

Yanks Clobber Braves 6-2 For World Championship

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
MILWAUKEE (AP)—Strong-armed Bob Turley led the revived New York Yankees to the greatest baseball comeback in 33 years Thursday as they stormed back from a 3-1 deficit to dethrone Milwaukee in the seventh game of the World Series.

Turley, working his third straight game, dazzled the Braves with a two-hit relief job over 6½ innings while the Yanks clubbed Lew Burdette for a 6-2 victory.

It was sweet revenge for the Yankees, three-time losers to Burdette a year ago, as they ripped into their tormentor for four big runs in the eighth inning, breaking a 2-2 tie.

Burdette had yielded two unearned runs in the second but the Braves scored first off shaky Don Larsen and tied the score on Del Crandall's homer off Turley in the sixth.

Two men were out when the Yankee uprising started with a long double to right by Yogi Berra that just missed being a home run by about two feet. The drive bounced off a padding high on the right field barrier.

Elston Howard fouled off one pitch and looked at a ball before he bounced a single over second base. Berra hustled home with the big winning run.

Andy Carey, hitless in 11 trips, smashed a single off Eddie Mathews' glove into short left before Bill Skowron hammered a 2-2 pitch far and away over the fence in the left center field for a 415-foot three-run homer.

Burdett bowed his head, pawed at the dirt resignedly, and finally closed out the inning by striking out Tony Kubek.

Crandall's homer with two out in the sixth was the only hit off the Yanks' 21-game winner until Joe Adcock sliced a pinch single to left with two gone in the ninth. Then Mickey Mantle gathered in Red Shoendienst's fly to center for the final out, the short reign of the Braves had ended.

The Detroit Tigers will operate their second baseball school at Tigertown in Lakeland, Fla., from Jan. 30 through Feb. 12, 1959.

Former Army tackle DeWitt Coulter set an Army shot put record in 1946. His toss went 54 feet, 7½ inches.

Hold on to your hats, Ags, 'cause the Weekly football predictions are picking the Longhorns to drop the mighty Sooners from Oklahoma Gog 'em!

The Steers' lower will be solid orange Saturday night while the frat boys hold their biggest celebration in years. The score: Texas 21, Oklahoma 13.

Going a little further into the hole, the Aggies will drop the favorite Maryland squad for their second straight win. A&M 18, Maryland 12.

Read on for the rest of my predictions:
TCU 20—Texas Tech 6
Rice 20—Arkansas 12
Duke 19—Baylor 7
SMU 22—Missouri 0

Rash as these predictions seem they are more fact than fantasy.

Darrell Royal, the Texas magician, is pulling a sleeper on the SWC. He yet has to use his best eleven, having played his mullets most of the season, and still has to uncover his offense. The Steers have been loafing around waiting for this game.

The Ags have improved steadily and should be ready to make turtle soup out of the Terrapins. Maryland has a big strong line, but the Cadets have a mighty throwing arm.

TCU has no sweat in their game with the Red Raiders. This should be their tune-up game for the Oct. 18 meeting with A&M.

The Owl-Arkansas tilt should determine the cellar dwellers for the SWC. This game sees Rice come into its own.

Poor Baylor! The Duke crowd is going to have a field day at their expense. The Bears get their come-uppance.

SMU had better be careful, for only one more lick could put the mighty Meredith out of action for several games. That boy is all-American.

"I'm waiting for my daddy to call long distance"

The hidden excitement that people feel when receiving a long distance call, is always apparent with small fry. They seem to bubble over when the call comes through.

Everyone appreciates being remembered. And one of the nicest ways of remembering is with a long distance telephone call.

Long distance telephone service is economical, too. Especially if you call after 6 p.m. or on Sunday when low rates are even lower.
