HEARING

more, also assistants for the attorney general and James A. Amis, A&M College System attorney.

Following Heaton on the witness stand was W. C. Freeman, comptroller of the A&M System, who was questioned about endowments and support of A&M and its comparison financially with the University of Texas and other state supported schools.

Dr. Ralph Green, director of the Texas Commission on Higher Education, was the last witness for the day. Green gave the court statistics and figures on other colleges and universities of the state and nation as compared with A&M. A&M is the only land grant college of the 69 in the nation which is not coeducational, he said.

Both Barrons said they were well pleased with yesterday's hearing, the younger saying the proceedings went much as he had hoped.

Defense lawyers weren't as well pleased with the proceedings however.

"It was about what is to be expected along the line of questioning that was done, but the material heard today was unimportant and purely irrelevant to the real case as far as we're concerned," Ladlum said. "Our case will come later."

Society Slates Film On Breast Cancer

A film entitled "Breast Self-Examination" will be shown twice Thursday for Bryan and College Station women who wish to learn how to curtail breast cancer, according to Dr. R. B. Grant, medical adviser of the Brazos County Unit of the American Cancer Society.

The free film will be shown in Bryan at 10 a. m. at Palace Theatre and at 7:30 p. m. at Kemp High School.

"With good taste and dignity, the film portrays a technique of self-examination which enables the viewers to possibly find lumps on their breasts which might spell cancer," Dr. Grant said.

Emphasis in the film is placed on the fact that when breast cancer is detected in its early stages and proper treatment is begun at once, 70 per cent of all cases can be cured. At the present time only 35 percent are being cured.

Cancer doctors have reported that the film has already saved the lives of many women and can be the means of saving thousands more each year if proper attention is given to the film, Dr. Grant said.
