

Frogs Rip Ags in Wild One, 76-64

TCU, led by towering H. E. Kirchner, outshot and outbounded an underdog Aggie five last night in White Coliseum to post a 76-64 Southwest Conference victory before 5,000 jeering, yelling basketball fans.

The game was anything but a close contest, but the noise, cup throwing, referee baiting and occasional scuffles on the court made the game anything but unexciting.

Play had to be stopped twice to separate players on the floor and cups and paper on the court made dribbling hazardous for members of both teams.

The win was the Horned Frog's sixth conference triumph of the season against one loss while the Cadets now have a 3-4 record. TCU has won 17 out of its last 19 games with the Farmers.

Kirchner, a 6-10 All-SWC player from Houston, was the game's leading scorer and rebounder, sinking 23 points and collecting 15 rebounds. The lofty Frog hit 55 per cent of his shots from the floor.

The Horned Frogs hit 52.6 per cent of their shots during the game, holding the Cadets to a 34.8 margin. The big difference was in rebounding, with TCU sweeping the boards for 57 while the Aggies could manage to grab only 29.

Archie Carroll was the leading scorer for the Farmers and the game's second high scorer with 19 points. He collected six rebounds, one less than Wilmer Cox, for the Cadets. Neil Swisher scored 13 points for runnerup honors.

TCU was never in trouble throughout the game. With five minutes gone in the first period they jumped into a 3-point lead on a layup by Kirchner and then forged ahead for a 23-point lead at one time. They led 43-29 at the end of the half.

A&M jumped back in the second half with a full court press and closed the gap to 11 points, but the Frogs rallied and widened the margin again to 23 points.

With less than three minutes remaining in the game the Aggies caught fire and, to the roar of approval from the crowd, began narrowing the score board's gap, but time ran out.

Consistent Fish Take Fifth Win With 73-64 Victory over Wogs

The Texas Aggie Fish, displaying a consistent attack by totaling 39 points in each half, dunked the Texas Christian Polywogs, 73-64, for their fifth win of the season last night in G. Rollie White Coliseum.

Trailing only once during the entire contest—that at 8-7 early in the initial period—the Fish slowly constructed a 39-31 intermission advantage.

Then, duplicating their first half performance, the young Cadets quickly went to work to build their lead to 12 points at the close.

Again it was Carroll Broussard who paced the Fish offense, amassing 24 points to pace all scorers. Pat Clancy and Don Riggan each added 11 more.

However, the Wogs' Phil Reynolds nearly stole the show, flipping in 23 points, mostly on set and jump shots from outside the key.

Shortly after the Wogs held their brief margin, Broussard and Riggan carried the Fish to an 8-point lead. A tip-in by Riggan, a set shot and three free throws by Broussard, a driving lay-up by John Keller and another bucket by Riggan, gave the Fish an 18-10 advantage.

Only a jump shot by Reynolds for TCU marred the Ags' string of points.

Clancy then took over, ripping the cords with 10 successive points. And the Fish led 28-16.

After halftime, Broussard and Riggan again showed the way as the pair scored 15 points between them, putting the Ags in command at 60-41.

Reynolds, along with David

Warnell who scored 12, and Ronald Maberry who added 10 more, struggled vainly to close the gap.

The Wogs managed to cut the Fish lead to 13 points with slightly less than five minutes to play as Reynolds ripped off six straight points.

SPORT SLANTS

By BOB WEEKLEY

From where I sat, last night's game between the TCU Horned Frogs and the Aggies was unusually lousy—the only good thing being the peanuts and popcorn sold before the game by the vendors.

Officials are often called a necessary evil at any sporting event, but last night they proved themselves to be entirely unnecessary and particularly unseeing in many of their calls.

Time after time they brought the 12th Man off the stands and howling to the edge of the hardwood in protest to some of their decisions. They were unwise in not throwing out two TCU players who took swings at A&M's Jack Collier.

Everything about the game had the sweet smell of dead fish. The Frogs, after compiling a tremendous lead of 20 points, pranced around the floor and smirked as if they were watching a ladies' dancing class, not participating in a SWC basketball game.

The Aggies in the stands were not perfect gentlemen themselves. They often tempted the officials into calling a technical foul on the home team by tossing cups and paper on the floor.

TCU has a tremendous team, and well deserves the lead it has compiled in the conference race. TCU's H. E. Kirchner, affectionately called "Baby Huey" by the Aggies, was certainly the top player on the court.

It's too bad everything else was spoiled.

Army Says 'No' to New League Plan

NEW YORK (AP) — Col. U. C. L. A. Southern California, Francis Roberts, Army's graduate manager of athletics, yesterday chilled the idea of Army's belonging to a proposed national football conference.

Speaking at a luncheon, Roberts said the Army Academic Board was "not favorably disposed towards belonging" to such a conference.

The formation of a new nationwide conference had been under discussion for several years. The proposal was reviewed in some detail at a semi-secret meeting during the National Collegiate A.A. convention in Cincinnati last month.

Possible members would be Army, Navy, Pittsburgh, Syracuse, Penn State, Notre Dame, Air Force Academy, California,

Nation's Speediest Plan Odessa Meet

ODESSA, Tex. (AP)—Sprinters Bobby Morrow and Dave Sime and quarter-miler Glenn Davis, three of the world's top trackmen, will be seen here March 20-21 in the West Texas Relays.

They will compete in the 100 and 220-yard dashes but the races won't be official events of the relays. They will be "open."

The reason is that Morrow and Sime have used up their eligibility at Abilene Christian and Duke respectively and can't compete in any team events.
