

CE Prof Presented Convair's Teaching Excellence Award

Dr. Robert M. Holcomb, professor of civil engineering, has been presented the Convair Award for Excellence in Engineering Teaching.

The award, a check for $1,200, was presented at a luncheon on the campus today by H. W. Hinckley, assistant chief engineer, Product Design, Convair. Hinckley was accompanied by H. A. Bodley, administrative assistant.

Holcomb, a member of the faculty of A&M since February, 1947, was chosen for the award by the Executive Committee of the

A native of Sapulpa, Okla., he received a B.S. degree in civil engineering from the University of Arizona in 1936. He graduated with special honors. He received his M.S. degree in structural engineering in 1941 and his Ph.D. in structural engineering in 1956, both from Iowa State College.

Following his graduation from the University of Arizona, Holcomb served for a time as a junior engineer with the Arizona Highway Department. He has also been on the staff of the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation in Phoenix, Arizona, and with the Radiation Laboratory, University of California, Berkeley, Calif.

Holcomb's first teaching experience was at the University of Arizona where he was instructor in civil engineering, 1938-40. He was an instructor in general engineering at Iowa State College, 1940-41.

In addition to his teaching here, Holcomb has developed syllabi for 13 new graduate courses in structural engineering, has prepared a plan for expanding the graduate program, is a member of the Committee on Graduate Instruction for the School of Engineering, chairman of the Scholarship committee of the Civil Engineering Department, and is chairman of a committee of representatives from various engineering departments and the Texas Transportation Institute to survey all existing courses in mechanics and structures to determine what is needed in this area.

Mexico University Group Tour A&M Campus Facilities

Twenty-one graduate students of the University of Mexico, making a cultural and technical tour of Texas, visited the campus Tuesday.

At a luncheon held in their honor at the Memorial Student Center, they were welcomed to the college by Vice President Earl Rudder.

"There is nothing finer than for you to visit our school and for our students to visit your school to exchange ideas, to better understand each other and to become even better friends," Rudder said.

A report on the makeup of the A&M System and information concerning the School of Engineering was given by C. W. Crawford, associate dean of engineering.

Guests included Dr. John B. Page, dean of the college; J. J. Woolket, head of the Department of Modern Languages; Dr. S. R. Wright, head of the Department of Civil Engineering; Byron Blaschke, president of the Student Chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers; and Charles J. Keese, Dr. E. L. Harrington, E. P. Segner Jr., and J. B. Baty, all of the Department of Civil Engineering.

One of the visiting students, Rafael Otero, president of the University of Mexico group of the Theater of the National School of Engineers, made a short talk in which he extended an invitation to the staff members and students of A&M to visit the University of Mexico.

Afterward, the visiting students were taken on a tour of the departments of civil engineering, mechanical engineering and electrical engineering, the nuclear facilities and the computer facilities. The touring students arrived in Texas on May 16 and have visited San Antonio, Austin, Dallas and Fort Worth. They left the college Tuesday afternoon and went to Houston where they will remain for three days visiting the University of Houston and Rice Institute. They will return to the University of Mexico on May 31.

Outfielder Curt Flood of the St. League's most valuable player at Louis Cardinals was the Carolina High Point-Thomasville in 1956.

ALL EARS

You can't help loving this little pup. Maybe it's because he seems so out of proportion. If he somehow were able to flap those ears he might fly away.

Perhaps there is a little fellow in your home who is "all ears" in another sense . . . a youngster who takes in everything that's said, including some things he isn't meant to hear.

Most children are eager to listen . . . hungry to learn. That is why the early years are so important in the molding of a child's character. The things he hears, whether right or wrong, make a deep impression on his mind. They are soon reflected in his actions and words.

Wise parents take advantage of the Church's program of religious education in implanting those early impressions. They know there is no surer builder of character than religious faith.

NOW . . . while your child is eager to hear and to learn, bring him to church . . . and support the Church in its great undertaking.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.
