FOR FUTURE AGGIES—This architect's drawing shows the new St. Mary's Chapel as it will appear upon completion sometime next year. The chapel, located at the North Gate, will have a seating capacity of 650.

Work Progressing On Catholic Chapel

The 1957-58 school year should see the completion of a new St. Mary's Catholic Chapel, now under construction at the corner of Church Ave. and Stasney St. at the North Gate.

The chapel, begun the latter part of May, will be a memorial to Msgr. J. B. Gleissner, who for 46 years was pastor of St. Joseph's Church in Bryan and Catholic chaplain to A&M students.

Of colonial style in accordance with the wish of the Monsignor, the structure will be of steel and masonry construction, with an exterior of red brick.

Wooden columns will support the entry portico, and a white porcelain enamel tower will reach to a height of 90 feet. The front of the building will feature a memorial plaque designating the dedication of the chapel to Msgr. Gleissner, who died in 1953. Cost of the structure will be approximately $280,000. R. B. Butler, Inc., is general contractor, W. E. Kutzschbach Co., mechanical contractor, and William E. Nash, architect.

Any past students of A&M, friends of Msgr. Gleissner and other interested persons who wish to contribute toward construction of the chapel may do so by sending their donations to St. Mary's Chapel Building Fund, Box 850, College Station.
