Board Won't Let Idle Teachers Go

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus charged Wednesday the Little Rock School Board refuses to release public school teachers so they can be hired for private, segregated schools.

Faubus said the refusal is blocking progress of the private education plan. Dr. William G. Cooper, a school board member, promptly replied the board had not attempted to tell public school teachers what to do. About 150 teachers were idled when Faubus closed Little Rock's four high schools last month in a move to avert court-ordered litigation.

Faubus made his charge as the U. S. 8th Circuit Court of Appeals at St. Louis extended its restraining order against lease of the closed schools to a private operation.

The governor said that if the court had made a final ruling on its enjoining action, the newly formed Little Rock Private School Corp., "probably would have had an announcement of interest, regardless of how the ruling had gone."

Two TCU Coeds To Entertain At Rue Pinalle Friday

Two Texas Christian University coeds—June Pence, vocalist, and Katherine Davis, pantomimist, will be the featured floor show artists for Friday night's Cafe Rue Pinalle in the Memorial Student Center.

An Aggie duet, James Hickey and Rami Perez, will also provide floor show entertainment. Emcee for the show is Dick Hankler. The dance will begin at 8 p.m. in the table tennis area. Dave Woodward's combo will provide music.

Mise Pence, a song stylist who accompanies herself on the piano, was among 10 acts selected from 20 colleges who appeared in the 1957 Intercollegiate Talents Show sponsored annually by the MSC Music Committee. She has her own television show in both Fort Worth and Shreveport, her hometown.

Miss Davis, a junior at TCU, does comedy pantomimes to humorous records.

Tom Withery is Rue Pinalle committee chairman.

Plans Due Soon For New A&M Apartments

Plans for the new college apartments will be finished by Nov. 10, according to Henry D. Mayfield Jr., System Architect. The plans for the apartments will be off the drawing board by Nov. 10, and will be sent to the Federal Housing Administration for approval. The college will start taking construction bids by Dec. 15. The apartments should be completed by June 1960," he said.

The plan specifications provide for twenty-one separate housing units. Each unit contains twelve apartments, a total of two hundred and fifty-two apartments. The units will be constructed of masonry material. Each apartment will consist of one bedroom, living room, kitchen, bathroom and a small sitting porch, Mayfield said.

Riding High

J. C. Dishman shows the kind of high spurring and hard riding that is the rule rather than the exception at the annual All-Aggie Rodeo. This year's rodeo will be highlighted by Doyle McSpadden, A&M's National Intercollegiate Rodeo Assn. all-round champion cowboy.

Ike Denies GOP Statement

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower all but disowned Wednesday an official Republican campaign statement that nationalization and socialization of industry "are the clear alternatives to a Republican Congress."

The President said he didn't recall that language and in any event the statement wasn't his, although it did grow out of a White House strategy meeting.

Soviets Fire Nuclear Blast

WASHINGTON—Another nuclear weapons blast has been set off by the Soviets in the arctic.

This is the eighth such blast detected by the Atomic Energy Commission since Sept. 30.

The commission said Wednesday the latest blast was of high yield, similar to the shot announced by the AEC on Oct. 12.

Lebanese Agree on Cabinet

BEIRUT (AP)—A coalition cabinet for Lebanon was agreed on Wednesday. Parliament is expected to give it a clear vote of confidence Friday morning and it may be the end of the five-month civil conflict.

The compromise agreement, continuing Moslem Premier Rashid Karami in that post and naming a Christian Phalange leader vice premier, was hailed widely by Lebanese politicians and the press.

Aggie Grandmom Dies Day Before 100th Birthday

TERRELL (SPL)—Death came to an Aggie grandmother and great-grandmother Tuesday, less than 24 hours before she was to celebrate her 100th birthday.

Mrs. Minerva Elizabeth Clayton, who still carried on an active life and would have been 100 years old yesterday, died in her sleep Tuesday about 4:30 p.m. after suffering a heart attack. A birthday celebration had been planned for her Wednesday with her five children, and several of her 11 grandchildren and 20 great-grandchildren to attend.

"Granny Clayton," as she was affectionately called by the people of Terrell, was the grandmother of Bobby Jack Clayton, of Fort Worth, who graduated from A&M in 1957 with a degree in electrical engineering, and the great-grandmother of David Clayton Latimer, of Fort Worth, who is a freshman in Squadron 4.

Bill Curry, '59, Will Assist 12th Man for TCU Game

By GAYLE McNUTT, Executive News Editor

Bill Curry, '59, will view his first Aggie football game since the fall of 1955 Saturday afternoon when the Aggies meet Texas Christian University on Kyle Field.

