

New Feature Begins Today

Battalion readers will find a new feature on this page today. It is "The Kitchen Korner" by Zulin C. de Pinero, wife of a sophomore A&M student, Jose E. Pinero.

Both Mrs. Pinero and her husband come from Puerto Rico, but both attended school in New York. Mrs. Pinero graduated in 1956 from Hunter College with a bachelor of arts degree in art and home economics. Her husband transferred to A&M from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in New York.

Mrs. Pinero is employed at the Research Foundation Network Calculator on the A&M campus.

Sparse Crowd Attends Scout Convocation

An unexpectedly sparse crowd of Arrowmoor District Cub, Boy and Explorer Scouts heard the Rev. Roy Holt, Pastor of the First Christian Church, Bryan, bring the main talk at a District Interfaith Convocation in Bryan, Sunday afternoon.

Leonard McPherson, Scout Executive for Arrowmoor District, said he thought bad weather conditions were mostly responsible for the small attendance.

An estimated 300 scouts, scouting leaders and their families attended the meeting held in the auditorium at Bryan Lamar Junior High School as a part of National Boy Scout Sunday. Attendance was expected to be near 1,000. Arrowmoor District takes in Brazos and Robertson counties.

The Rev. Holt brought the principal speech after the Rev. Jim Argue, pastor of the A&M Methodist Church and the scheduled speaker, became ill.

Some 40-50 scouts received special recognition for having attained the rank of first class or higher during the past year. Ninety-two were eligible for such awards.

"Onward for God and My Country" was the convocation theme, and was exemplified in the main speech and the overall program. Coleman M. Loyd and five scouts brought a responsive reading to the group.

Ralph D. McCormick closed the program with a special tableau noting the four major faiths in the nation.

The entire program was carried on in front of a painted backdrop of a stained glass church window.

The Kitchen Korner

BY ZULIN C. DE PINERO

These days when meat is so expensive, it is well to familiarize ourselves with the less popular cuts, commonly called variety meats, which, although just as flavorful and nutritious, are much lower on the price lists. Of these, kidney, tongue and heart are all readily available in our supermarkets.

The only disadvantage attending these meats is the long time they require to cook properly and to the desired degree of tenderness. It is best, therefore, to plan the meal ahead, so that you can cook the meat the preceding week-end or evening.

Beef tongue is a specially hearty dish which cannot only serve as backbone for a meal but can also be made into very delicious sandwiches.

It is preferable to cook tongue in salted water with an onion added for flavoring, as soon as it is brought home. These cuts are very perishable and should not be allowed to stand in the refrigerator for long unless well frozen.

After an hour of slow cooking, it should be removed from the pan (reserving the liquid) and stripped of the outer, thick skin. Then prepare as follows for a 2-pound cut.

Crush and mix 1 clove garlic, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon salad oil, and 1 teaspoon vinegar. Add to this 1 strip of bacon finely diced. Stab the tongue with a sharp knife and insert portions of this mixture, rubbing the remainder over the tongue.

Place the meat in a pan, adding the liquid in which it was previously boiled, and when it again comes to a boil, lower the heat and cook until almost tender, turning occasionally.

About 1 hour before the tongue is done, add 2 sliced onions, 2 bay leaves, 12 prunes, 1/4 cup sugar and 2 big potatoes, quartered. Cover and cook until tender, adding more liquid if necessary. Yield: 4 servings.

Mashed potatoes and a tossed green salad are fitting accompaniments to this dish.

CHS Double Cast Working on Play

A complete double cast has been announced for the 1958 Consolidated High School junior play presentation, "Meet Me in St. Louis," and the tentative dates are March 7-8.

Frank C. Coulter, director of the play, said yesterday that an entirely different cast would present each performance. It will be the first completely double-cast play to be acted by a CHS group.

"The two 16-player casts are very evenly balanced," Coulter said. "And I believe each is capable of giving an outstanding performance."

"Meet Me in St. Louis" is an early 1900 comedy written by Sally Benson, and was a lasting hit on Broadway several years ago.

Coulter said the play would be presented in typical 1900 costumes, the clothes to be borrowed or made by members of the cast. He said a special problem existed in the need for shoes and hats, both women's and men's, of this period, and urged anyone having any apparel of that period to lend it to the cast by contacting him.

The cast for "Meet Me in St. Louis," listed under the night they will take the role, is as follows:

Role	Friday	Saturday
Papa	Don Ayera	Kirby Jackson
Mama	Mary Varvel	Charlotte Baty
Ida	Pat Jackson	Sara Goode
Rester	Helen Klipple	Jeanette LaMotte
Agnes	Susan Dowell	Martha Esten
Tootie	Nancy McAfee	Ann Williamson
Lon	Gordon Darrow	Kim Johns
Granda	Jud Rogers	Billy Letbetter
Katie	Leota Strant	Judy Litton
Mrs. Wanghop	Carole McElroy	Carol Dew
Ida	Nancy Rogers	Kathy Gould
John	David McGuire	Johnny Barger
Lucille	Ora Lee Ramsey	Doan LaVelle
Fred	Alex Rush	Ken Bailey
Mr. Dodge	George Carroll	Paul Powell
Duffy	Jimmy Walton	Matt Gaddis
