

Brilliant King Hill Breaks Nose

HOUSTON, Tex., Nov. 20 (AP)—King Hill, Rice Institute's brilliant quarterback, received a broken nose in a scrimmage today but is expected to play in the Owls' vital Southwest conference game against Texas Christian.

star of Rice's 7-6 upset of Texas A&M last Saturday, will play against TCU and will be back in classes tomorrow.

The 205-pound quarterback was injured when he came up from the secondary to tackle halfback Billy Bueck. Hill came out of the pileup with his nose bleeding.

AUSTIN, Nov. 20 (AP)—The University of Texas football team today moved into the heavy part of its preparation for the crucial Thanksgiving Day game against Texas A&M.

Blocks And Tackles Fiercely

Max Alvis, a 5-11, 185-pound sophomore from Jasper, is one of four Texas Longhorns to start every game played this year. Steer Coach Darrell Royal places a high premium on Alvis for his willingness to mix it up.

Alvis A Real Hitter At Rejuvenated TU

AUSTIN, Texas, (Spl) — Saturday's heroes acquire their accolades through a flair for the spectacular—the dazzling run, the prodigious pass, or, on some occasions, the defense deed.

Roy Maxwell Alvis could qualify for a consistent listing on the latter requisite, yet seldom does because the offensive skills generally rate precedence. The talented young sophomore from Jasper can carry the ball, throw it or catch it with skill, but his true value to the University of Texas can best be determined by examining his blocking and tackling ability.

Although playing his first varsity season, the 18 year-old Alvis is one of only four Longhorns who have started every game this season. To get the call each time he has had to parlay fierce execution of fundamentals to standoff the challenge of Texas' most spectacular backfielder—the redoubtable Rene Ramirez, also a sophomore.

Discretion may be the better part of valor to the philosopher, but to Alvis, End Maurice Doke, Center Louis Del Homme and Garland Kennon it's consistency. They have started each of Texas' nine games and will be in the opening lineup against Texas A&M in College Station Turkey Day.

"Max has been our most consistent hitter," says Coach Darrell Royal, who places a high premium on the youngsters who show a willingness to mix it. "Ole Max is interesting in a lot of ways; he seems quiet and shy and his hidden fierceness as a competitor is sometimes overlooked."

Alvis' statistics will not knock your eye out but his fierce tackling will. Halfback Larry Dueitt and Quarterback King Hill of Rice, to name a pair, can attest to that. His lethal tackle sideline each of them temporarily, as Texas upset Rice, 19-14.

Football End Heralds Start Of Swim Season

As the weather cools and football season ends, sports fans look to indoor activities such as . . . swimming.

Coach Art Adamson of the Aggie swimming team reports the team will look to sophomores for help. Excellent performers return this year but A&M suffers from lack of depth that sophomores must make up.

Two returning stars are Tetsuo Okamoto, tremendous distance man from Brazil, and Rippy Woodard, who set seven records while placing second in the conference in 1956-7.

Bright prospects on the freshman team are John Harrington, high school All-American at A&M Consolidated for three years; Charles Teas, 1957 high school state champion diver from Houston Bellaire; Richard Andrews of Houston Austin and Michael Fulton of San Antonio Jefferson.
