

Man to Man

By JOE TINDEL

Aggieland is very typical this year. Two weeks of school have gone and most guys seem already to be three weeks or more behind in their studies.

In engineering or mathematics, that's serious but it's easier to catch up in liberal arts courses.

Major quiz time is coming around if it hadn't already—which means "hit the ball."

I saw the first Aggie game in the Cotton Bowl—not on TV—and was quite disturbed at the showing the team made before a nationwide television audience, but it seemed natural for a first game.

However Saturday night, I heard the Tech game over the radio and the team is missing something. Whether it's John Crow and Loyd Taylor I don't know, but the 12th Man is really going to have to be on its toes this year and help the players out. No team can play its best without all-out support from the student body.

Gov. Price Daniel and Sen. Lyndon Johnson surprised me last week with their attitudes toward use of U.S. troops to put down the mobs in Little Rock. It seems almost like they condoned the mobs' actions against a federal court order.

In my freshman year at A&M, Texas Tech's enrollment was lower than A&M—coeds and all. Saturday night the game announcer said their enrollment is above 8,000—only some 2,000 of whom are coeds.

I'd like to know why Tech is growing so much faster than A&M.

What's happening to Texas agriculture?

That same game announcer said Tech's School of Agriculture had only some 800 students. I understand we have a similar figure.

Talk to a lot of guys here majoring in some agriculture field and most of them tell you they won't be going back to establish their own farms. Instead they plan to work for some big agricultural company.

Farming looks more and more like big business every day. The days of the individualist in farming are passing—sorrowfully.

That's 30 for now. Vaya con Dios.

MSC Arts Group Seeking Members

The Memorial Student Center Creative Arts Committee is now accepting application for membership in either the craft or art groups, Joe Fenton, committee chairman said Monday.

Available to members are classes in leather, copper-enameling, ceramics, small wood sculpture, metal work, and lapidary—the art of cutting and polishing precious stones—in the crafts section.

In the art section all types of art instruction from pencil sketches to oils are available.

As an added feature this year, instruction will be given in sculpture by Joseph Tompa, Hungarian refugee and noted sculptor.

Mrs. Emalita Terry, head of the art section, said two sculpture classes will be offered. A children's class will meet Saturdays, and a class for Aggies and local adults will meet on Monday night.

Mrs. Ina Himmelreich, Mrs. Jean Pervis and Bob Boyce are craft section instructors, which meets in the Craft Room on the lower level of the MSC.

Art instruction is given in the Art Studio on the third floor.

Mrs. Terry stressed that tuition for craft or art instruction is free with cost of materials being the only cost to students.

No closing date for applications has been set, but Mrs. Terry pointed out that classes are limited in size and urged interested parties to apply as soon as possible.

Letters to the Editor

Editor The Battalion

I want to commend you for your editorial, "Man—The Beast" in the Sept. 26 issue of The Battalion. It is certainly very timely and I thought you made a very penetrating analysis of the situation. I particularly like the final three paragraphs.

Thanks again for a good job.

Editor The Battalion

Congratulations on your fine editorial, "Man—The Beast." It takes courage to present a true picture when so many would like to see a distorted one.

Noted Chemist To Speak Tonight

Dr. Frederick D. Rossini, head of the Carnegie Institute of Technology chemistry department, will speak on "Hydrocarbons from Petroleum" tonight at 8 in the Chemistry Building lecture room.

Chemistry Department officials invite interested persons to hear the prominent scientist who has done research in petroleum and related substances.

Freshmen Invited To EE Open House

Electrical engineering freshmen have been invited to attend the American Institute of Electrical Engineers and Institute of Radio Engineers tonight at 7:45 in Room 301 of the Electrical Engineering Building.

They will be taken on a tour of the department and served refreshments after the meeting, department officials said.

Degree Filing Deadline Oct. 25

Oct. 25 is the deadline for filing application for graduate and undergraduate degrees to be given at the end of this semester, H. L. Heaton, registrar, said.

Heaton advises any student who expects to complete all degree requirements to apply at the Registrar's Office as soon as possible.

EATON'S CORRASABLE BOND erases without a trace

Just because you make typing errors, you needn't make a spectacle of them—not with Corrasable to cover up for you. This is the Eaton paper with the like-magic surface that actually erases without a trace. Just a flick of a pencil eraser and—presto disappear-o! Not a suspicion of a smudge or smear.

Your favorite stationer, right in town, has Eaton's Corrasable in all weights from onionskin to heavy weight bond, in handy 100-sheet packets and thrifty 500-sheet ream boxes. It's fine quality paper, absolute tops for typed assignments, theses—in fact, the kind you can be proud to use for all your typed work. Backed by the famous Eaton name.
