Aggs Find Top Rating Difficult To Hold Meek And Mustangs Like Upset Role

Arkansas proved to the Aggies Saturday in Fayetteville that maintaining the nation's number one ranking is no easy task.

And, coming up is another giant-killer, the SMU Mustangs who Saturday slapped a very fine University of Texas team around in a most convincing manner, 19 to 12.

Ignoring SMU's so-so, 2-2-1 record could prove to be a fatal mistake for an Aggie team that has taken over the Southwest Conference leadership.

As Coach Paul Bryant puts it, "Anybody good enough to beat Texas, is plenty good, and we'll have to play 140 percent to beat them."

SMU, after being thoroughly out-gunned in the first quarter, took the other three from the potent Longhorn crowd, racking up 313 yards to 170 in that time.

The Aggies are still not completely clear of injuries but the situation is much improved. Bryant said that Bobby Conrad, Darrell Brown, John Tracey, John Gilbert and Don Smith who had been injured were all in better condition but that Brown was still on the doubtful list.

Conrad didn't get into the Arkansas game but made the trip and suited out. Tracey re-injured his ankle in the game but should come around. Gilbert was far from top speed with his heavily bandaged knee but is coming around.

The Aggies worked out for 1 1/2 hours in sweat clothes for the second time in five weeks after hearing a scouting report from assistant coach Willie Zapalac.

Rains Force SMU Mustangs Inside

DALLAS, Nov. 4—(AP)—The Southern Methodist University Mustangs got off to a poor start today preparing for Saturday's game at College Station as an all-day rain kept them indoors. They had to satisfy themselves studying movies of the Texas game and running around the SMU coliseum.

Brady Wyatt, No. 1 left end, definitely was ruled out of the Texas A&M game. He rehurt a knee in the Texas game.

INTRAMURALS

Squadron 2 downed Squadron 23, 35 to 18, Monday with Rogers Craig hitting for 18 points and the day's highest total to lead his team to the intramural basketball victory.

C Engineers found A Quartermaster somewhat lacking on offense and thoroughly trounced them, 32 to 2. George King scored 16 for C Engineers. J. E. Beckman meshed 16 points to lead E Infantry past A-AAA, 31 to 16. In Monday's bowling A Ordnance and Squadron 2 played to the season's first draw, 410-410. Billy Edge was top bowler with a fine 198 game but his teammates couldn't muster enough pins to take the win for A Ordnance.

David Eby rolled a 192 to pace B Infantry to a 498-402 win over C-AAA.

A Infantry whipped Squadron 12 in freshman football, 9 to 6, with Harrell Brown passing to Bill Gresset for the winning touchdown. The blue-braided ground-pounders scored first when J. D. Nunnlee hit Squadron 12's James Hurley behind the goal for a 2-0 lead.

Then Brown passed to Gresset for the TD and passed to Billy Wood for the extra point. Squadron 12 scored on a pass from Hurley to Robert Redwine.

Friday's Class A basketball had Loyd Neal meshing 16 points and helping C Infantry to a 42-22 win over B Armor.

Richard Cowley bowled a 187 game and his Squadron 18 team won over C Field, 425 to 381.
