Texas Tech, Rice and Texas pace the Southwest Conference golf teams in non-conference competition as the two sports approach the deciding league meets.

Both the conference tennis and golf meets are slated for College Station with the netters tangling on May 7-9 and the golfers opening their two-day tussle a day earlier.

The Red Raiders currently appear to be the class of both sports as they boast a golf match win-loss record of 19-5 and a tennis mark of 15-3.

Coach Jim Myers' multiple offense gets its public unveiling Saturday night when the Aggie football team turns Kyle Field into a civil war battleground for their annual Maroon-White intrasquad battle. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

The intrasquad game culminates All-Sports Day and pits the Farmer first unit against the second under regular Southwest Conference game conditions.

Reserves are divided equally among the two teams. Myers decided to switch from the single wing to multiple offense at the conclusion of last season after the Aggies had spent game after game without any scoring punch inside their opponent's 20 yard line.

Single Wing Basic Offense
The single wing will continue to be the basic offense, but the Farmers will be capable of switching to the "T" formation and its many variations at a moment's notice.

The multiple offense, in fact, is what the professionals use.

A&M is not the only SWC team to make the switch to the potent formation. Arkansas made the shift last season and completed the year by winning their last four games while the Baylor Bears began their shift to the multiple offense during spring drills.

SMU has run a multiple offense for years.

Milstead Leads Maroons
Focal point of the Maroon attack will center around Charley Milstead, the SWC's total offense leader last year. Milstead is a triple-threat man whose deadly passing arm and his distance on quick kicks is a constant threat to any opposing team.

Opposite Milstead on the White team is Powell Berry, a prospective junior from Snyder. Berry was Milstead's understudy the past season at tailback and proved himself a capable substitute. Berry will have Bob Sanders ready to step in and relieve him for the Whites while Bob Muentner and R. L. McClung are Maroon alternates.

Sophomore Jon Few will be Milstead's running mate at left half and will be opposed on the White team by the highly touted freshmen Rodger McFarland and Jesse McGuire. Few was something of a disappointment last season but has come through very well during spring training.

LeBeouf Back at Fullback
At fullback for the Maroons will be the familiar Gordon LeBeouf. The stocky junior started at fullback and blocking back last season. For the Whites, freshman Jim Murphy holds the starting nod with fellow frosh S. J. Halpin his alternate.

Filling out the backfield for both teams is Randy Sims at right half for the Maroons and Eddie Van Dyke for the Whites. Sims was Milstead's favorite passing target last season and among the conference's outstanding receivers.

Van Dyke was a star on the freshman squad.

Sophomores Ralph Smith and Jack Estes hold down the end positions for the Maroons and face sophomore Travis Nevill and freshman James Street on the White team.

Smith, Estes and Nevill are lettermen while Street was one of the outstanding first year men in the conference.

Tackles on the first unit are Gale Oliver, a co-captain for the 1959 team, and Bill Darwin. Oliver was a center last season while Darwin is a two-year letterman.

White tackles are Robert Garner and Charles Sandford. Garner is a junior while Sandford is a freshman.

Goehring Injured
Allen Goehring will be missing from his guard position on the Maroon squad with an injured hand but Carter Franklin and Buddy Payne will hold down the position capably.

Freshman Mickey Walker and sophomore Wayne Labar are their opponents. Roy Northrup will be the post man for the Maroons faced by freshman Daryle Keeling on the White team.

Tickets for the event are $1 and may be purchased at the gate. Student activity cards will not be honored.

LeBeouf Tops Intrasquad Fullbacks
Junior Gordon LeBeouf will be the Maroon power Saturday night in the annual Maroon-White intrasquad game. White fullback is Jim Murphy.

Mistead Leads Maroon Attack
Charlie Milstead will quarterback the Maroon squad in the annual intrasquad game Saturday night while his opposing quarterback on the White team is Powell Berry.

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — President Bob Short of the Minneapolis Lakers said yesterday four men, including former coach John Castellani of Seattle, are under consideration for the Laker coaching job.

"Right now we're considering everybody who shows an interest in the position," Short said. "In addition to Castellani they are Vern Mikkelsen, Jim Pollard and Albert McCellan."

Mikkelsen is a 10-year playing veteran with the Lakers, Pollard formerly starred with the team and McCellan is a former Boston College coach.
