About the Churches CS Baptist Church Has Made Progress

Ed. Note: This is the third in a series of articles designed to familiarize students with churches in the area in connection with the coming Religious Emphasis Week.)

By ROBBIE GODWIN Battalion Staff Writer

The First Baptist Church has, in the words of Rev. R. D. Longshore, "Come a long way since it occupied the old frame building in 1943."

The building now in use was built in that year on the site of the old structure. For a while the old building was used for Sunday School classes for several years until the present classrooms were built.

In 1950 the Baptist Student Center was built. This modern structure is located conveniently across the street from the main building. It houses a library, a lounge, Bible study classrooms, a prayer room, recreational facilities and offices of the Baptist Student Union director.

A new modern building, begun last May containing 15,000 square feet of floor space, has recently been completed. The new building, presently unfurnished, will house facilities for a minimum of 350 people when it is finished.

Rev. Longshore said total costs of the new facilities was about $212,000. Part of this total was for new year-round, air-conditioning equipment in the old church building. The new building has complete air-control equipment also, with several different machines, located at strategic points throughout.

In regards to the coming Religious Emphasis Week, Rev. Longshore said, "It is very advantageous for the school, the churches and the students when the students become closer to the church. Religious Emphasis Week is very useful in helping students become closer to the church of their choice."

The First Baptist Church is holding evangelistic services all this week as a prelude to RE Week. Services are being held both morning and evening through Friday. Morning services are held at 9:30 and evening services at 7:00.

Farmers Must File For Income Tax

Farmers and ranchers who did not file estimates of 1958 income should file their final 1958 Federal income tax return by Monday, Feb. 16, to avoid penalty, said Clarence E. Carlson, administrative officer of Internal Revenue Service in Bryan.

Filing details are available in simple form in a pamphlet "Farmers' Tax Guide", which can be obtained at no cost from agricultural agents and IRS offices.
