

Ags Pick New Sweetheart

By FRED MEURER

Meet Nancy Norton of Texas Women's University. She's our new Aggie Sweetheart.

Miss Norton was chosen over a field of 11 finalists by a team of a dozen Aggies who made the election trek to Denton this week. The finalists had previously been picked from a stack of entry pictures received at A&M.

After choosing the finalists last week, the Aggies left for Denton this weekend. They met the contestants—then spent an afternoon, a night and most of the following morning deliberating over their choice.

Cadet Colonel of the Corps Jon Hagler said later all Nancy could say was "ooooohhh..." when he announced her as winner.

After she had regained her senses, Miss Norton gleefully commented: "Being the sweetheart of 7,000 fighting Texas Aggies is wonderful. I'm just as proud as can be. Seven thousand Aggies! I still can't believe it!"

Nancy is a sophomore speech therapy major from York, Neb., but she told Hagler: "I can talk like a Texan if I really put my mind to it."

Nancy was reported to explain her actions at the moment she was named sweetheart in this manner: "He (Hagler) came toward me saying something about a kiss being traditional. I just grabbed him and kissed him; I was so excited. Poor guy, he had lipstick all over him."

As for Hagler, he's looking forward to the Fort Worth Corps Trip when the episode will be re-enacted before an Amon Carter Stadium crowd. He said he hoped to break the record for the longest kiss then. Bob Surovik, president of the Student Senate, will time the pair with a stopwatch.

This will be Nancy's first performance as Aggie Sweetheart. Hagler said the Senate would be making other arrangements for her as the year progresses. In addition, Nancy will represent A&M in other off-campus activities.

A series of rigid qualifications are required for girls entering the sweetheart contest. Sophomores, juniors and seniors are nominated by their respective classes, after which pictures of preliminary contestants are sent to A&M. Contestants must be at least sophomores, may never have been put on scholastic or disciplinary probation and may never have failed a course. In addition, they must have their parents' approval.

Nancy and five other "Tessies" will be guests of honor at yell practice here Tuesday night, when they will invite the entire Aggie student body to the Texas Women's University campus during the Fort Worth Corps Trip.

Hagler and Travis Johnson were co-chairmen of a committee to appoint the Aggie electing team. The team included Theron McClaren, president of the senior class; Bob Surovik, president of the Student Senate; Charles R. Smith, Ross Volunteers commander; Don B. Kirby, commanding officer of the First Wing; G. T. Shepard, commanding officer of the First Regiment; J. Paul Costa, Corps operations officer; Bill Wafer, Civilian student representative; Lamar Smith, Civilian student representative; Charles Weinacht, Corps representative; and Jerry McGown, senior yell leader.

Civilians spend most of their time studying. As one Civilian puts it, "I didn't come to A&M to improve my social life."

Civilians Hustle In Busy Campus Life

By BOB WEEKLEY

"Life is not a bowl of cherries" are the words of a popular song, and it may well be the theme song of the A&M civilian students.

At least, that's the opinion passed out by the majority of non-regs when asked what they thought of a Civilian student's life at A&M.

George (Pickle) Dillin Jr., senior from Comanche, said he did not come to A&M to develop his social life.

"My main purpose in coming to A&M is the courses offered and the privilege of going to the best school in Texas," said Dillin.

No Inspection Scheduled For Officer's Visit

Members of the Corps are cleaning rooms, ironing uniforms and shining shoes in anticipation of the arrival of a joint Army-Air Force team of two Colonels and two Lt. Colonels on the campus next Monday and Tuesday.

The team will visit the campus to study and observe the A&M Cadet Corp's methods of training and organization, a Corps Staff spokesman said yesterday.

The purpose of the visit is to determine whether or not the Cadet Corps meets the requirements to qualify for the extra computation granted military colleges.

No standby inspection will be held during the period, the only formal event for the officers being a retreat parade which will be held Monday night, he said.

Students Can Get '57 Aggeland Pics

Aggies who wish to reclaim pictures placed in the 1957 Aggeland may do so by coming by the Aggeland Office on Thursday and Friday nights between 7 and 9, Roy Davis, '58 Aggeland editor, said yesterday.

Last year's pictures have been returned by the publisher, and pictures of Vanity Fair, Sweethearts, Senior Favorites or other pictures desired by the owners are now available at the yearbook office on the ground floor of the YMCA on the specified nights.

Anyone interested in becoming a member of the Aggeland staff and working on the '58 Aggeland is also invited to drop by the office and talk to the editor at that time, Davis said.

Weather Today

College weather station's forecast for the vicinity is continued cool and cloudy today and tonight with the possibility of scattered showers tonight.

A low of 59 degrees was reached at 4:30 this morning, with yesterday's high—79 degrees—being recorded at 2:45 p.m.