Bill suffered a broken neck in the spring of 1956 when he misjudged his timing on a double backward somersault on the trampline while working out with the A&M gymnastics team, of which he was a member. A speeding race against death in an ambulance to a Houston hospital is credited with saving his life.

Since the time of the accident, Bill has made a remarkable comeback. Still paralyzed from the waist down and in his hands, Bill has learned to put the mobile parts of his body to their best use.

Confined to a wheel-chair most of the time, he has learned to walk short distances with the help of special leg braces. And little by little, Bill is developing

All rough and tumble action during this 1958 football season does not take place on the gridiron. Aggie cowboys and visiting cowgirls will be out to show rodeo enthusiasts that they too can come out riding high.

This is just a preview of what will be seen on the Aggie Rodeo arena tonight at 8 as the Saddle and Sirloin Club begins its 37th annual All-Aggie Rodeo.

The action will continue through Friday night with events starting at the same time all three nights.

Cowboys and cowgirls will compete for prizes in six events this year. Bareback bronc riding is first on the program, followed by tie-down calf roping.

A new event, Corps Boys' cow saddling, will follow, and should provide a lot of laughs.

Ribbon roping is next, followed by the girls' open barrel races. Bull riding is last on the agenda to provide the finishing touch to the night's activities.

Doyle McSpadden, A&M's champion all-round National Intercollegiate Rodeo Assn. cowboy will be competing for prizes in four events. He is one of the men who will represent the A&M Rodeo Club in this year's NIRA competition.

Others on the Rodeo Team who will also be seen this weekend are Phillip Cox, Kenneth Beasley, J. C. Dishman, and Dan Davis.

Judges for the rodeo will be Maxey Overstreet, once a member of the Rodeo Team, and Joe Wallace, Aggie graduate from Las Cruces, N. M.

Pickup men for the bronc riding event are Cullen Robinson and Billy Hanover. The announcer will be Tommy Barker. Providing the laughs for the crowd and protection for the bull riders is Tom Montgomery.

Stock for the show is provided by Erwin Salebak, of La Grange.

Some of last year's contestants who will be back for more bumps and bucks are Rodney Butler, bulldogger and rough stock rider, Bobby Bradbury, with the same qualifications, Broster Stephens, Bobby Sims, Tom Montgomery, James Waldrop, Roger Lacey and Bill Rudhisel, ropers, Toad Tucker, stock rider, and Jimmy Butler, bulldogger.

The Texas A&M Engineer won an honorable mention at the Engineering College Magazine Association Convention at Boulder, Colo., Oct. 9-11. The convention critics rated the magazine among the top six in the nation.

Discussions were held on business management, layout designs, editorials, problems encountered in editing an engineering magazine, how to solve these problems and how to produce better magazines.

Attending the convention were Louis Stipp, editor, Jim Riggs, associate editor and Bob Bertrand, layout editor. This is the second year that A&M has been represented at this convention.

Biology Head To Lead Panel On Science

Dr. Clifton C. Doak, head of the Department of Biology, will moderate a panel for outstanding science students from high schools across the state at 8:30 a.m., Oct. 26.

The program, sponsored by the Texas Education Agency, is entitled "Texas Curriculum Studies."

"The program should assist the schools in correcting a belated and inadequate use of intellectual resources which are now available to them," Doak said.

Doak plans to ask the panel six questions:

1. How would it be possible for the schools to establish a science curriculum such that the sequence would be natural, free of serious gaps and capped with opportunities for advanced electives?
2. Do you feel that public money should be spent for a few academically talented students?
3. Should the high schools move faster and demand more of the students?
4. Do you feel that the school program alone is enough to challenge and make full use of the energies of the better equipped students?
5. How can the stimulus of competition be used to motivate school work without bringing damaging pressures to bear on children who consistently lose out in competition?

What steps could the schools take to stimulate originality and creativity in students?

The panel discussion will be televised statewide on KBTX-TV, Bryan.

Kyle Field Track No Longer Muddy

Pavement construction to eliminate frequent muddy conditions behind the east stands of Kyle Field is expected to be completed early next week.

Waste soil has been removed, white sand stone is being used as fill and concrete will be used as topping.

C. K. Leighton, A&M construction engineer, said the improvement will dispose of mud that has reached three or four inches.

June Pence, TCU pianist and vocalist, will be one of the features of the floor show at the Cafe Rue Pinalle Friday night at 8 in the table tennis area of the Memorial Student Center. Katherine Davis, TCU pantomimist, will also be on the program.
