By Corps Commander Seniors Reminded To Wear Uniforms

Corps commanders were warned yesterday that "if seniors continue to go out of uniform on the campus the civilian clothes after retreat privilege may be suspended."
The meeting, called by Corps Commander Don Cloud at 5 p.m. yesterday, lasted only a few minutes. He outlined the provision in the regulations governing a Military College which states "... all students will habitually be in uniform while on the campus." He also pointed out that seniors now could "legally" go off campus after retreat out of uniform, a privilege authorized this year for their work during the first semester.

"When someone suggests changing the Aggie uniform you're all against it," Cloud said. "But no one seems interested in wearing the uniform they want so desperately."
He suggested that several alternatives were available if seniors refused to abide by the Military College regulation.
"There're several ways we can go—two-day-a-week with uniforms worn only to 'bull text,' police ourselves or let the Trigon police us. We say we want to run ourselves and here's a chance to do it," he said.
Cloud went into great detail to outline the campus proper and adjacent areas where uniforms would be worn at all times including Cushing Library, North Gate and the local churches.

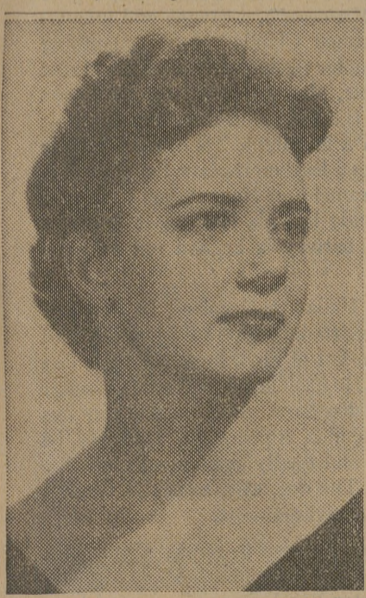

Physics Frat Initiates 40 New Members

Approximately 40 new members were initiated into the A&M chapter of Sigma Pi Sigma, national physics honor society, during ceremonies held at the Memorial Student Center on Monday.

The installation program was headed by Dr. Vincent E. Parker, head of the Department of Physics, Louisiana State University and Dr. Marsh White, professor of physics, Pennsylvania State University.

Dr. Louis R. Maxwell, chief of the Applied Physics Department, U. S. Naval Ordnance Laboratory and visiting lecturer for the American Institute of Physics gave lectures on "The Concept and Experimental Basis of Ferromagnetism" and "The Research Physicist, His Interest and Responsibilities to Society."
The program brought many out of town visitors which include Dr. Eddie Ortiz who received his Ph.D. in physics from A&M in 1950 and is now professor of physics at Puerto Rico A&M in College Station, Puerto Rico.
There were several visitors from other schools and companies in Texas.

Newly elected officers of the A&M chapter of Sigma Pi Sigma are Harley McAdams, president; Tom Paine, vice president; Winford Mauldin, secretary; Hollis Boehme, treasurer and Eugene Fabricius, faculty advisor.

A&M Garden Club Sets Flower Show

The A&M Garden Club will hold its 21st annual flower show this Saturday and Sunday in St. Mary's Catholic Student Center.

Program for the show is "Salute to Texas A&M" with the exhibits depicting the various departments.

Mothers and dates of A&M students here for the Cotton Pageant and the Sophomore Ball are especially invited to attend, according to Mrs. John Perry Jr., publicity chairman of the club.

Mrs. Perry said the show may be seen free of charge and awards and sweepstakes will be given to the outstanding exhibits.

No Drill May 2

Meeting with more enthusiasm from the CO's than his remarks on uniforms was the announcement of no drill or extra duty tours May 2.

Area Canvassing To Be Conducted For Cancer Drive

A house to house canvass will be made April 28th between 6 and 8 p.m. to give people of this area more information about cancer and to collect any contributions for the Brazos County Cancer Crusade.

Mrs. Richard Baldauf, chairman of the canvass, announced that anyone who wishes to help in the crusade should contact her.

Most of the Crusade dollars will be used in Texas in form of fellowship grants and research.

Fifty-five per cent of the Texas Crusade dollars will go for research in Texas research institutions and professional education which keeps the physician informed on up-to-date developments in the care and treatment of cancer.

The rest of the money will be used for public education, professional service, lay service, administration and program development and to provide materials for the Texas Cancer Crusade.

The Brazos County and Texas Cancer Crusade is in co-operation with the American Cancer Society.

The president of the United States has declared the month of April as Cancer Month.

Cancer is the No. 2 killer in the United States today and recently great strides have been made in the research program. The money from the cancer crusade will further research, hoping to destroy the disease.

"The need isn't only urgent, it is critical," said Dudley Huffner, assistant director of Texas for American Cancer Society.

Huffner said that at least half of all those who get cancer could be cured through early detection and prompt adequate treatment, but this can only be done if enough funds are available.

The slogan of this year's Crusade is "Guard Your Family—Fight Cancer With a Check-up and a Check."

Muster Day Plans Announced; 7,000 Due for Ceremonies

Accelerated Beautification Drive Planned

Members of the College Station Chamber of Commerce decided at a meeting Monday to continue active acceleration of their city beautification work, Mrs. Chris Groneman, secretary, said yesterday.

Plans were established to sponsor a "Yard of the Month" award and recognition of one property owner each month who does the most to improve and beautify his home surroundings.

