Aggie Band To Present Concert Tonite

Tonight at 7:45 the Guion Hall stage will feature the Aggie Band for its Annual Spring Concert, announced Col. E. V. Adams, director. Admission is free.

Due to the size of the Guion Hall stage and the large Aggie Band the program is divided into two parts. Part one will feature the Maroon Band and Part Two the White Band. After Part One there will be a short intermission.

"I sincerely hope that as many students as possible will attend this concert as we have tried hard to present a variety of selections to suit the tastes of everyone," Col. Adams said.

Before the main program begins, a cornet double quartet will perform, using eight cornets instead of the usual four. Next, Baritone Soloist Philip Speer comes up followed by a novelty number played by Piccolo Soloist Gordon Reynolds.

Kicking off part one the Maroon Band will play "The Star Spangled Banner," "Burst of Flame" and "The Trumpet Polka." The cornet quartet again comes into the spotlight playing "The Banana Boat Song." The band then plays "Blossom Time," and overture, and "Television March," a symphonic march.

After intermission the White Band will take over and play "The World Is Waiting For The Sunrise," "The Walls of Jericho" and "Blue Bells of Scotland," featuring a baritone horn solo, followed by "Young Love." The music continues with "Hopla," "The Barber of Seville" and ends with "The Spirit of Aggieland."

"This concert should not be confused with the World Premier for the new record album, 'The Spirit That Is Aggieland,' to be held Thursday evening, May 2," said Col. Adams.

"This concert has been presented annually for the last few years and could easily be confused with the May 2 program," he added.

Judging Event Tomorrow Nite

More than 150 freshmen and sophomore agriculture students are expected to turn out tomorrow night for the annual Fish-Sophomore Judging Contests held under the sponsorship of the Saddle and Siroin Club.

Results of the contests will be announced in the AI Lecture Room in the AI Building after the contest ends tomorrow night.

Jim Renick is serving as general superintendent for the overall contest while Don Johnson is in charge of the Meats Division; Dick Thomas heads the Livestock Division and Glynn (Jiggs) Chandler is in charge of the Wool Divisions.

The contestants will compete against each other with high point men in each division receiving various plaques and awards.

The main purpose of the contest is to provide needed experience for the underclassmen and to determine interest in next year's junior and senior judging teams.

VOCALISTS Toby Hughes and Pat Resley (l. to r.) harmonize during rehearsal for the 1957 Aggie Follies, "Operation: Cood". The production will be staged May 10 and 11, rounding out Mother's Day activities.

Vulgar Recording Case By Two Civilians Studied

Two men who played a tape recording consisting of "vulgar adjectives" directed at the 1st Wing in Dorm 15 have been removed from dormitory 16 as a result of the incident, according to Dormmaster Clarence Bolner.

The incident occurred at approximately 10:20 p.m. Saturday, he said.

One of the people involved was a resident of the dormitory and the other a past resident and now a day student. Immediately after the "broadcast" to the surrounding area which included most of the North campus, one resident of the dormitory rushed up to the men and made them turn off the recorder, Bolner said.

These same men went immediately to the surrounding dormitory area and apologized to as many of the people that heard the broadcast as possible, added Bolner.

The broadcast aimed at running the Corps down in no uncertain words was an act only of those two individuals, Bolner told the Executive Committee of the Civilian Student Council at its special hearing. He said that the boy was removed from the dormitory Monday as soon as was possible.

Both the men have been warned for dormitory disturbances in the past, William Shorty, Dorm 16 representative to the council said.

Bolner said the boys, according to them, recorded the tape and played it to get back at the corps for using vulgarities against them when they visited Dorm 15 one day.

The men were in private conference with Bennie Zinn yesterday afternoon from 2-5. Zinn said he would have a decision on their case at 10 a.m. today.

The Executive Committee of the Civilian Student Council at its special meeting yesterday released a statement expressing regret about the incident to anyone who heard the recording played Saturday night. The statement is as follows: "We, the Executive Committee of the Civilian Student Council, are sorry such an incident has happened and feel that such actions should not be tolerated by the administration or by the students of the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas.

Spring Election, Kyle Seating Vote Postponed

Changes Brewing In Student Senate

General elections will not be held on the date they were originally scheduled for, according to Don Weber, chairman of the Election Commission.

The Election Commission had first planned and set the election for Wednesday. Voting on next year's seating plan was also logged for Wednesday but postponed to be held along with the general election.

Reason for the postponement is the possible reorganization in the Student Senate, Weber says.

May 15 is now marked for the date of the elections, according to Larry Piper, president of the Senate.

Also to be elected in the coming general election are student members of the Student Publications Board, and Election Commission.

Due to be out from its cover before long is a report from an evaluation committee that has reportedly turned in its findings to Dr. Robert Kamm, dean of the Basic Division. Kamm appointed the committee near the start of last semester to investigate and determine if the senate was worth having.

As the evaluation progressed, rumors started that the senate would be discontinued for next year. But a senate of some fashion will be continued, commented a person who saw the evaluation committee's report.

Kamm said in an explanatory letter when the committee was established that possibly a student

College System Receives Funds For Student Aid

A&M College System received a total of $233,447.59 in funds for fellowships, scholarships, awards, and grants in aid for research and teaching, recently.

A&M received $148,380.19 of the amount, $84,862.40 went to the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and Prairie View A&M received $205.

