Features Talent, Dances, Review

By BILL REED

Spring Military Weekend, one of the largest annual affairs on the Campus, opens tonight in G. Rollie White Coliseum with the 10-act 7th annual Intercollegiate Talent Show. The Combat Ball will get underway tonight at 8 in Sbisa Hall allowing combat army cadets and their dates time to see at least part of ITS.

Immediately after the talent show, Cafe Rue Pinalle, the Aggie version of a French night club, will spotlight the ping pong area of the MSC. Saturday's highlight, the Spring Military Day review, will be at 1:50 in the afternoon with Lt. Gen. John H. Collier, Commander of the U.S. Fourth Army, receiving the Corps' salute. Four other prominent dignitaries and Congressman Olin Teague will be on hand for the afternoon affair. Topping the weekend off, the Military Ball will be staged in Sbisa Hall at 9 a.m. Saturday lasting until midnight.

ITS Begins at 7

The Music Committee will bring some of the top collegiate acts from four states to the campus tonight in a show that offers a variety of performances.

On the agenda for tonight are the Kilgore Junior College Rangerettes; "The Downbeats," a quartet from Oklahoma State University; "The Jazz Sentinels," who will play dixieland music; and "The Bunch," the rhythm and blues combo from the University of Arkansas.

Other performers are Janelle Ducote, semi-classical vocalist; Mary Martha Gibson and Tom Fisher, duet; Ray McCullough, dancer from Louisiana State University; James Wallis, a ventriloquist-impersonator, from the University of Oklahoma; Jerry Scarbrough, singer-guitarist from the University of Texas; Ann Bartlett, Rice Institute singer; and John Warner, pianist from A&M who won second place last year in the

For all students who have dates on the campus but do not wish to go to the Combat Ball, Cafe Rue Pinalle will be held in the MSC.

The dance will feature five acts from ITS-James Wallis, ventriloquist; Ann Bartlett, vocalist; The Downbeats, a male quartet; Ray McCullough, dancer; and Mary Martha Gibson and Tom Fisher, a duet. The Jazz Sentinels will furnish music for the dance. Corps Review

The first spring semester review will get under way at 1:50 on the main drill field in front of the MSC with several dignitaries on the campus for the occasion.

Gen. Collier will review the troops as the Corps passes in review. Congressman and Mrs. Olin Teague and four members of the Armed Services Committee of the House of Representatives and their wives are among the special guests. The other congressmen are Mel Price of Illinois, Walter Norbald of Oregon, James VanZandt of Pennsylvania and William Bray of Indiana.

Following the review the Fish Drill Team will perform some precision drill movements.

Military Ball at 9

Buddy Brock and his Orchestra, of Houston, will be at the Military Ball at 9 p.m. Saturday to supply the dance music for the final affair of the weekend.

The sweetheart of the ball is Miss Nancy Norton, Aggie Sweetheart from Texas Woman's University. She will be escorted by John Ligon, commander of the second regiment.

All guests on the campus for the review will be guests of honor at the ball. Also the commanders of Cadet Corps from other schools in Texas and Louisiana will be invited for the day.