Mrs. Marion Pugh and Mrs. R. A. Knapp, co-chairmen of the City Beautification Committee, feel that residents of College Station can be proud of the improvements already carried out by the planting of more than 100 crepe myrtle bushes and redbud trees along Highway 6 South inside city limits.

Joint action and cooperation with the Bryan Chamber of Commerce City Beautification Committee to extend and intensify the clean-up campaign was also suggested at the meeting. Mentioned was the establishing of a $10 to $200 fine under a state law for being a litterbug. Active prosecution is urged against persons now dumping garbage and trash within city limits or along adjacent roads.

Plans for the yearly membership drive were formulated, with a goal of five thousand active members set.

"The Board of Directors of the College Station Chamber of Commerce wants to give every citizen the opportunity to serve his community in an active, constructive manner, making College Station an attractive showcase.

Teague Principal Speaker At Tuesday Muster Here

Final plans were announced yesterday for the annual Aggie Muster to be held Tuesday when Aggies throughout the world will take time out to pay homage to deceased Aggies and honor heroes of the Battle of San Jacinto.

More than 7,000 persons are expected to attend parent ceremonies to be held in front of the Memorial Student Center at 5:30 p. m.

Jake Sekerka, chairman of the program, said no special arrangements in the regular college schedule have been made in preparation for the event. Meals are set for the usual time with the Muster concluding before the evening meal.

Use Common Sense For Child Problems, Parent Group Told

Most problems in rearing children can be overcome by using common sense, members of the A&M Consolidated School's Mothers and Dads Club were told last night.

Austin Kerley, of the A&M Basic Division, speaking on "Let's Talk Common Sense About Our Children" gave the parents 10 basic common sense rules in rearing children—all things which can be done without spending money. Chiefly, success in dealing with youngsters depends on being aware of their problems and then using intelligence (common sense) in dealing with them.

Meeting in the CHS Auditorium, the club conducted a short business meeting following the talk. A nominations committee to submit recommendations for 1959-60 club officers was appointed. Members of the committee are Herb Thompson, Mrs. Stewart Brown, Mrs. Raymond Rogers and Sam Cleveland.

A treasurer's report showed the gross income of the club thus far in the year has been over $2,800. According to President W. W. Mills, this has been the club's most successful year to date financially.

The club also laid final plans for the organization's annual Pet Show to be held April 25.

Consolidated Dog and Pet Show Planned

The 19th annual Dog and Pet Show of the A&M Consolidated Schools will be held Saturday, April 25, beginning at 4:30 p.m. in the high school stadium.

The event is sponsored by the A&M Consolidated Mothers and Dad's Club, said general chairman Ralph E. Miller. Proceeds will be used to finance worthy projects for betterment of the school, he said.

The show will have 30 classes of pets including purebred and "Heinz Variety" dogs, cats, rabbits, ducks, fowls and birds, fish, turtles and other wildlife, large pets and projects of the school's chapter of Future Farmers of America.

Registration of pets will commence at 4:30 p.m. on the football field, the parade will be at 6 p.m. and the judging begins at 6 p.m., Miller continued. Ribbons will be awarded all pets entered in the show. There will be concessions to serve supper, and admission will be 10 cents for children and 25 cents for adults.

Committee chairmen for the show include H. G. Thompson, business manager; George Caldwell, concessions; Nicky Poniteux, entertainment; Homer Adams, equipment; Janette Baldauf, home made candy and cookies; Dr. Archie I. Flowers, judges and classification; Jane Miller, posters; Bill Bennett, programs; Phil Goode, public address and music; Mink Vance, publicity; Barney Welch, registration; Bill Mixon, ribbons; Mrs. Joe Fagan, signs and placards; and E. P. Ozment, tickets.

Don Dale will be master of ceremonies, and Freddie A. Wolters, ringmaster.

W. W. Mills is president of the A&M Consolidated Mother's and Dad's Club.

Westinghouse Traveller Tells Of Experiences in Russia

The high cost of consumer goods, such as clothes and food and the indifference to the comfort of the consumer, were cited here Tuesday, by a representative of the Westinghouse Electric Corp., as one of the most interesting things he saw in Russia during a recent business trip to that country.

Speaking at the 12th annual Conference for Protective Relay Engineers, being held through today, Ed Beck of Westinghouse of Bloomington, Ind., said "when I speak of consumer, I mean the man in the street, not the bureaucrat or government official."

"Other things that impressed me," Beck said, "were the highly developed technical education system, the showplace, that is Moscow, with its wide boulevards, great squares, its modern buildings, its subway and in contrast to this its still existing hovels, the long line of patient people waiting to go through the Lenin-Stalin tomb, the drab appearance of the people in the street, the rarity of a smile in the street, the complete lack of news from the West, the friendliness and courtesy and ability of the technical people whom we met, the tremendous facilities for research and development work."

Beck illustrated his talk with colored slides.
The speaker said that West Berlin is a thriving, active, building, community. The people are prosperous and happy, in general. East Berlin, he said, is like a ghost city, few people on the streets, sabbily dressed, very little of the bomb danger has been repaired and there is much of it. Food and clothing are rationed, he said.
The conference is sponsored by the Department of Electrical Engineering. L. M. Haupt is conference chairman.

Dr. Glen D. Hallmark, professor and head of the department gave the welcome address to approximately 200 in attendance from all parts of Texas and the nation.

More pictures will appear in Thursday and Friday editions of The Battalion.
