

LSU Coeds Claim Joanne Woodward

BATON ROUGE, La. — (AP) — "Joanne Woodward slept here," boasted a large sign across the front of a girls' dormitory at Louisiana State University yesterday.

Miss Woodward, who won the Academy Award for best actress Wednesday night, left LSU in 1949 to try her luck on the New York stage.

Bill Offers Texans 46,000 New Jobs

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The new highway construction bill passed by the senate yesterday would provide 46,000 jobs in Texas, Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas estimated.

He said Texas is entitled to 24 million dollars under the measure for federal primary and secondary highway systems during the year starting July 1.

18 Servicemen Die in Collision Of Two Planes

BRIDGEPORT, Tex. (AP) — Two military planes collided in the air over this North Texas town yesterday and Air Force reports showed 18 servicemen died when the planes crashed into the ground.

No one survived.

The crash of a C124 Globemaster took 15 lives. A C119 cargo plane crashed on a farm and killed the three aboard. The C124 had a crew of 10 and picked up five passengers in San Antonio, Kelly Air Force Base reported.

The Globemaster's home was Hill Air Force Base, near Salt Lake City, Utah. The C-119 was stationed at Carswell Air Force Base, at Fort Worth, 45 miles southeast of here.

The Globemaster burned fiercely. Pools of molten metal glistened around the wreckage.

Small shattered pieces of wreckage lay over a wide area.

Some parachutes remained neatly folded. Other chutes burst open and lent a garish touch to the scene. But apparently none aboard the C-124 bailed out.

A large section of the craft, badly torn, lay about 150 yards from the main C-124 wreckage.

Bill Carlton, Bridgeport, drove along a road shortly after 4 p.m. when the air collision occurred.

"It looked like great big flames of sheet iron falling," he said.

The Defense Department in Washington said the C-124 was en route from Kelly Air Force Base, San Antonio, Tex., to Tinker Air Force Base, Oklahoma City.

The C-119 was en route from Sheppard Air Force Base, Wichita Falls, to Carswell AFB.

Merrill Adamcik
Cotton King To Be Crowned April 11

Merrill Adamcik, senior agronomy major from El Campo, will preside as King Cotton at the annual Cotton Pageant to be held in Guion Hall on the night of April 11, according to Floyd A. Robertson, publicity chairman of the Agronomy Society.

Immediately following the Cotton Pageant the Cotton Ball will be held in Sbis Hall.

The Cotton Queen is to be picked from some 100 duchesses submitted by various organizations. She will be named at the pageant.

Adamcik will be crowned by A. L. Ward, director of Education Service, National Cottonseed Products Association, Dallas.

Murry Cox, farm editor of WFAA, Dallas, will be the master of ceremonies for the event.

Tickets are on sale at the Student Activities Office and in Room 101 of the Agronomy Building, or they may be purchased from any member of the Agronomy Society. Ducats sell for $1 per person for the pageant and $2 per couple for the ball and pageant for $3.

Local TB Fighters At Houston Meeting

Mrs. Otis Miller, R. H. Fletcher and Joe Sorrels, local leaders of the Brazos County Tuberculosis Association, are in Houston attending the three-day annual meeting of the state association.

The meeting, being held at the Rice Hotel, began yesterday and continues through tomorrow. Doctors, nurses and lay health leaders from Texas and neighboring states are attending the meeting, which marks the 50th anniversary of the founding.

Mrs. Miller is executive director and Fletcher is chairman of the Brazos County association. Sorrels is a member of the State Board of Directors for the organization.

West Germany Votes to Buy U.S. Matadors

BONN, (AP) — The Defense Committee of the West German Parliament voted yesterday to buy 24 U.S. Matador missiles—capable of nuclear warfare.

The action came amid a mounting threat of a general strike against atomic weapons by the nation's six million trade unionists.

The Trade Union Federation was to meet today to decide whether to call out the workers in a political strike against the Bundestag's decision two days ago to permit West Germany to accept atomic arms if offered by Germany's allies.

A deputy of the opposition Socialist party in a statement said Chancellor Konrad Adenauer would not stop until he had a German-produced intercontinental missile with a hydrogen warhead.

Socialist Chairman Erich Ollenhauer called on the Parliament to vote Adenauer out of power in order to prevent "a national catastrophe."

His party introduced a bill calling for a national referendum on the atomic arms issue. Adenauer's majority was certain to turn down this proposal.

Ike Sees Tragedy If Trade Not Fixed

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Eisenhower said last night America faces "deadly peril" from communism abroad and possible loss of jobs at home unless Congress extends the administration's foreign trade program.

The President sounded those cautionary notes in a speech prepared for a dinner to rally bipartisan support for the program.

Eisenhower, whose talk was carried nationwide on television and radio, hammered hard at both the international and domestic aspects of foreign trade. He has asked Congress for a five-year extension of the Reciprocal Trade Act and for authority to cut tariffs gradually up to 25 per cent under present levels.

"We should make everyone aware," the President said, "of the deadly peril impending if—through blindness—America and the free world are robbed of adequate economic defense against Communist penetration."

U.S. Rockets to Get Good Look at Moon

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The United States is going to send rocket scouts to take a close look at the moon.

Orders for the "lunar probes" by unmanned space vehicles were issued yesterday by President Eisenhower and Secretary of Defense Neil McElroy.

The decision to press forward, with what only a little while ago would have seemed a fantastic project, followed by one day the President's publication of an official "Introduction to Outer Space." This was an outline by his science advisory committee of the reasons for space exploration and its possibilities and problems.

In this first long step, the government authorized the Air Force and Army to proceed with programs for launching four and perhaps five unmanned vehicles to explore "in the vicinity of the moon." The Navy is directed to begin preparing equipment for the vehicles which will send back an account of what is on the moon—probably including the still unknown far side.

An initial allocation of about eight million dollars was ordered to start work on the over-all program.

Neither the White House nor Defense Department would speculate on when the first moon shoot would be made. Some important parts of the equipment needed already exist.
