

USS Seawolf Sets Endurance Record

WASHINGTON—AP—The nuclear submarine Seawolf has smashed the underwater record and is now aiming at staying down 60 days, almost double the old mark.

President Eisenhower said Wednesday the Seawolf had been submerged for 54 days and is still going strong.

The Navy later said the submarine would sail into her home port of New London, Conn., next Monday afternoon.

If she comes up Monday noon, the Seawolf will have been below the Atlantic Ocean's surface for exactly 60 days. The submarine sailed on Aug. 5, went down two days later to begin what the Navy then described only as a "routine environmental test."

Without Any Contact
Tuesday, the Navy radioed the Seawolf some questions. Cmdr. Richard B. Laning, the skipper, replied that at 10:45 a.m. EST, the Seawolf had been submerged continuously, "without any contact with the earth's atmosphere, for 54 days."

The Navy said Wednesday afternoon that as far as it knew the Seawolf was still submerged.

The atomic submarine Skate held the submerged record—31 days, 5 1/2 hours—until the Seawolf

'Call to Arms' Issued to GOP By Eisenhower

WASHINGTON—AP—President Eisenhower Wednesday sounded what GOP National Chairman Meade Alcorn termed a "political call to arms" for Republicans to conduct a hard-hitting campaign in the weeks ahead.

Eisenhower, at his news conference, deplored as incomprehensible reports about Republican "apathy, about sitting on hands and complacency." He said if Republicans won't work and contribute in the campaign the cause of moderate government could be lost in this country.

"The consequences of that, in my mind," he declared, "would be well incalculable."

Eisenhower blamed Republicans who stayed away from the polls for GOP defeats in recent elections and said if all the registered Republicans had voted, there would have been no trouble.

Alcorn followed up with a statement saying, "Every American who believes in the peace and economic progress which this administration established and maintained will respond to the political call to arms sounded by the President."

"The fate of moderate government is indeed at stake in the 1958 elections," Alcorn said.

Dixie Series Shifted Because of Rains

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—The final three games of the Dixie Series will all be played in Birmingham because of heavy rains here.

The final scheduled game in Corpus Christi was to have been played Wednesday night, but heavy rains of six inches Tuesday night virtually inundated the field.

Officials of the Texas League and Southern Assn., and owner Jimmie Humphries of Corpus Christi and General Manager Eddie Glennon of Birmingham Wednesday voted to move the one game scheduled here to Birmingham since more rain was predicted.

Les Andreas, Syracuse University athletic director and former cage coach, was named to the Helms Hall of Fame for his achievements as a basketball coach.

Nixon Hits Dems In California Talk

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Vice President Nixon Wednesday accused Democrats of "rotgut thinking" and spreading false claims about America's defensive strength.

He warned there is grave danger the enemy "might well believe this claptrap and make the mistake of launching war against us."

Nixon said the United States is stronger now than any potential aggressor and he added: "We have the will, the ability and overall the military program to maintain that position of superiority."

The vice president, campaigning for his home state's GOP ticket, struck out at critics of the Eisenhower administration in a speech prepared for a Republican rally at the San Diego baseball park.

It was in sharp contrast to his bipartisan appeal for support of Republican candidates in his television talk in Los Angeles Tuesday night, opening a three-day tour of the big state.

Engineering Prof Cited for Research

Bob Fletcher, associate professor in the Department of Mechanical Engineering has received a letter of commendation for his power plant research of this past summer.

He spent the summer in Cleveland, Ohio, with Thompson Products, Inc., a manufacturer of automotive, aircraft, industrial and electronic components. He did research on a chemically-fueled vapor power plant.

Fletcher has served the company as a consultant for the past several years and has worked full-time during the greater part of the past five summers.

Much of his work has been connected with the analysis of power plants for turbine powered automobiles and space vehicles. The letter of commendation was from Victor P. Kovack, an official of the Research and Development division of the company.

Fletcher, a member of the Mechanical Engineering Department for the past 11 years, is a native of Lansing, Mich. He received his B.S. degree from Pennsylvania State University in 1928 and has attended summer schools of A&M and the University of Texas.

Prior to World War II, Fletcher was associated with a number of industrial firms and was the owner of a business concern in San Antonio. During the war he served as a research engineer with the day night, opening a three-day tour of the big state. Nixon referred to Democratic assertions of a so-called lag between United States and Soviet strength; and to claims that the Russians may be ahead of us in long-range missile development.

