session with two representatives from Continental Casualty Company asked for rates on several insurance plans.

The group, including chairman of the hospital committee John Webb and executive committee member Joe David Ross, outlined the following student insurance plans for the company to quote rates on:

- $1,000 blanket accident coverage with and without $1,000 accidental death payment.
- $1,000 blanket accident coverage and $750 sickness coverage with a schedule for sickness payments, with and without $1,000 accidental death payment.
- $1,000 blanket accident coverage and $500 blanket sickness coverage, with and without $1,000 accidental death payment.

Room Applications In MSC Accepted

Applications for Memorial Student Center guest room reservations for football or other major event weekends during the 1957-58 school year will be accepted from students and former students during May, according to Mrs. Mozelle Holland, guest room manager.

Limitations have been set at one room per family. A drawing determining recipients of accommodations will be held after the May 31 deadline. A notice will be mailed to all applicants indicating whether or not their name was drawn.

Names not drawn will be placed on a "waiting list". These persons will be notified at least two weeks before the event should a room become available for them.

Reservations are not transferable, and reservations should be canceled if anyone cannot use the rooms.

Persons receiving a reservation must make a deposit no later than two weeks prior to the event to avoid automatic cancellation, Mrs. Holland said.

Aggie 4-H'er Wins
Elgin Story Contest

Alden Smith, freshman from Burkburnett, has been named one of 10 winners in the "Time of Your Life" story contest.

The contest was open to persons who attended last year's 4-H Congress as a delegate and sponsored by Elgin Watch Company. Smith will receive a 19-jewel wrist watch.

The prize winning story by Smith was about his experiences while at the national 4-H Club Congress.

All the plans call for non-compulsory participation.

The insurance company representatives say they will get their "slide rule men" to work and report rates as soon as possible.

The senate insurance committee hopes to wind up with an acceptable policy this semester so it could go into effect next September.

The Continental representatives expressed surprise at the facilities available at the College Hospital and figure their rates will be lowered considerably.

Yesterday's meeting was one of several held since a compulsory plan failed to pass in a student referendum, in an effort by the committee to line-up a policy it feels is best.

Brazos County Area Under Traffic Study

Origin and destination traffic study for the Bryan-College Station and Brazos County area was conducted yesterday and today.

The survey is being made to provide information that will lead to the development of an over-all future highway plan for the area, according to C. B. Thames, district engineer for the State Highway Commission.

The interview takes about 30 or 45 seconds and the contents of the interview will be regarded as confidential. No questions on law enforcement are being asked, Thames said.

There are 10 stations located around the Bryan-College Station city limits conducting the survey. The Texas Highway Department in conjunction with the cities of College Station and Bryan and A&M College and Bryan Air Force Base and Bryan Chamber of Commerce is furnishing cold drinks for the interviewers on the questioning days.

Approximately 350 students from 39 schools representing more than 100,000 students are expected to attend the meeting.

Specific topics for discussion are integration, increasing enrollment, student-faculty relationships, public relations, academic freedom and the role of students in world affairs.

Dr. O. D. Butler, of the Animal Husbandry Department, and L. A. Maddox, extension Animal Husbandman, will participate in meetings of the American Beef Cattle Performance Registry Association at Louisville, Ky., Thursday through Saturday.

Dr. Butler will address the group on the "Relation of Conformation to Carcass Traits."

On the way back, they will attend a field day for the Lone Star Shorthorn Breeders Association at Ennis.

Senators Hint Court Action

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Dave Beck, boss of the far-flung Teamsters Union, wrapped himself in the protective folds of the Fifth Amendment yesterday and refused to say whether he took more than $320,000 of union money for personal use.

Beck also declined to say whether he was lying or telling the truth before millions looking in on television March 17 when he said he had borrowed between $300,000 and $400,000 from the union in the last 10 years and repaid it without interest.

The chunky, voluble president of the Teamsters immediately encountered not so veiled suggestions from Senate probes that he may wind up on trial and may encounter charges of contempt of Congress. He also may face punishment by the AFL-CIO Executive Council. He is a Council member and an AFL-CIO vice president.

If he was bothered by it all, during a day-long grilling by a special Senate committee, Beck showed it not at all. He rejected firmly a demand from Sen. Kennedy (D-Mass) that he hand in his resignation as head of the nation's biggest union.

