

Bowling Alley To Present New Pinsetters

Tomorrow marks the grand opening of the Memorial Student Center Bowling Alleys since they were remodeled to include the $68,000 Brunswick Automatic Pinsetters.

As a special feature, teams of local celebrities will bowl seven exhibition games starting at 7:30 p. m. John Geiger, manager of the MSC Alleys, will be master of ceremonies.

The eight special teams are made up of the following: Alley Cats—Dean Robert B. Kamm, Carl E. Tishler and Dr. M. T. Harrington; The Pros—Marvin Butler, Stan Workman and Joe Blieden; Alley Rats—Mrs. Kamm, Mrs. Tishler and Mrs. Harrington; The Co-ed's—Mrs. Lou Thomas, Mrs. Alberta Gruber and Mrs. Lou McDonald; Gutter Bums—Charles Roeber, Earl Rudder and Wayne Stark; The Aces—Bob Brown, Floyd Hardimon and an un-named student; Rinky Dinks—Mrs. Roeber, Mrs. Rudder and Mrs. Stark; The Pin Ups—Mrs. Mary Faulk, Mrs. Oleta Smith and Mrs. Faye Wilson.

Three other special matches will be held between Don McGinty, Bob Surovik and Nancy Rudderow; Jon Hagler and Bill McKown; Joe Tindel and Gary Rollins.

The new pinsetters, although they are very expensive in the initial cost, will not make it any more expensive to bowl, said Geiger. On the contrary they are cheaper and are much faster than pinboys.

Campus Chest Sends Help To Aggie Wreck Victim

The Student Senate Executive Committee voted last night to send 250 Campus Chest dollars to Don Connor, freshman from Hale Center, who was injured in an automobile accident Jan. 27. Connor, a passenger in a car which overturned near Ft. Worth, injuring two other Aggies, is being treated at a Ft. Worth hospital for a head injury and was still unconscious last night.

Also injured in the accident were W. O. Kelly, Squadron 15 junior from Ft. Worth and Charles McKinley, 2nd Wing Staff junior from New London.

According to Kelly's mother, Mrs. W. O. Kelly, the 20-year old Kelly suffered a rectal injury; McKinley received a crushed disc, and has been moved to a Tyler hospital. Kelly is still in St. Joseph's hospital in Ft. Worth. His 1957 Pontiac was a total loss.

Portrait Schedules Given for Civilians

Civilian students will have their portraits made for the "AggieLand 58" according to the following schedule:

Feb. 3-4	.....Surnames H-L
Feb. 6-7	.....Surnames M-O
Feb. 10-11	.....Surnames P-S
Feb. 13-14	.....Surnames T-Z

Any civilian student not included in the above schedule who wishes a portrait made for the AggieLand may do so by reporting to the AggieLand Studio anytime before Feb. 14.

The money the Senate wired to the injured boy was part of the $1,767.47 raised in the Campus Chest drive this year. Sixty per cent of the money collected in December was set aside as an emergency fund for just such cases as Connor.

At least two representatives from the Senate are going to Ft. Worth Saturday to see what other help might be needed by the injured Aggies.

Street Plan Near, Mayor Tells Lions

A plan of some kind for the improvement of College Station city streets will be submitted to the public by the City Council after its next meeting Feb. 24, Mayor Ernest Langford told College Station Lions yesterday.

After discussing the proposed plans and the merits of streets with curbs and gutters, the Lions indicated they favored improvements of city streets with curbs and gutters as soon as possible.

Lions club members voted in unanimous agreement for immediate street improvement and only one member cast a vote against curbs and gutters being included in the plan.

Ike Not Expected To Approve Plan

MOSCOW.—Premier Bulganin, in his latest letter to President Eisenhower, offers to discuss the control of outer space, the Soviet government disclosed yesterday.

But the offer is wrapped up in a package, including abolition of nuclear weapons and reduction of armed forces—in a form that previously proved unacceptable to the United States.

Bulganin also seeks to meet United States objections to an East-West summit conference by proposing an agenda and by accepting the idea of preparatory talks through normal diplomatic channels.

Eisenhower already had ruled out nearly every one of Bulganin's nine agenda points, and Bulganin's acceptance of the idea of preparatory talks seemed based on the West's agreeing first of all to call the summit conference.

Bulganin's 17-page letter to the President was delivered at the White House Sunday. It was his third letter to the President since Dec. 10, and was a reply to one from the President on Jan. 12 in which the President suggested the need at this "decisive moment in history" is for control of outer space.