Speaking in the city where the Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile is built, he said: "If there is a gap in missiles it is a gap that was opened by the Truman administration and it is a gap that is being closed rapidly and effectively by the Eisenhower administration."

Nixon said the Truman administration canceled the Atlas program in 1947 and delayed it in succeeding years. Under former President Truman, he said, this country spent $6,600,000 on long-range ballistic missiles from 1945 through July 1953. By July 1959, he said the Eisenhower administration will have spent $6,600,000—or a ratio of 1,000 to 1.

Marketing Group Elects Officers

Officers of the A&M Marketing Society for 1958-59 were elected at the first meeting of the society Tuesday night.

Tommy Johnson was elected president of the society and Gerald Ryan was elected vice-president. Clarence Pennywell was elected secretary-treasurer, while Glen Estes will take the office of program chairman.

Doyle Stewart was elected senior representative to the Arts and Sciences Council and Duke Waggoner will be junior representative.

Purpose of the society is to give students—particularly marketing majors—an insight into that field. The society, sponsored by Dr. Theodore Yantis and Thomas O. Kirkpatrick, is affiliated with the American Marketing Assn.

Syrian Veep May Get Boot From UAR Post

BEIRUT (AP)—Sabri Assali, one of the two Syrian vice presidents of the United Arab Republic, is expected to be eased out of the government soon.

Assali was Syria's last premier before the union with Egypt in the U.A.R. last February. He came under fire during recent trials of former politicians in Iraq. The trials were carried out by the revolutionary Baghdad regime that destroyed the Iraqi monarchy July 14.

Witnesses in the Iraqi trials accused Assali of plotting with them to merge Syria and Iraq under a regime opposed to U.A.R. President Nasser.

Informants say Nasser now will use this testimony as a pretext for removing Assali, who represents the old school of politicians and has acted as a brake on Nasser's reform plans for Syria.

Cairo newspapers reported Sept. 21 that a sweeping administrative reorganization in the U.A.R. was coming within a week. Since it has been delayed, rumors have it that some present ministers may be dropped from the government when it is reorganized.

Elimination of Assali would prepare the Nasser government for an all-out move to introduce into Syria the same kind of reform regime Egypt has had since King Farouk was overthrown.

Until now, Nasser has followed a go-slow policy in Syria. In the next few months, however, Syria is expected to feel the full effects of a Nasser-type regime economically and politically.

Social Whirl

Old Folks to Get Better Conditions

Texas' senior citizens stand to get a better shake in nursing homes as far as care, safety and comfort are concerned, with the latest action from the State Board of Health.

Revisions in existing "standards for nursing and care homes" were adopted by board members at their recent quarterly meeting in Austin. More than 9,000 elderly persons residing in 560 licensed nursing homes in Texas stand to benefit from improved nursing care.

The board's action will prevent future applicants for state licenses from using existing buildings as nursing homes unless electrical wiring conforms to national electrical codes and unless all walls and materials are capable of resisting fire for at least one hour. Too, roofs must be constructed of non-combustible material and the building's heating system must be vented.

The new standards also discourage occupancy of upper floors of multi-storied homes unless they are equipped with an automatic sprinkling system.

New nursing home construction or remodeling plans must be submitted to the State Department of Health for review and approval, according to the Board of Health's new ruling. In new construction, private rooms must contain at least 100 square feet of floor space, and at least 72 feet must be devoted to each bed in wards or multi-bed rooms.

The revised standards require that nursing home laundry rooms be separate and screened, with washing machines connected to sewer systems. Invoices must be kept on foods purchased for patients. The new code asks that daily meals include the basic foods contained in "Texas Food Standard," prepared by the Texas Nutrition Council.

Other provisions set up in the new standards are aimed at keeping the State Department of Health informed as to the policies concerning the operation of the homes. This will include information on types of patients, restrictive rules and charges or refunds.

The upgrading of nursing home standards is the aim of the new standards. All future applicants for state licenses to operate nursing or care homes are required to be graduates of an accredited high-school or show proof of attaining the equivalent. Licensed physicians, registered nurses or licensed vocational nurses are exempt from this ruling.

Range-Forestry Wives Hold Meet

Student wives of the Department of Range and Forestry were entertained Monday evening by departmental faculty wives.

Mrs. Judy Hughes, club president, made announcements of coming events while refreshments were being served and new members were introduced.

Guests present were Mmes. Hughes, Deanna Avant, Dorothy Pearson, Jane Grumbles and Jenny Box, wives of graduate students. Undergraduate wives present were Patti Schulle, Carol Phillips, Catharine Dorsett and Mona Boemer.
