

For The Year Ahead

Today a new staff takes over the reins of The Battalion.

To these men falls the responsibility of publishing a paper written of A&M and for A&M.

To these men will fall the responsibility of meeting the problems which will be coming up within the next year.

The responsibility of meeting these problems goes further however for they must try to see what is best in the long run for the school and not for just students as individuals.

Along with this they are faced with representing the people of College Station and covering the news and happenings in, and around this area.

A&M is, and will remain, a great school. What these men do, and the help they receive from their classmates next year can go a long way toward helping to make it even greater.

The personal bickerings, the departmental cliques and Civilian versus Corps hassels will come. What the new staff will do—this remains to be seen. Theirs is the responsibility to take this load and carry it out in the most objective and impersonal manner possible.

It is our belief they will do a commendable job, both to the school and to their profession.

Talk Continues Tonight About Insurance Plan

Student Senate Hospital Committee will meet tonight with two other insurance company representatives to secure proposals for an insurance plan for the student body.

The talks tonight are arranged with a representative from Universal Security Life and another from Lloyd's of London. Lloyd's of London has submitted one plan through an earlier meeting, and another agent is to offer a different plan, according to Joe David Ross, of the Student Senate.

The Hospital Committee has already discussed three other policies—one offered by North American of Philadelphia, the first plan submitted by Lloyd's of London and another from Continental Casualty Company.

After hearing and weighing merits of these five policies the Hospital Committee will make its recommendation to the Senate for action on the policies. To be selected is the company as well as the type of coverage. Among the policies are blanket accident, sickness, deductible accident and sickness, and miscellaneous and various combinations. Prices of the policies are expected to vary in relation to the amount and type of coverage.

Ross says the policies all have several features in common, these being coverage for 12 months on a voluntary basis; the accident coverage is $1,000 blanket medical expenses plus another $1,000 in case of accidental loss of life or dismemberment; and $10 deductible on all claims.

Two companies that have offered accident plus sickness coverage have been asked for rates on an approximate $750 sickness schedule, in addition to accident coverage.

Most of the policies submitted restrict participation to students who pay their medical service fee. Two policies under examination call for a minimum of 2,200 students for the policy to be effective. Another requires a 2,000 minimum.

Don Juan in Hell Opens In MSC

"Don Juan in Hell" a part of the play, "Man and Superman," will be presented by the Aggie Players tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the Assembly Room of the Memorial Student Center, according to Victor Wiening, director of the play.

The part of the play by George Bernard Shaw displays his famous wit on politics, religion, war, music, manners and the possibility of man becoming a superman. But more important he discusses the life force in mankind, that determination not only to survive and procreate but to improve the race. Particularly does Shaw emphasize that a "superman" is possible (not in the Nazi sense) and ideal, provided we devote our efforts to developing more and better life rather than improved distinction and death, according to Wiening.

Jack Gladwell, who will play the devil, did radio plays in the Canal Zone and was with the Army Special Services while in Japan with the Army. In Japan he played several parts and had a couple of leads in the plays presented there. Since coming to A&M he has been active in the Aggie Players.

Dick Tarble, who will play the part of the Statue, won the Southern California high school Shakespearean Festival competition and the Southern California Allied Arts Festival for Shakespeare Interpretation, college division. Tarble, is a graduate student majoring in meteorology.

Robin James will play Anna. She has done some dance and theater work at Mount Holyoke college and has played in previous performances of the players.

Don Reynolds is the narrator for the play. He is a freshman student and played in the players presentation of "Skin of Our Teeth."

Vic Wiening plays Don Juan in the play and is also the director. He has played or directed many of the plays since he came to A&M in 1953. He has been active in theater work since 1941.

Local Folklorists Discuss Programs

Members of the Brazos Valley Folklore Society will meet tomorrow night at 7:30 at 111 Lee St. to discuss proposals for rearranging the meeting schedule, various types of programs to be presented and methods of interesting new members. Dr. John Q. Anderson, Department of English, will be the principal speaker. He will report on several papers that the Texas Folklore Society presented at their last meeting in Dallas.
