CS Scouts Attend National Jamboree

Jimmy Andres of 1201 Munson and Jud Rogers of 716 Park Place are the College Station Boys who will attend the fourth National Boy Scout Jamboree in Valley Forge July 12 to 18.

Andres and Rogers are two out of 400 scouts representing the Sam Houston Area Council whose headquarters are in Houston.

Minor Huffman, Scout executive of the Council, in announcing plans for the Sam Houston Area Council's contingent said that other eligible Scouts and Explorers may still apply to participate.

The Jamboree is a self-sustaining enterprise made possible by the National Jamboree fee paid by each participant which provides the food, use of certain equipment and the cost of building the Jamboree camp. Transportation, leadership, pre-jamboree training and preparation, and sightseeing enroute are all included in a fee of $300.

A 1,500-acre tent city will house the Jamboree. It will have its own water, electric power, and telephone systems, post offices, fire department, medical facilities, an amphitheatre seating 55,000 persons, and five trading posts.

The citizens of America's newest, youngest, and busiest community will be Scouts, Explorers, and leaders from all walks of life. All races and creeds will be represented as they exchange skills, swap home town products, and learn about customs and traditions of many sections of the nation.

The local contingent will comprise 11 Jamboree troops, each with 32 Scouts or Explorers, a senior patrol leader or a senior crew leader, two junior assistant unit leaders and three adults. The three adults are the unit leader and two assistant unit leaders, one in charge of physical arrangements and the other responsible for activities.

Industry Topic Of Research By Professor

The length of time it takes a newly established manufacturing plant in Texas to show a profit, is one of the many questions that Dr. Lewis E. Davids hopes to answer through appraisal of data he gains in industrial economics research this summer at the Texas Engineering Experiment Station (a part of the A&M System).

His research will involve industrial ventures in the post-Korean War era (1953 to the present). He will study the statistics of industrial failures of the period and survey by questionnaire and personal interview the small presently active manufacturing plants on various aspects of their financing.

Conclusions to be determined in the research, along with various findings, will be published as a report for the guidance of venturing enterprise and community industrial development leaders.

The researcher is a professor of finance at A&M during the regular semesters. He has served as an economist in finance in government and business and is presently a member of the National Committee on Monetary Policy which makes recommendations to Congress.

Of the 404 railroads in the United States in 1860, only sixteen are still operating under the same names as then.

Ag Illinis Visit Here In July

Six Southern Illinois University agriculture students will visit A&M in July as a part of their 4,500 mile airplane trip to study beef cattle and sheep production.

Two SIU School of Agriculture faculty members, W. G. Kammlade, Jr., teacher of the course, and Joseph E. Burnside, associate professor of agriculture, will pilot the two four-place Cessna planes in which the students will travel. The course, known as Agriculture 390, is concerned with special problems in beef cattle and sheep production. Students will receive four quarter hours of college credit for satisfactorily completing the course.

BOARD

One gift of $100, to be used for an engineering scholarship was accepted for Prairie View A&M College.

Other action taken by the Board was the awarding of grants of $500 to two members of the faculty of A&M from the fund for the improvement of teaching.

The Board approved grants for Frank C. Whitmore, assistant professor of physics, and Nathan E. Welch, graduate assistant in the Department of Chemical Engineering. Whitmore's grant will enable him to attend the summer institute in metallurgy to be held at Iowa State College this summer. Welch's grant will be used for attendance at the summer institute in nuclear energy at Brookhaven National Laboratory, Long Island, N. Y. Both institutes are sponsored by the Atomic Energy Commission.

Recommendations for the grant were made by Dr. John C. Calhoun, Jr., dean of engineering at A&M, and director of the fund for the improvement of teaching.

Sweetwater Boy Wins Scholarship To A&M

Harold Don Barton, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Barton, Star Route, Sweetwater, has been named winner of the Western Compress and Storage Co. $3,000 four-year scholarship at A. & M., it was announced here by Dean W. W. Armistead, chairman of the Faculty Committee on Scholarships.

Barton emerged winner in competition with a large number of other candidates. He is a graduate of the Divide Rural High School, Nolan, Tex., where he compiled an outstanding record in his studies, in athletics and in FFA agricultural work. He is not a stranger to farming, having assisted his father since he was old enough to make a "hand".

AES Loses Ag Specialist To Industry

Kermit F. Schlamb, poultry marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service since September 1953, resigned on June 21.

Schlamb is moving to Kansas City to become educational director for the Gordon Johnson Company, a leading manufacturer of poultry processing equipment.

The former staff member is a native of Virginia. A graduate of VPI and Ohio State University. Before coming to Texas he was employed by North Dakota Agricultural College as an assistant professor in the Department of Poultry Husbandry doing teaching and research work.

He served in the U. S. Army from 1943-46 as a paratrooper in the O.S.S. and saw service in the South Pacific and China. He returned to the service during the period 1950-52 but did not go overseas.

In Texas, Schlamb has worked with the overall poultry marketing program of the Extension Service. He authored many articles on poultry marketing for leading farm and poultry magazines and served as a member of many state committees working to improve the state's poultry industry.

Both he and Mrs. Schlamb were active in the work of Our Saviour's Lutheran Church. He is superintendent of the Sunday School and she as a member of the Church Council.

Evidence of Barton's success in vocational agriculture is the beginning of a small herd of registered Hereford cattle and success in local shows in feeding steers. He will study agronomy in college and is particularly interested in diversified farming with emphasis on cotton and livestock production.

The Western Compress and Storage Co. has its main offices at Abilene and has compresses and cotton warehouses at Abilene, Hamlin, Rule and Sweetwater. In addition to helping its recipient attend college, the purposes of the scholarship are to stimulate interest in the field of agronomy and particularly in the production of cotton and to help fill the need of trained men in this field.

Speedy Justice

OKLAHOMA CITY, (AP)—Municipal Judge Mike Foster had to call a recess because his court was turned into a track meet.

A defendant suddenly broke away and ran from the courtroom. Five officials gave chase and the man was caught several blocks away.

"I had to order a recess," the judge explained, "because everybody was too pooped to testify."