A&M was granted $25,494.55 from 34 sources for use in financing scholarships, fellowships and awards. New and additional endowed funds amounting to $38,612.50, and $22,200 in research and grants in aid from two sources each were given. Special gifts of $62,073.14 were approved, including a gift of $57,000 from the Association of Former Students for construction and furnishings for the Interfaith Chapel, now nearing completion.

The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station received $82,242.40 in grants in aid from 20 sources and gifts amounting to $2,620. The largest single grant in aid was $30,000 from the Rockefeller Foundation of New York for a training program for foreign students working in rice improvement and management, and covering a three-year period.

Marines To Give Commission Tests

Students interested in securing a commission in the United States Marine Corps may get information from 1st Lt. C. E. Thompson who will be on the campus tomorrow through Friday.

Lt. Thompson will be in the Memorial Student Center and an information booth will be set up by the Post Office Entrance.

Two officer training programs are offered. One is designed for the undergraduate to receive his commission upon graduation and the other is for the graduate who can apply for Marine Corps Officers Candidate School. Both commissions qualify a candidate for training in the Marine Air Wing.

Playboy Weekend Planned For Civilian Students

By JOE BUSER

There'll be plenty of rabbits on the campus this weekend. Not just ordinary rabbits, either; these will be urban, sophisticated rabbits, just like the ones that decorate the cover of a well known magazine for men.

They will be used as decorations for the Civilian "Playboy" Weekend and are being used by special permission of the magazine. "Playboy" has requested some pictures of the festivities and may possibly use them in a future issue.

Playboy activities begin Saturday afternoon with a barbeque in the Grove, starting at 5. Tickets for students are 85 cents and 45 cents for children under 12 and will be on sale through Thursday at Student Activities, Civilian Counselors' Offices and in all Civilian dormitories.

Saturday afternoon's schedule for the Playboys is a game fest at the Grove from 2 until 4 p. m. Featured will be an all-star softball game between College View and the Civilian dorms. Anyone desiring to play should contact Bill Perry, 93, Leggett, manager for the dorm team or Tom Reymann, D-6-D, who will lead the College View group. Also included in the game time will be a potato sack race and a volleyball game.

Highlight of the Playboy Weekend will be the annual Civilian Ball, to be held in Sbsia Hall at 9 p. m. Saturday. Decorations will include rabbits of all sizes, and the tickets (which have rabbits on them too) are $2, stag or drag. Civilian sweetheart will be chosen from 12 finalists during the intermission.

A baby sitting service for students with children will be available at the A&M Presbyterian Church. Charge is 25 cents and bedding should be brought for children.

Corps students have been authorized to wear civilian clothing to the barbeque but uniform for dance is Class A.

World Premier of Aggie Records Opens Thursday

Jack Littlejohn

A&M will hold its second world premier Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in Guion Hall as its new album of Aggie songs and yells, Music from Aggieland, is released, according to C. G. (Spike) White, director of recreation and entertainment.

Programming of the premier is unique in that all the songs and musical numbers will be played by the Aggie Band as they were played in the recording session. Toby Hughes, master of ceremonies, will include the recording cues to put the last touch of realism in the program.

Hughes will make the first album presentation to Acting President D. W. Williams after the band has played their selections.

The Aggieland Orchestra and the Singing Cadets will perform the selections which can be found in the new album.

Mrs. Ford (Lil) Munnerlyn

A portion of the program is planned for meeting the composers of the four Aggie songs. They will autograph the new albums after the premier. They are Mrs. Ford (Lil) Munnerlyn, "12th Man"; Lt. Col. R. J. Dunn, Ret., "Spirit of Aggieland"; J. V. (Pinkie) Wilson, "Aggie War Hymn"; and Jack Littlejohn, "I'd Rather Be A Texas Aggie."

The last album of the Aggie songs, also premiered, sold over 11,000 copies. The most sold by any college in the nation, White said.

He said, "As far as I know A&M is the only college to ever stage a world premier of its records." Or anything else, he added.

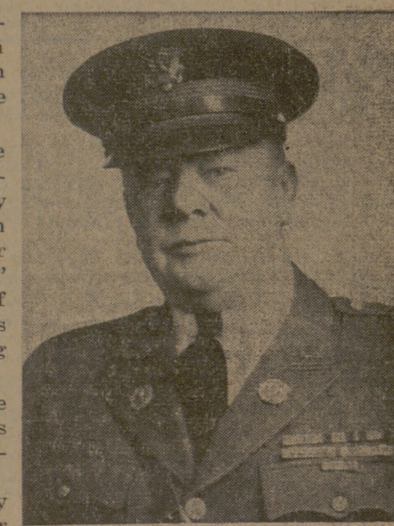

J. V. (Pinkie) Wilson

With the advantage of newer recording techniques, the new album is far better than the old one in both quality and composition, he said.

Songs recorded by the Aggie Band on the new platters are "National Anthem," "U. S. Army March" and in conjunction with the Singing Cadets "Aggie War Hymn" and "Spirit of Aggieland." The Cadets recorded "Spirit of Aggieland," "12th Man," "This is My Country" and "Auld Lang Syne."

Finishing up the program the Aggieland Orchestra will play its recording of "I'd Rather Be A Texas Aggie."

Records will go on sale Friday in most of the local stores for $3.50 per album, White said.
