

Sanity Hearing, Too Murder Counts Set In Horror Killings

WAUTOMA, Wis., —(AP)— A 51-year-old bachelor farmer, who admitted during two days of questioning at the State Crime Laboratory that he killed two women and looted graves for the cadavers of at least nine more, faces a murder arraignment and sanity hearing "as soon as possible."

Wausara County Dist. Atty. Earl Kileen said yesterday he would file the murder charge against Edward Gein today if the crime lab's ballistics report was ready by then.

"I will move immediately for a sanity hearing when he is arraigned," the prosecutor said.

This count will charge Gein with the shooting and subsequent mutilation of Mrs. Bernice Worden, 58-year-old operator of a hardware store at Plainfield, five miles from Gein's isolated central Wisconsin farmhouse.

A statement given newsmen at Madison by Charlie Wilson, director of the crime lab, said that the frail-appearing little man whose closest acquaintance had described him as a "nice little guy who likes kids, but often talked about women," admitted that he killed Mrs. Worden last Saturday.

Gein also admitted, Wilson said, that he killed Mrs. Mary Hogan, 54-year-old operator of a tavern at Bancroft—six miles from the horror farm—in December 1954.

The statement, issued on behalf of five district attorneys in counties which retain on their books major unsolved disappearances, cleared Gein of any connection with three widely known cases.

These were:

The vanishing of pretty, 15-year-old Evelyn Hartley from a baby-sitting job at a college professor's home in La Crosse in October 1953; The abduction of Georgia Jean Wechler, 8-year-old Ft. Atkinson girl, from the driveway of her farm home in May 1947.

The disappearance of Victor Buck Travis, 51-year-old Adams County resident, while hunting in November 1952.

Wilson said that the polygraph examination showed no conclusive results in the questioning of Gein in connection with still another disappearance—that of Mrs. Irene Keating, 30, from Ft. Atkinson last Aug. 20.

The license and weight division of the Texas Department of Public Safety added more than a million and a half dollars to county and state treasuries last year.

The money was collected in fines and additional registration fees and paid into state and county coffers as a result of cases filed during the fiscal year for violations of Texas trucking laws.

A large percentage of the money, assessed against truck operators, went into road and bridge funds of the various counties throughout Texas.

Experts Voice Varied Opinion On US Missiles

WASHINGTON, — (AP) — Rep. Mahon (D-Tex) charged last night the United States is "seriously behind" Russia in developing an intermediate-range ballistic missile, but a Pentagon expert said, "I don't believe so."

The disagreement was voiced after Mahon's House Appropriations subcommittee launched a surprise inquiry into the U.S. weapons program and spent the day taking testimony behind closed doors.

"We have lagged behind the Russians in the intermediate-range ballistic missile—IRBM—and we've got to come from behind and come abreast as soon as we can," Mahon told newsmen. His subcommittee handles all the Defense Department's money requests.

While disagreeing with Mahon's assessment of the IRBM situation William Holaday, the Defense Department's missile director, said it might be true of the 5,000-mile intercontinental ballistic missile-ICBM.

Secretary of Defense McElroy, one of the first witnesses summoned before the House group, emerged from the hearing with a statement that the U.S. missile program is in "good shape."
