

Gridders Rip Through 13th Session

By BOB WEEKLEY
Hot, sultry weather brought out the best in the spring gridders yesterday with the Ags charging through the workout in one of their best offensive showings to date. After Wednesday's session Coach Jim Myers said: "The white and blue teams' offense is moving pretty good. The overall timing of plays is much better."
The single wing mentor continued:
"The men are learning their plays. Everybody is finding out where the (running) holes are."

Fullback Gordon LeBeouf had no trouble finding the open spots in the line. The young sophomore ripped through the opposing team with the power of a bull. Tailback Luther Hall and wingback Randy Sims also drew praise from their coach.
"Hall ran real good," said Myers, "And Sims is going to make a fine wingback." Sims is a smooth runner with unusual coordination and ability.

The white and blue team scrimmaged each other in the last phase of the practice session, with both teams moving the ball consistently for long gains. Line play was improved with End John Tracey back in the ranks. Center Gale Oliver turned in a fine performance both on offense and defense. Roy Northrup, Tom Austin, Wayne Labar and Jerry Peveto drew praise from the staff for their work during the scrimmage.

After 13 days of spring training the squad is showing remarkable improvement. Less time was spent on individual fundamentals and the coaches were able to increase their work on the rough spots in team play.

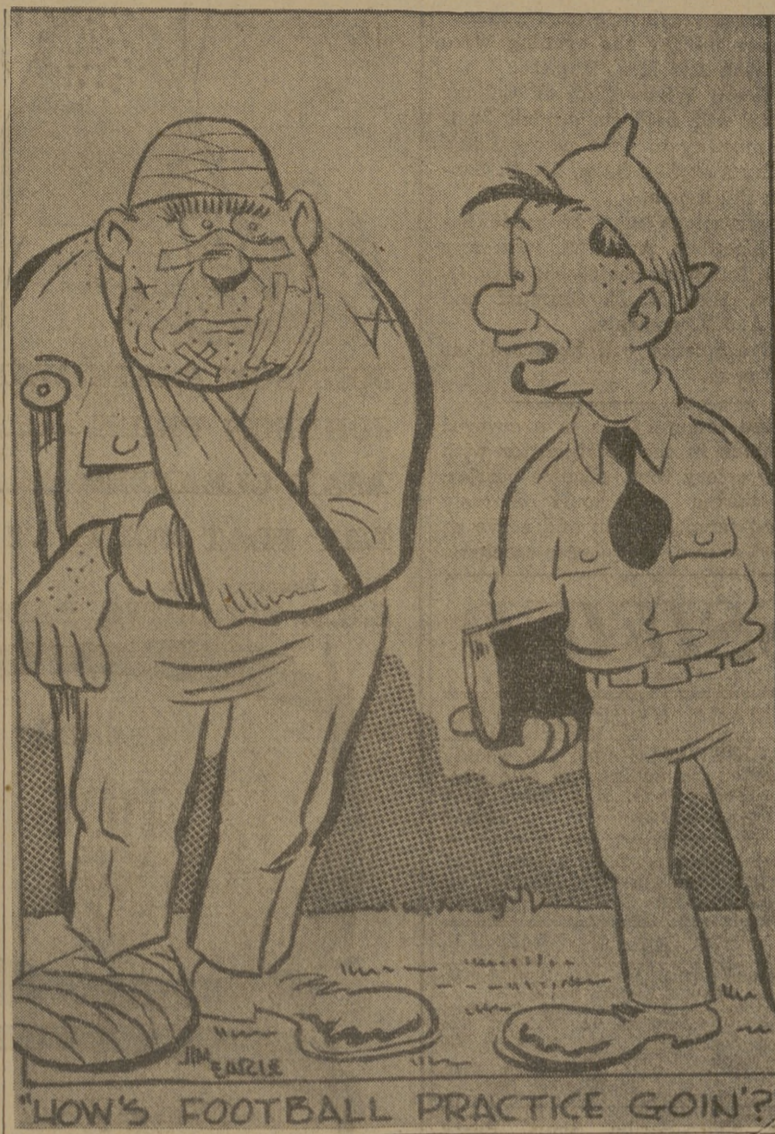

Pass defense showed improvement and the defensive units displayed more aggressiveness than in the past. Tackle Ken Beck and Guard Murray Trimble broke through the offensive unit several times to throw the runners for a loss.

Myers indicated that the blocking of the wing backs has improved. Jack Estes, Ronnie Fontenot and Sims are the leading candidates for the position.

"The position of tailback is the problem right now," said Myers. Charles Milstead has missed most of the spring training days with an injured knee, working out in sweats most of the time. Ed Dudley is a much improved runner and passer and Hall is coming along fine.

Myers plans to lighten the training periods tomorrow, but the squad is expected to move at full speed right up to the intrasquad game Saturday night. The three days of spring training left after the game will be spent largely on fundamentals.

Injuries are down to a minimum now with the once long list of players with the "red cross" on their shorts greatly reduced.

Aggie Aides

The senior member of the Aggie coaching staff is Elmer Smith, one of two members of Paul Bryant's staff retained by Head Coach Jim Myers.

Smith came to A&M with Bryant in 1954 after being head coach for eight years at Southern Arkansas State College of Magnolia. His Magnolia teams in eight seasons compiled a 54-27-2 record and won state titles in 1951 and 1952.

A graduate of Danville, Ark., high school, Smith was a four-year, four-sport letterman at Hendrix College at Conway, Ark. He is a 1931 graduate of Hendrix.

Following graduation, Smith served as assistant at Hendrix until 1936 when he went to Centenary College at Shreveport as assistant coach.

He served in the navy during World War II and reached the rank of lieutenant commander.

Smith and his wife, Sybil, who teaches in the Bryan school system, have no children.

Smith's duties at A&M will be to work with centers and linebackers.
