33 Senior Colleges to Play Football This Fall

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
 Texas Associated Press
 Sports Editor

Texas isn't as big as Alaska and it also doesn't have as much college football as two other states. This isn't said in a deflationary way but introduces the subject at hand—just how much college football will the state have come fall.

In Texas there will be 33 senior colleges playing the game. That's 18 fewer than the state of Pennsylvania and two under Ohio.

There has been no decrease in college football as compared to last year. Texas colleges are in five conferences—the Southwest, Border, Lone Star, Missouri Valley and Southwestern (Negro).

Here will be the line up next fall:

Southwest Conference — Baylor, Texas, Texas A&M, Texas Christian, Rice, Southern Methodist. Texas Tech is in the Southwest Conference but won't compete for the championship until 1960.

Border Conference—West Texas State, Hardin-Simmons, Texas Western.

Missouri Valley Conference—University of Houston, North Texas State.

Lone Star Conference — Sam Houston State, Texas A&I, Southwest Texas State, Howard Payne, Lamar Tech, East Texas State, Sul Ross, Stephen F. Austin.

Southwestern Conference — Wiley, Texas Southern, Prairie View, Texas College.

There are nine independents —

The Dodgers are second with five wins and four losses.

With one regular game to be played and an additional two games, one of which was postponed due to bad weather, the other to allow major teams to play, the final winner is still unknown.

Behind the Dodgers the Cubs stand with three wins and six losses. The Indians are in last place with two wins and seven losses.

Individual batting honors of those playing the major part of the games go to Jim Amyx of the Pirates with an average of .571. Behind Amyx is Sam Creswell of the Cubs with .467. Bringing up third best average is John Perry of the Pirates with .429.

you save 1/3
 by calling
 long distance station-to-station

Most folks are really surprised when they find out how little a long distance call costs . . . especially when they call station-to-station.

By telling the operator you will talk to anyone who answers the long distance number you are calling, you can actually make three calls for the price of two. There's no sacrifice in service, either.

And here's another money saving hint. Make your long distance calls after 6 p.m. or on Sunday. Low rates are even lower at these times.