"I'm personally confronted," he said, "with a situation I'm positive will be disposed of 100 per cent satisfactorily to me when the final days of accounting come in court."

Beck declared he was exercising his constitutional right against self incrimination, under the Fifth Amendment, only on the advice of his lawyers. He did it dozens of times, under a formula his attorneys revised as he went along, when confronted by contentions from the investigators that he:

Used union funds to repay loans from banks, build his Seattle, Wash. home, bolster his own bank account, and pay personal bills for such items as gardening, shirts, and expensive neckties.

Committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy said some $85,000 of union money was used to pay personal bills. He said it was channeled through Nathan Shefferman, Chicago labor consultant for business firms around the country and a friend of Beck for some 20 years.

Shefferman himself took the witness stand at the end of the day and testified he paid Beck $24,500 in 1949 and 1950. But he said that was for business Beck swung his way, including $61,000 Shefferman and his son made as partners in a firm that got the contract for furnishing and decorating the luxurious Teamsters headquarters building here in Washington.

The Senate committee hammered away at Beck practically all day and got none of the answers it sought.

Plans Made For CS

Young Republican's Club

By LELAND BOYD

If present plans go through to completion, College Station and A&M young people who lean toward the GOP ideology will have an organization founded especially for them.

A meeting has been called for Thursday at 8 p. m. at which time a group plans to form a Young Republican's Club. The group will meet at the home of William F. Osborn, 904 Ashburn Street in College Station.

Behind the drive to organize the club is the vivacious 24-year-old wife of an A&M College Student, Mrs. William F. Osborn.

It all started a while ago after the Osborns had written Texas Republican Headquarters for cards decal supporting the Thad Hutcheson for Senator campaign.

"We asked them for one sticker," says Mrs. Osborn, "and we got back a garage full. I mentioned in the letter that we were interested in a Young Republican's Club and they were very anxious to help us."

Soon after that, Mrs. Osborn was talking with some friends after church one day, and a member of the group asked "Why don't we organize such a club?"

Mrs. Osborn, since that suggestion, has been doing all she could do to get others interested. In the time she could spare from caring for their two small daughters.

"The purpose of the Young Republican's Club will be to work for a two-party government in Texas, and give young Republicans opportunity to work in their party," she says.

"We'd like to invite everybody that is interested to meet with the group," Mrs. Osborn said.

Mrs. Osborn says she has been interested in the Republican Party for quite a few years, and worked at the National Convention in

Civilian Council
Magazine Drive
Praised by Zinn

Work by the Civilian Student Council in gathering magazines and pocket size novels for the Veterans Hospital in Temple has been commended by Bennie A. Zinn, head of the Department of Student Affairs.

"Since September 1956, these men have collected seven good car loads of magazines and novels for the McCloskey Hospital in Temple," Zinn said.

Students in College View put on a special effort last week and collected about three car loads of magazines on Friday night and Saturday.

"Many Veterans Hospitals are unable to subscribe to enough papers and magazines to have sufficient numbers for the patients, and the people in the hospital have told us many times that the magazines sent by our students have greatly helped in supplying the need for reading material," says Zinn.

All papers, novels or magazines are needed at the Hospital. In each dorm there is a program set up for gathering these materials.

College Mess Halls Have Ice Problem

Two of the largest dining halls in the world, Duncan and Shiba, almost had a problem of buying ice this month, but now their worries are over, according to J. G. Peniston, head of the dining halls.

Up until March 1 the dining halls had been purchasing ice from the college ice plant. Due to the lack of customers to buy ice and the need for room for a new power plant turbine, the college decided to discontinue making ice.

This decision left Peniston without a supply source for ice. After shopping around a bit he found that he could purchase the 60,000 pound monthly quota from the Darwin Ice Company of Bryan.

Peniston, who has been with the A&M mess halls for 30 years said: "I believe it is more convenient now than before."

Kid Stuff

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Medical College Hospital reported it took a bit of explaining to convince a distraught woman her child didn't have a new, strange disease when they told her pediatric examination was recommended.

WHERE ARE YOU GOING, WHERE HAVE YOU BEEN, AND WHAT FOR? asks a traffic origin-destination survey team of the Texas Highway Commission and Bryan and College Station. The survey results will be used in planning an over-all highway development plan for the area. (John West Photo.)
