

Hampton Wins High Jump

Ronnie Hampton, a Veterinary sophomore, won the intramural high jump with a leap of 5-10. Mike Averitte of B Armor placed second.

Ags Meet Rice Today; Championship at Stake

Wayne Schaper, the big hurler from Galveston, holds the Aggies' pennant hopes in the Southwest Conference baseball race in his big right hand.

That's the hand that grips the baseball today for the Farmers on Kyle Field against Rice, and it's proven very capable.

Schaper threw the best game of his career for the Aggies Friday when he chalked up a victory over the Texas Longhorns to move the Cadets into contention for the conference title.

In that contest the 6-6, 208-pound senior threw only 107 pitches and allowed four hits while giving up no walks. His record for this season is 3-0.

The Aggies now hold a half game lead in the conference race, boasting a 9-4 record. A&M went into the league lead Tuesday when they downed the Rice Owls in Houston while Texas was being dumped by SMU in Dallas. The Steers are 9-5 in the conference.

Texas has one game left to play as do the Aggies after today's contest. The Steers will play TCU at Fort Worth while A&M must get by Rice today and face Baylor at Waco. Both the TCU tilt and the Baylor game are unscheduled as of yet, although in all probability they will be played in the first part of next week.

The Aggies last won or shared the title in 1955 while the Longhorns are gunning for their third consecutive victory. Rice, now almost out of the championship picture, has never won a conference baseball crown.

Game time is 3 p.m.

SPORT SLANTS
By BOB WEEKLEY

If Coach Tom Chandler's Aggies win or share the Southwest Conference baseball title he will be the fifth coach in A&M's history to win the championship in his first season at the college.

J. V. Sikes was the first coach to turn the trick back in 1937, and was followed by J. L. Dimmitt in 1942, Homer Norton in 1943 and Beau Bell in 1951.

The Aggies have won only seven pennants since they began participating in baseball in 1894. Officials SWC baseball play began in 1915.

If, by some quirk of fate, basketball coach Bob Rogers manages to sign the lofty Lewis Qualls, a 7-1 center from Smiley, he will undoubtedly have finished one of the best recruiting jobs in the history of SWC basketball.

Here are a few of Roger's recruiting achievements since taking over the basketball program two years ago after leaving East Texas State.

He signed Wilmer Cox, Kilgore JC star; Kelly Chapman, junior college All-American; Carroll Broussard, sought by 30 other colleges and recently the fabulous Stanly twins, Pat and Don, from Buna and Kilgore JC.

In the past month he has announced the signing of Charley Minor, an all-stater on the state AAAA champion Pampa team.

Texas has won the SWC baseball championship 36 times out of the 44 it has been played. The Aggies are second with seven followed by TCU with two. Three of the Steer's victories weren't complete, though. They were co-championships with A&M twice and SMU once.