Robert L. Burch, junior from Port Arthur, finds it difficult to take an active part in the many outside activities offered to Civilian students.

"I'd like to see all the Town Hall programs and hear the Great Issues speakers," said Burch. "But with the quizzes and all, who's got time?"

William J. Koch, civilian freshman said, "Being a non-reg is a definite advantage in the grades department. We have more time to study," said Koch.

A majority of the students interviewed believed that the Corps and the Civilian students would have a more harmonious relationship this year.

Jack McGouirk, senior from New London, said, "The parade ground was a big source of trouble last year, but look at it now. Lush and green, and you don't see non-regs walk across it now. We're trying harder to get along with each other."

Civilian students think they are getting a fair share of the special social activities planned for Aggies.

"We get to make most of the dances and special features planned around here," said Burch, "and when the Corps does have some special attraction, the non-regs have one just like it."

'58 CHS Band Calendar Drive Starts Saturday

Consolidated High Band members will begin a drive on College Station homes Saturday morning to take listings for the 1958 CHS Band Calendar.

Birthdays, wedding and anniversary listings as well as dates of club meetings and school activities will be listed on the calendars. Listings are 25 cents each.

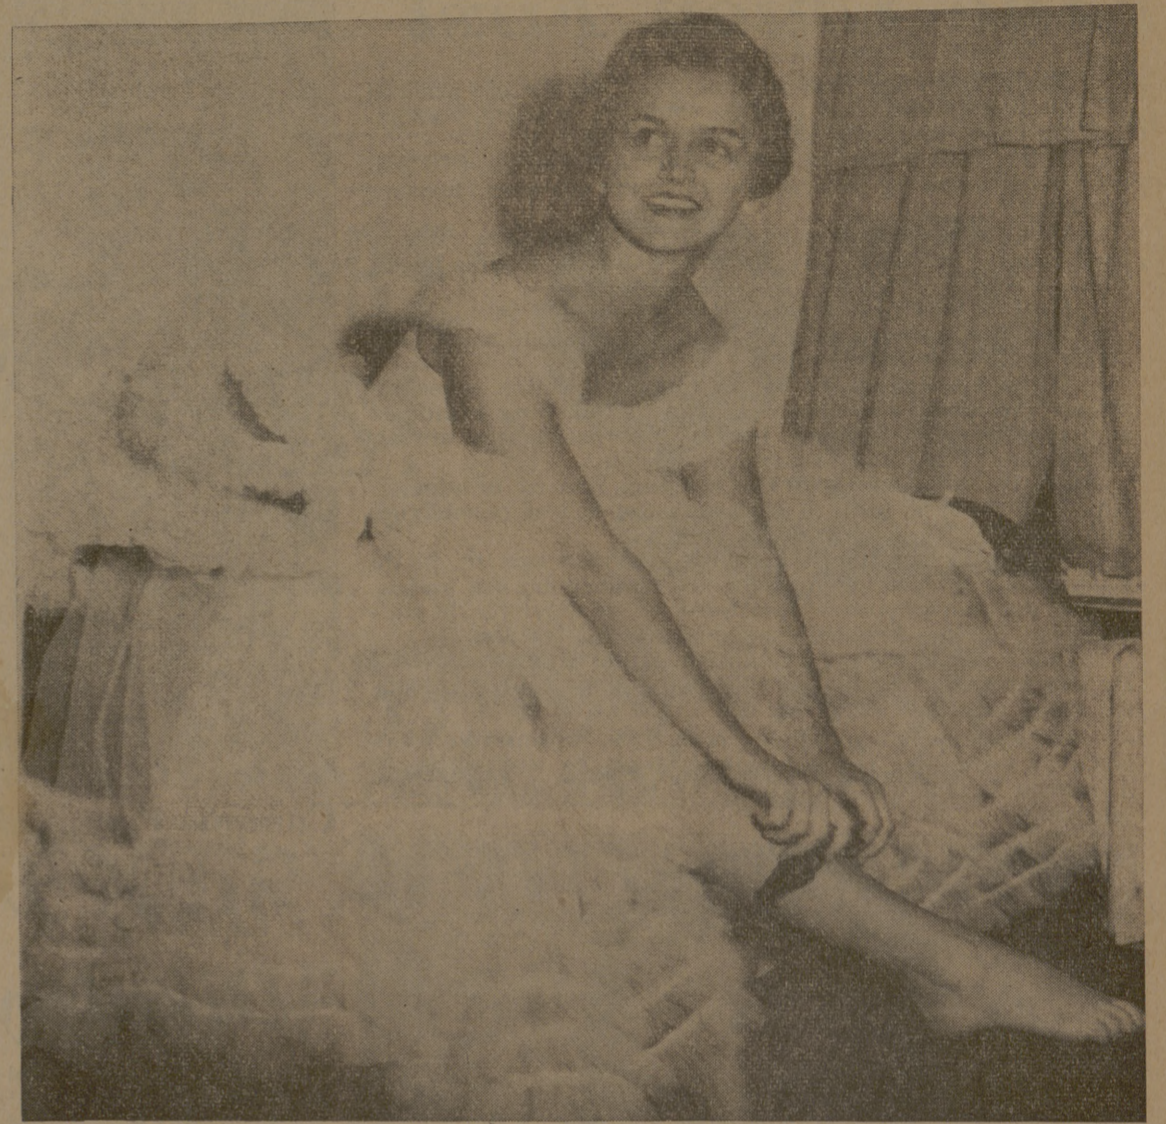

This year a "family plan" of listing is being offered. A $2 fee covers the cost of birth listings of all family members and the wedding anniversary. Also the family will receive free a copy of the calendar. Calendars cost 75 cents when purchased individually.

Mrs. J. C. Brusse, in charge of listings, and co-chairman of the calendar sale, urges all families to have their listings written down and ready to give to the band members who solicit them.

The 1958 calendars will be delivered before January 1, Mrs. Brusse said. Front page of the calendar will feature a picture of the 1957-58 A&M Consolidated Band.

Mrs. John Quisenberry is in charge of advertisements, and is a co-chairman of the sale. Mrs. John Sperry is handling listings of club and organization meeting dates.

Deadline for calendar listings is Oct. 22.

Milwaukee Blasts Yanks; Takes World Series, 4-3

Aggies Go Cowboy, Bull Session Begins

The gates will open tonight and much bull will be thrown around as the 36th annual All-Aggie Rodeo charges out with some 150 Aggies turning cowboy.

Tonight's performance is the first of three. Others will be held at 8 p. m. Friday and 2 p. m. Saturday.

Entrants will be competing for prizes in six major events—steer wrestling, bull-riding, bareback riding, bronc riding, ribbon roping and tie-down calf roping.

One of the feature attractions will be Royce Hudson, senior business administration major from Bryan, and his trained bull. According to rodeo officials, Hudson is rapidly gaining prestige as one of the best rodeo clowns in Texas. They have assured fans he will be at his best for all three performances.

