

Ags End Baylor Hopes; Blast Big Bears, 14-0

Baylor's Bears, in a last-ditch attempt to salvage a bid to the Cotton Bowl on New Year's Day, crumbled before the hard charging Aggies 14-0, last Saturday as what was to be called "The Game of the Year" almost became the "Rout of the Year."

The Cadets had one touchdown called back and were within "Crow-flite" distance of another when the final gun sounded.

For the second week in a row, the final seconds ticked off to find Old Army ready to strike for an additional six points against Baylor. However, the Aggies left the impression that they could have scored without too much trouble.

The man with the "worry complex" after the game had ended was probably Bear quarterback Doyle Traylor, who played most of the game with Charley Krueger's hand wrapped securely around his ankle.

Statistically, the Aggies were slightly better than Baylor, with the only impressive margin falling in the passing yardage tally. The Bears, who have passed more than any other conference team were outgunned by the Aggie passing attack, 60 yards to 53.

The Farmers almost doubled the Bears in rushing yardage, gaining 228 yards to 121 for the Bruins.

John Crow took to the air, as an added attraction, and completed three of five aerials for 31 yards.

Bobby Conrad and Loyd Taylor kept the conversion string going by pushing through the two extra points. This brings the consecutive extra points to 17.

The sounding of the final gun marked the second shutout of the Baylor Bears in their last 76 contests.

As The Crow Flies

John Crow, Aggie halfback says "Here I come" and bowls over the "Three Bears" as he rambles for six points in the victory over Baylor last Saturday.

Ags Suffer Five Injuries; Work In Sweat Clothes

The Aggies worked out in sweat clothes Monday evening, as they cast aside last week's memories of the 14-0 victory over Baylor and began preparations for next Saturday's clash in Fayetteville with Arkansas' unpredictable Razorbacks.

Aggie Trainer Charles "Smokey" Harper fielded a team of five top Cadet players who suffered injuries in the win last Saturday. Center John Gilbert, Guard Darrell Brown, Halfback Bobby Joe Conrad and Ends John Tracey and Don Smith were sidelined with either knee, ankle or shoulder injuries.

Their playing status for the Porker game is still in doubt, but the decision on whether or not they will see action will come later in the week.

The all-seeing eye of "Big Bertha," the camera that records every player's movement when he is in the game, ruled linemen Charley Krueger, Bobby Marks and Don McClelland the outstanding players from the forward wall.

All three had big plays in the game, with Krueger spending more time in the Baylor backfield than did some of the Bruin backs and Bobby Marks intercepting Doyle Traylor's errant aerial in the Cadet end zone to end the largest Baylor scoring threat in the fading minutes of the third quarter.

Backs scoring highly in the game were John Crow, Roddy Osborne and Bobby Joe Conrad.

However, the line was given the "lion's share" of the praise for the victory over the once-powerful Bruins as Coach Bryant said "Although we didn't push Baylor around, they didn't push us around either."
