

The Blocking Technique

Second Maroon-White Tilt Scheduled Saturday Night

Coach Jim Myers' multiple offense faces its second trial in a week when the Maroon and White squads tackle each other in the second intrasquad game of the spring training season.

This game, sponsored again by the "T" Association of A&M, will cost $1 with no admittance on student activity cards. Tickets may be purchased from members of the association or from a special booth set up in the Memorial Student Center.

The Maroon and White teams fought each other last Saturday night and managed a scoreless tie on the muddy Kyle Field Stadium.

The squads will change their appearance somewhat Saturday night with the Maroon team scheduled to be composed of the first and second squads while the White group will be composed of the third and fourth teams.

Charlie Milstead will again lead the Maroon team into action trailed by teammate Powell Berry who played on the White Squad last Saturday night.

Few and LeBoeuf were the leading ground gainers in the previous intrasquad game with 72 and 61 yards respectively on 16 tries through the line.

The Maroon line will be composed of Jack Estes and James Street at end; Gale Oliver and Bill Darwin at tackle; Guards Carter Franklin and Buddy Payne; and Center Roy Northrup.

Wet Aggies Meet Mustangs, Hope Bears Drop Longhorns

The Texas Aggies, drowned out last weekend, attempt to recover lost ground of a week ago when they meet SMU today and Saturday on Kyle Field in an effort to repeat the twin-killing the Texas

Longhorns tacked onto the Mustangs last weekend.

At 3 p.m. Friday, the Aggies meet these same Mustangs with Percy Sanderson (2-1) of Nederland on the mound in an attempt to maintain the pace set by last year's champion Longhorns. The only Longhorn defeat in conference this year was administered by the Aggies on Clark Field, 7-6.

The Aggies, 4-2, behind Texas' 6-1 in conference, will offer Donnie Hullum Saturday, a righthander from Baytown who has pitched only one inning of SWC baseball. Hullum, plagued by a sore arm since the first of the season, threw his first game against St. Mary's of San Antonio, only to lose on a two-run homer. He pitched three-hit ball for the first five innings but half-speed throwing for the corners wasn't quite good enough against St. Mary's accurate Gene Cernosek.

Coach Tom Chandler, in his first year at A&M, is expected to throw a few changes of pace at the Mustangs should they attempt to throw southpaw pitchers at the Aggies.

Don Chase, a powerful righthander, second-string catcher, is scheduled to start in rightfield if Marvin King or a Mustang lefty takes the mound. Along with him will be righthanded batter J. B. Carroll at third base instead of Windel Reed, who bats left, and Bo Paradowski at first base, a lefty thrower who bats right, instead of Dick Hickerson. Otherwise, there will be no changes in the lineup.

Corps Baseballers See Week of Action

Corps baseball got weakly back on its feet this week and the Army and Air Force leagues are aiming for a May 15 finish of the regular scheduled games after two weeks of plugging rain caused play to sputter.

In Army action this week, the Field Artillery battalion downed Armor, Composite won out over the Service nine, and the Engineers shut out Anti-Aircraft Artillery last night.

Four games were scheduled in the Air Force, with the 6th and 3rd groups both winning on forfeits while a third game was postponed. The 2nd and 4th groups met in a night game last night.

Playoffs have been tentatively set to begin May 17 if all of the postponed games can be made up in the afternoons before then.

The standings:

Team	W	L	T
5th Group	3	0	0
3rd Group	2	1	0
4th Group	1	3	0
1st Group	0	1	1
2nd Group	0	1	1
Civilians	0	1	1

TOP PRODUCER

NEW YORK (AP)—David Merrick, producer of four Broadway hits last season, has received the annual award of the Sam S. Shubert Foundation for "outstanding individual contribution" to theatrical activity.

He was cited for presentation of "Jamaica," "Romanoff and Juliet," "Look Back in Anger" and "The Entertainer."

Tennis Team Preparing For SWC Meet Under Handicap

The Aggie tennis team, with one letterman back from last year, faces two more matches and the Southwest Conference meet before winding up the season.

The varsity team, weakened somewhat this year with the loss of three 3-year lettermen from last year's team, is made up of one junior and three sophomores. Bob Jones, the only man on the squad with experience, heads the team. Harvey Barber, Richard Box and Bill Jamison round out the starters for the varsity.

The team works and plays under some handicaps which hinder their workouts as well as their games. The only courts available for practice are the intramural slabs. The clay courts were abandoned last year after the varsity team got tired of keeping them themselves.

"Intramurals matches hinder our workouts, since balls are always flying across the court, and players walking behind and beside the courts distract the team's attention from the ball," said Jones.

Barber pointed out that the run-backs were too short. "Some visiting players complained about the run-backs because the balls get wet rolling on the grass and ruin the gut strings on their rackets," said Barber. "Those strings run high, too," he added.

Jones stated that other teams had separate varsity courts to practice on. "They have no interruptions, and can carry on a good workout without other teams running around," he said.

The team as a whole felt attendance to the games was decreased because of the lack of bleachers around the courts. "We had a pretty big crowd for the Hardin-Simmons game," said Jones, "but they had to sit on the ground around the courts or in cars to watch the game." They are trying now to get bleachers set up around the courts for the Southwest Conference meet May 7-9.

Coach Bell's crew met the Texas Christian University varsity this afternoon, and will meet Rice here Tuesday. They finish the regular season against Baylor at Waco May 2, before entering the SWC meet.

In spite of a poor season this year, the squad is looking for things to pick up next year. They will not lose any of their first four men, and some good freshmen are coming up. "Some of the fish are already giving us a bad time," said

Barber. "Our depth should be greater next year than in the last few years," said Davis. "As soon as we get the depth and win some games, more boys will begin to be interested," he added.

First Practice, Then Play