The All-Aggie Rodeo is sponsored by the Saddle and Sirloin Club. Proceeds from the performance will be used to finance the livestock, wool and meats judging teams on trips to the American Royal Livestock Exposition in Kansas City, Mo., the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago and contests at Denver, Fort Worth and Houston.

'A' Athletics, Squadron 21 Winning Sign

Burdette Holds NY To Only Seven Hits

The Milwaukee Braves walked away with the final game in the World Series today as the New York Yankees couldn't score and the Braves tallied five to become 1957 world's champions.

The Braves broke the ice in the third inning with four runs. With one out, Hazle singled and when Kubek made a high throw to Coleman on second of Logan's sharp grounder both runners were safe. Coleman's play to first base was too late to get Logan. Kubek was charged with an error. Mathews whacked a double to right field to score Hazle and Logan.

Bobby Shantz relieved Larsen and Aaron greeted him with a single to score Mathews. Covington's single sent Aaron to third. Hank came home on Torre's high chopper to Coleman for a force play at second. Mantilla ended the spree by flying deep to right.

Burdette put down the Yanks in 1, 2, 3 order in the third to run his scoreless string over them to 18 innings.

Milwaukee made another threat in the fourth inning but didn't score this time. After Art Ditmar, third Yankee pitcher, retired the first two men, a single by Hazle and a bad throw by McDougald to second on Logan's smash put two Braves on base. Mathews, however, lined to Mantle in deep center for the third out.

Del Crandall drilled a homer into the stands in the eighth to wind up Milwaukee's assault on the Yankees.

The Yanks rallied in the ninth and put three men on base, with two outs. Skowron flied out to Mathews for the final out.

Junior, Senior Positions Open On SCONA III

Seniors and juniors who want to serve as college delegates to SCONA III are required to submit applications to Dean Delaplane of The School of Arts and Science in Room 208, Nagle Hall, before 5 p. m. Tuesday.

A special committee will meet with the applicants from 4-5 p. m., Wednesday, Thursday and Friday next week.

Delegates thus selected will participate in the round table discussions at SCONA III December 11-14, and will attend general sessions and other meetings of the conference.

"I hope that all schools at A&M will be represented among the delegates and that we will have not only students from the United States but some from other countries acting in that capacity," Delaplane said.

CSC Meets Tonite To Elect Officers

Officers will be elected and seating plans for home football games discussed at the first regular meeting of the Civilian Student Council tonight at 7:30 in the Senate Chamber of the Memorial Student Center.

The body will elect a president, vice president, secretary, treasurer and parliamentarian. Special identification for each class will be considered to enable ushers to keep each class in its correct seating section at home football games.