Its publication apparently caught the U.S. Embassy here by surprise. Embassy officials earlier had said they expected it would be made public simultaneously in Washington and Moscow. Eisenhower was just beginning a study of a translation of the note in Washington when the letter was released here.

Aggies To Vote On Coed Issue Next Tuesday

Plans will be completed tomorrow for a referendum election to determine the percentage of Aggies favoring co-education.

The election commission will meet at 5 p. m. in Room 101 of the YMCA to assign positions for holding the election. The voting will take place next Tuesday.

The college voting machines will be put into operation by the commission to get a "yes" or "no" vote on the question, "Do you favor co-education at A&M?"

Voting machines will be in operation in the Memorial Student Center and at the news stand, south of Sbis Hall, from 8 a. m. until 5:30 p. m., with the exception of the noon hour, Dick Noack, chairman of the election commission, said yesterday.

To be eligible to vote, each student will be required to present his fee slip showing that he is registered for the spring semester, Noack added.

"We would like to encourage everyone to vote in this election," Noack said. "But we want a true opinion. We don't want anyone to try to influence the vote of anyone else."

Results of the election will be turned over to the Student Senate.

Enrollment For New Term Dips By 1,400

Spring enrollment dipped some 1,400 Saturday to 6,019 compared to the fall enrollment of 7,474, H. L. Heaton, registrar, reported yesterday.

However, Heaton said he expected the figure to rise to about 6,400 before registration ends Saturday.

Last year's spring enrollment at the same time was 6,105, the registrar reported. Fall semester enrollment in 1956 was some 7,200.

Other sources indicated they expected the spring semester enrollment to rise to only 6,200 by Saturday. Their estimated figures showed the enrollment this spring indicates a 500-student abnormal drop.

They estimated that last year some 700 fewer students registered in the spring while this year they predict about 1,200 fewer students will have registered by Saturday.

Aggie Players Set For 'Macbeth' Run

Shakespearean drama comes to AggieLand Monday when the Aggie Players open their five-night run of the famous tragedy "Macbeth" on the Guion Hall stage.

In their second production of the current school year, the Players will combine Shakespeare's ingenuity with experimental, original ideas of Dr. Sam Southwell and producer C. K. Esten, both of the English Department. Some of the changes include playing down the action in favor of the dialogue, omitting two scenes of great physical violence, and using an absolute minimum of sets and props for the play.

Music for the production has been composed by Allen Schrader, also of the English Department, lending an original and purely local aspect to the play. The music, played by members of the A&M Band, will be divided into four major themes throughout the play, in addition to background sounds.

While Aggie Players fill the men's roles in the play, the women's roles will be taken by a dean's wife, married students' wives, and local women. Mrs. Sam Southwell, wife of the director, has designed the costumes with the assistance of Mrs. Dewey L. Harris, another faculty wife, in charge of makeup.

Because of the changes and departures from the traditional presentation of a Shakespeare tragedy, Southwell feels sure some controversies may be aroused, especially with traditional Shakespearians.

Southwell believes Macbeth is Shakespeare's way of saying to the world that there is nobility in man when he can fight to the bitter end a battle he knows he must lose. He and Esten are operating on the theory that Shakespeare's poetry in the play can bring out these themes if given the proper opportunity.

Rudder Assumes New Assignment

Earl Rudder, former Commissioner of the General Land Office of Texas, began his new duties as vice president of the A&M college Feb. 1.

Rudder, 47, is the first man to fill the position created by the board of directors in Sept. 27, 1957. He will be in charge of college operations, responsible to President M. T. Harrington.

"We are most fortunate to secure a man of Mr. Rudder's capabilities for this key position in our organization," Dr. Harrington said, in announcing his appointment.

"He has rendered most valuable service in every position in which he has served in the past, in war or peace, and I am confident that he will contribute much to the future progress of our institution," he said.

A graduate of A&M in 1932, Rudder is now Commanding General of the 90th Infantry Division, Reserve, 4th Army, with the rank of Major General.

He was born at Eden, Concho county, May 6, 1910, and attended Eden public schools. In 1927 he enrolled in John Tarleton Agricultural College (now Tarleton State College) and after two years transferred to A&M.

Rudder is married and has five children—James Earl Jr., 17; Margaret Anne, 15; Linda, 10; Jane, 9; and Robert, 3.
