Cadet Golf Team Finish Second in SWC

The A&M golf team completed the '58 season in second place, behind new conference champion Arkansas.

Final conference standings found Arkansas in first place followed by the Aggies, TCU, SMU-Texas (tie), Texas Tech, Baylor and Rice in that order.

Arkansas, because of their first place standing, will be allowed to enter four players in the individual golf championship tourney in Dallas. The Cadets enter three, TCU two and each of the second division teams entering one man each.

The Longhorns will have to down the Aggies once in their two game series this weekend to post their 1,000th win since they have been fielding a baseball team.

Win No. 999 came when the Steers defeated SMU Monday to cinch the SWC championship, but the Mustangs won the next day to keep the Longhorns away from the elusive mark.

The Arkansas Razorbacks take to the gridiron for their second and final intrasquad game of spring football training Saturday at Little Rock.

The Hogs' new coach, Frank Broyles, pleased the crowd last week with the new (in the SWC) single wing-T formation plays.

Billy Kyser and Darrell Williams, top backs who missed last week's game because of injuries, will be on hand this time

Ag Squad in Dallas For SWC Contest

By BOB WEEKLEY

The Aggie track and field squad left for the Southwest Conference meet in Dallas yesterday with slight hopes of bringing the championship trophy back to College Station after the events today and Saturday.

The Cadets, long a track and field power, are currently in the first year of a rebuilding campaign after the majority of the point makers entered in the '57 meet graduated. The Farmers finished second to Texas last year.

A&M will enter 25 varsity and 20 freshmen in the two divisions of the meet.

Emmett Smallwood, the Galena Park flash, is expected to be top man in Dallas for the Ags. In the SWC meet in Austin last year the talented athlete broke the broad jump record and placed second in low hurdles.

The A&M senior has divided his track time this spring in preparing for the decathlon at the recent Kansas Relays where he finished third behind the greatest field of athletes in the nation.

The Longhorns are again a heavy favorite to capture the track and field crown, with SMU regarded as the logical second place contender because of depth.

Baylor and Rice will probably battle for third with Arkansas, Texas Tech, TCU and A&M expected to be the second division teams.

The Cadets won championships in 1947-48-49 and 1951-52-53 with an abundance of manpower, but Texas then returned to the top of the heap.

Height Turns Aggie To Baseball Team

By TUCKER SUTHERLAND

Being too short was the key to J. B. Carroll's start as a baseball player for A&M.

"He was too short to play college basketball so he went out for the baseball team," said George Carroll, father of the Aggie third sacker.

Besides being an all-district basketball player during his junior year at Consolidated High School, the 5' 7" infielder was also outstanding in football, baseball and track.

In football Carroll booted the Tiggers to a championship his sophomore year by kicking 45 out of 50 extra point attempts. Of these, 23 were in succession. He was too old to play high school sports his senior year, so he acted as student coach.

As a high school short-stop, Carroll batted .465 and was a big factor in the 1954 undefeated season for CHS. In his last season of high school ball (junior year) he hit .500 in district play. Spending most of his time on sports didn't hurt Carroll's popularity among Consolidated students. He was president of his class three years out of four and in two of these years he served as vice president of the student council.

Carroll came to A&M last year and concentrated his skill on baseball. He moved from shortstop to right field and played the latter position without an error. Fish Carroll knocked out a .346 batting average. The Fish had a 7-2 record last year.

This year the righthander moved again. This time from rightfield to third base. Although Carroll has only batted .193 for the season he is second in total runs for the team with 12. Part of this may be because the short speedster has walked more times than anyone, 13, and has the most stolen bases, nine.

In conference play the third sacker has had part in five double plays and is tied with second baseman Dink Patterson in this column.

Prison Art
JOLIET, Ill. (AP)—"Do the paintings of prisoners at the Joliet penitentiary show signs of escapism?"
"Yes," says John V. Hudack, art instructor at the Illinois State penitentiary.
Romanticism is characteristic of many of their paintings; the instructor says. Memory and imagination also play an important role. Unlike painters on the outside, the prisoners have no opportunity to observe real landscapes, no chance to watch the sea or feel the rain.
