Patton, Weidson Join A&M Staff As Chemists

Dr. Robert H. Patton and Dr. Hans Weidman have joined the Department of Chemistry at Texas A. and M.

A native of Florida, Dr. Patton received B.S. and M.S. degrees from the University of Miami and in 1955 received the Ph.D. degree from the University of Florida. Among his many jobs, he was employed as a research chemist for the Ford Motor Company.

Dr. Weidman comes to A. and M. from the University of Mainz in Mainz, Germany, where he received the doctor's degree in 1956. He has done significant research on tropine alkaloids and on the isotopic labeling of organic compounds, and has had a number of published articles in these fields.

At A. and M., Dr. Weidman will work with Dr. H. K. Zimmerman, Department of Chemistry, on the chemistry of amino sugars.

Author of five published articles in leading technical journals, Dr. Patton centers his research interests around organic fluorine chemistry and low temperature catalytic fluorination.
