Reading the pap coming to local notice is nauseous! Grown men (?) and men (?) about to assume the serious challenges of life! Tsk! Tsk!

Such puerile thinking and actions for A&M, from Exes on down! Such bigotry will only beget further blight on A&M's fair name in educational circles! A&M's dying on the vine as a result of its biased refusal to recognize progress. The era of coattail-riding for past accomplishment is fading away. To accept the prestige of reputation as a criterion without contributing anything new is stalemate. Progress demands a transfusion for the dying way of old traditions. Bear in mind also, the cliché "reformers never benefit from the reform."

Give A&M a REAL boost! Coded? Amen! All the way with co-ed ROTC! ONLY SCHOOL OF ITS KIND! There ARE women in military service, too. Or are you A&M so conceited you think Uncle Sam has men only in its operations?

A&M has never had the traditions to live down as Harvard or Yale! And these two old egg-head factories have yielded to the inevitable skirt. (Women can be intellectual, given encouragement.) Where would any of us be without a woman? Even old Adam couldn't cut it, alone!

Wake up, Texas A&M! The world doesn't exist for you! You're slipping! And—if action isn't forthcoming soon, the little niche you've carved in the Great Big World will fill with your mud—ergo—Oblivion!

As for Joe Tindel—Y'all get off his back! With printer's ink for blood, he's first, last and always a newspaperman and has to print NEWS as it happens. Justice demands both sides of any situation before she can balance her scales!

Blessings on thee, LITTLE men!

"Our Spirit we give
To the Aggie team

For Probation & and jinx Were just routine . . ."
—C Composite's Bonfire Sign

Probation and jinx were routine the past two years. This year, rain, flu, mud, and collapsed bonfire were "just routine" for Aggies who refused to be defeated. A lot of students, and people have hit the panic button because the Corps is to be compulsory and we have no coach.

So the going is rough; that's never stopped us before. This is just the time for the Twelfth Man to show the nation that nothing keeps us down.

It's just routine.

Since you took over your job as editor, you have been conducting what I consider as an anti-Corps campaign.

Why don't you write us an editorial or tell us "Man to Man" why you dropped from the Corps back in your freshman year.

Psychologists Form Business Leader Service

Two psychologists at A&M are working together in a consulting service designed to improve the leadership of staff members of business organizations.

Discussion groups in personnel management are being conducted on request by Dr. W. A. Varvel and M. S. Kavanaugh, Department of Education and Psychology. A typical sequence consists of 13 three-hour sessions in which Kavanaugh deals with the broad topic of human relations and Dr. Varvel with the psychology of leadership.

The psychologists go directly to the firm that has contracted for the training and work with groups of 20 to 25 selected staff members. They plan the details of their program after consulting with the organizational heads of the particular firm.

They believe that the training of entire staffs rather than of a single key man in an off the job situation results in improved understanding and ability to work together.

The first discussion group conducted by the A&M psychologists was for the Public Service Board of San Antonio during the period of June 27 through August 20, 1957. Since that time they have worked with other groups in the same company and in a large wholesale appliance firm in San Antonio.
